ENGLISH PORT IS ATTACKED

DARING SORTIE OF AEROPLANE IS THWARTED

Allied Warships Driven Out of Dardanelles; Heavy Loss of Lives

By Associated Press.

LONDON, March 20, 3:20 p. m.—A German aeroplane dropped several bombs today off Deal, a seaport on the straits of Dover. The bombs all landed in the sea. A patrol boat opened fire on the aeroplane, which turned and disappeared.

One of the bombs dropped alongside the American bark Manga Reva of San Francisco and deluged her with a great volume of water.

British air scouts started in pursuit of the German airship, but apparently were too late to overtake it.

SHIP ATTACK IS SLOW

By Associated Press.

PARIS, March 20, 4:30 a. m.—No attempt was made by the allied fleet to develop to the fullest extent its first general attack on the Dardenelles which was launched last Thursday, says an Athens dispatch to the Havas Agency, which quotes a British officer as authority for the statement. Two thousand shells were fired in a six hours' bombardment designed to force a passage to Kilid Bahr and Chanak Kalessi.

Fire from the Turkish batteries was uninterrupted and violent, according to information obtained from other sources, the Havas correspondent declares. The prow of the French battleship Gaulois was touched by a mine, but the damage can be repaired in a few days. She left the straits and anchored at the island navy yard. The Inflexible which was hit on the bow by shells, also steamed out of the straits, convoyed by two cruisers. A shell which exploded on her deck is reported to have killed forty men and wounded many others.

One Turkish fort, the name of which is not given, is said to have been seriously damaged, while many of its defenders were killed or wounded.

The dispatch says the allied warships re-entered the straits at 9:30 yesterday (Friday) morning and resumed the bombardment with great violence.

TORPEDOES SINK THREE WARSHIPS

By Associated Press.

PARIS, March 20, via London, 4:40 p. m.—Official announcement was made here this afternoon that 64 men have been saved from the crew of the French battleship Bouvet, sunk in the Dardanelles, March 18. The losses on the other ships of the French division which took part in this action are declared to be very slight.

By Associated Press.

CONSTANTINOPLE, via Berlin, by wireless to London, March 20.—An official statement issued from Turkish headquarters says the sinking of British and French warships in the Dardanelles was due to "torpedoes," and adds:

"A hard seven-hour fight ended with success for our forts. Beyond slight damage to the earthworks, no damage was done the fortifications."

According to statements made yesterday by the British and French admiralties, the British battleships Ir-

Medals and Diplomas for P. P. I. E. Exhibitors

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—Many and varied are the souvenirs that are to be prepared for the Panama-Pacific exposition by the Federal government. They range from coins and medals to engraved and printed diplomas, and work on some of them is already under way.

The diplomas, which are to be made at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, are to be issued to successful exhibitors at the Exposition. Designs are now being made, but none, thus far, have been accepted.

The medals are to be made at the Philadelphia mint and the coins at the San Francisco mint.

Representations to Japan Are Denied

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—At the British embassy this statement was issued: "The British embassy learns that there is no truth in a report emanating from Peking that the British and Russian ambassadors at Tokio have made joint representations to Japan on the subject of China, or that the British or United States governments are in consultation with a similar object."

POLAND RAVAGED BY HINDENBURG

By Associated Press.

LONDON, March 20.—Statistics published in Petrograd concerning losses to property in Russian Poland as a result of the German invasion forwarded today to Reuter's Telegram Co. give the total number of towns and larger villages destroyed as ninety-five.

It is said that 4500 small villages were devastated, 1000 of them having been burned.

The figures apply to ten Polish provinces. The damage is estimated at more than $500,000,000.

EXPRESS RATE CASES ARE REOPENED

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—Formal orders re-opening the express rate cases, requested in the petition filed a few days ago by four of the principal express companies were issued today by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Hearings will be held at d... s to be named later. Pending such hearings, however, no changes in rates may be made.

The express companies contend that the first year's operation under the new low rates prescribed by the commission has brought a deficit and they petition for a readjustment which will produce more revenue.

BONDS LOSE BUT POLL MAJORITY

Required Two-thirds Vote on Exposition Measure Fails

Cities Favor Generally, But Rural Districts Are Adverse

Summary of vote cast in the cities, towns and outside districts, with totals for entire county:

	Yes.	No.
Oakland	15,869	14,322
Berkeley	5,452	3,136
Alameda	3,315	1,555
Emeryville	334	149
Piedmont	672	90
Hayward and San Leandro	446	568
Albany	178	91
Remaining Pcts. (excepting 7)	619	2,313
Total	26,885	22,224

Total vote cast in county—49,019.

The proposition to bond Alameda county in the sum of $1,000,000 for the purchase of stock in the Panama-Pacific International Exposition was voted down at the special election held yesterday.

While a large majority of the people voted for the bonds, the necessary two-thirds majority was not obtained throughout the county, although in Alameda, Piedmont and Emeryville the required number of votes to carry such a measure was given.

Oakland and Berkeley gave the proposition majorities. In the rural districts, however, there was an overwhelming adverse vote cast. The most conspicuous was at Livermore, where the returns from the three precincts there showed but 82 for the bonds and 658 against the proposition.

Less than 50,000 votes were cast out of a total registration of 125,000 in Alameda county. The vote was somewhat heavier than was estimated it would be during the day and it was not until the first precincts were returned to the office of County Clerk George E. Gross that the indications showed that the bonds had been beaten.

CONFIDENCE MISPLACED.

Those who had worked in favor of the measure were confident during the day that with a small vote the proposition would carry, but the early returns proved to the contrary and as the count continued the larger figures proved that there was no possibility of the two-thirds majority being obtained.

The Hayward and San Leandro precincts cast 1022 votes, giving a majority against with 568 to 446 votes.

Piedmont went as heavy for the bonds as Livermore did against them with about the same number of votes cast. The returns showed 672 for the bonds and 99 against.

The smallest precinct in the county, Brooklyn, with 9 votes cast gave 5 for and 3 against. One of the largest, Oakland No. 110, with 243 votes, gave 228 for and 114 against.

The bond election was called by the board of supervisors after delegations representing the Oakland commercial bodies and large financial interests declared that an initiative petition would be circulated and that the board would be forced to call the election. When the matter first came up the supervisors declared against calling the election, pointing out that the voters of the county had given an expression against the proposition at the last general election in a vote on the amendment to the constitution which would permit the county to bond itself under the desired circumstances. The amendment was carried by the other counties, however.

The election cost approximately $15,000 in wages of the election

KING'S SCION ENDS LIFE WITH GUN

By Associated Press.

STOCKTON, March 20. — Harry Foss, commonly known here as a "remittance man," and who claimed to be of the royal family of the Netherlands, ended his meteoric career here last night, when he blew out his brains with a shotgun.

The end came in a local lodging-house. Papers found on his body by the coroner showed Foss to be of royal blood, and also that he had been honorably dismissed from the United States Army. He served as a sergeant during the Spanish-American war.

War Badges Issued to Soldiers of Italy

By Associated Press.

ROME, March 20, via Paris.—The military authorities have caused to be distributed to Italian soldiers the identification cards or badges which are worn customarily only during an active campaign. This incident is regarded in some quarters as highly significant of Italy's preparedness for any eventuality.

VICE-PRESIDENT HERE TO REPRESENT U. S.

With the noise and enthusiasm of an old-time Democratic convention, 250 men and women, silk hatted, frock coated, gold braided and very official looking, representing San Francisco and exposition officials and the leaders in the ranks of California's Bourbons, met Thomas R. Marshall, Vice-president of the United States, and his party when they alighted from the Overland Limited at the Southern Pacific mole this morning.

The greeting was the most rousing and enthusiastic of any accorded a man in this part of the county in many years.

Everyone of the 250 men and women crowded about the Pullman car of the official party as it came to a stop, and attempted to shake the Vice-president's hand at one and the same time. Smiling the characteristic Marshall smile Mr. Marshall did not try to dodge the issue, but advanced boldly into the throng and shook hands with both hands. Those who could not reach the Vice-president at once, turned their attention to the other distinguished visitors. Then the party started for the ferry boat. The trip looked like a procession and, altogether the distance was less than 200 feet, it was fifteen minutes before the laughing, talking, hand shaking crowd reached the boat.

Probably the most impressive thing about Vice-president Marshall, is his good nature. He had a large stock of it on hand this morning, as was evidenced when he reached the upper deck of the ferry boat and was greeted by a jostling mob of newspaper men, photographers and operators of motion picture cameras. Smiling and chaffing, he stood patiently in sun-

LIFE TERM OF MURDERER BEGINS

Before being taken to San Quentin this morning to begin serving a life sentence imposed upon him by Superior Judge Ogden yesterday afternoon, Alfred E. Sells repudiated his confession to the murder of Mrs. Elise Vogel, wife of Jacob Vogel, the aged banker, who was also slain in their Fruitvale home on February 11.

"I was satisfied that the police were determined to fasten that crime upon me," said Sells. "I was not in Oakland at the time of the murder. I felt that to plead not guilty would mean that would be prosecuted fiercely and if convicted that the penalty would be death. For that reason I pleaded guilty to save my life. But I did not commit that murder."

Sells refused to go into details. He appeared downcast, sullen in demeanor as he was led away handcuffed to J. Hunt,

SATURDAY, MARCH 20, 1915.

THE U. S. IN SANTO DOMINGO.

The comments of Senator James D. Phelan upon the government of Santo Domingo are not without interest. Santo Domingo has been a ward of the United States since 1905. At that time the financial and political conditions became unsatisfactory, government unstable, and conditions surrounding life and property unreliable. Foreigners lived from day to day subject to serious hazards. In fact some were killed and many suffered great annoyance and large property losses. A state of anarchy, or something like it, existed. In this emergency and in the face of these conditions, the governments of France and Italy stated explicitly to the government of the United States that their citizens in Santo Domingo were ill-treated, assaulted, robbed and murdered; that pledges, which had been given for the payment of loans for the government, were not being regarded, and the security back of those pledges were being appropriated or destroyed. The question of supporting the Monroe Doctrine to its inevitable conclusion was set squarely before this government. We were asked in terms either to restore order in Santo Domingo and set up some sort of a government there, which would be mindful of the right of foreigners, and establish a decent degree of protection, or permit Italy and France to step in, seize the custom houses and restore order. The idea of permitting European governments to make a lodgment, even of a temporary nature, in Santo Domingo, for the purpose of putting an end to dire conditions there, was repugnant. We chose to take action ourselves.

The situation was a grave and unusual one. There were no precedents of value to guide the American Government. However, a commissioner was sent from Washington to Santo Domingo. He entered into an arrangement, with the temporary government, by which this country was invited to take over and manage the custom houses of Santo Domingo. Some time later a treaty was negotiated, carrying this arrangement formally into effect. The whole difficulty in the island grew out of the rapacity of various local leaders, who wished to possess themselves of various custom houses in order to convert the receipts to their own use. A half dozen revolutions were going on at the same time in Santo Domingo, each one for the struggle for the possession of a port in its custom house. After having agreed to administer the custom houses the United States, as authorized by the treaty, sent good men to Santo Domingo, and for a short time restored order. When we took possession of the custom houses, and held them under the guns of our war vessels, peace immediately ensued. There was nothing left to fight for.

By the terms of the treaty the United States agreed to collect all custom revenues, and to turn 45 per cent of the receipts from this source over to the Santo Domingo Government, to pay its operating expenses. The remaining and larger portion of the receipts were to be deposited to the credit of Santo Domingo in a New York bank, and used for the purpose of liquidating the national obligations. It is a noteworthy and interesting fact, and one highly creditable to the American administration, that at the end of the first year of American control of the customs the sum which the government of Santo Domingo received as its 45 per cent of the receipts was double that ever collected under domestic administration when the whole of the receipts of customs were taken by the government. In other words about 50 per cent of the money had been stolen, and never reached the coffers of the government.

Matters have been going on smoothly most of the time in Santo Domingo since the Americans assumed control of its revenues, and there was no serious difficulty until Mr. Bryan removed the competent minister, a man of long and successful experience in dealing with Latin-American countries, and set in his place a cheap and inefficient political hanger-on from Brooklyn. This man, knowing nothing about diplomacy, nothing about foreign countries and people, immediately got into trouble, apparently through stupidity, rather than evil intention, and it was to straighten out the difficulties in which he had become involved that Mr. Phelan was sent to Santo Domingo to investigate the whole matter and report to the President.

The experiment which this government has tried in Santo Domingo, exercising a certain degree of control of its custom houses, has worked on the whole so well, that strong pressure has been brought to bear upon Haiti, Nicaragua and Honduras. A treaty quite similar to the one negotiated with Santo Domingo has been made with Nicaragua and is now awaiting ratification on the part of the Senate of the United States. In the course of a few years this country will be actively a factor in the affairs of most of the smaller Latin republics around the Caribbean sea.

WAR AND BUSINESS.

A very remarkable volume of export trade from the port of New York continues without sign of abatement. Last week the exports of general merchandise from New York were valued at $40,000,896, an increase of $19,000,951 over the exports of a year ago. The exports last week were the largest ever recorded for a week in the New York Custom House. The meaning of these figures is, that the European demand, vast as it has been, is increasing. If it were not for these orders, chiefly from the warring nations, manufacturing industries in the East would in most lines be prostrated. With exports going out weekly from a single port valued at more than forty million dollars, it seems futile for anyone to talk seriously of the advisability of laying an embargo on the shipping of American goods for the purpose of forcing either the Allies or Germany to give more considerate treatment to neutral shipping. The government of the United States should at the outset of the present war have exerted itself actively and effectively for the protection of the rights of neutrals, for the safeguarding of those rights, which have already been recognized and admitted in international law, and for the widening and extension of those privileges. This was a manifest duty and a manifest opportunity. The government failed to act at the proper time. It was shivering and timid or uncertain as to its status as a neutral. It seemed to think that any resolute expression of opinion in behalf of the interests of this country or other neutrals was a danger sedulously to be avoided.

TO THE PUBLIC.

The publishers of The Tribune are duly appreciative and grateful for the many gracious expressions, rather more-than-less personal to themselves, which appear in other columns of today's paper. It may not be improper to say that the new publishers are not given to individual exploitation; yet it has seemed not outside the proprieties to give to the public letters manifestly intended either as indorsements of character or as signifying individual hopefulness. But these letters have a larger significance and one very suggestive to us, who have newly come here, of the spirit of this community. Obviously it is a matter of real concern to many persons and to varied elements of community life what species of journalism shall abide here. Quite as obviously there is desire for what is substantial and wholesome as compared with what is trivial and demoralizing. Not every community, we grieve to say, is so scrupulous. It is inspiring to find here a sentiment which corresponds precisely with the traditions and motives of the particular journalism in which the new publishers have been bred. Whatever else The Tribune may be in our hands, it will not become a thing of discredit or shame to this community.

THE BOND FAILURE.

In round numbers—the returns are not yet quite complete as we write—45,000 votes were cast in Alameda county yesterday, of which—again in round numbers—25,000 were for the exposition bonds and 19,500 against. Thus it will be seen that the bond proposition was sustained by a substantial majority, even though it failed of the legally necessary two-thirds. The city of Alameda, with 3315 for the bonds and 1555 against, gave to the proposal the two-thirds required by law with a comfortable margin to spare. Other near-the-bay points gave to the proposition majority votes, yet not in ratio sufficient to win under the two-thirds requirement. Oakland, with a total vote of approximately 30,000, gave a majority of approximately 1000 for the bonds. In the business districts and in the strictly residential precincts the favoring vote was large, but the precincts in the industrial district went heavily the other way. Many small taxpayers felt that in this proposal they were asked to sustain a pledge in the making of which they had had no share, and in which their only part would be to pay an increased tax. Likewise in certain interior precincts the vote went heavily against the proposal on the ground that the obligation, if an obligation at all, was on the part of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce alone.

It would be quite useless to discuss in detail causes which have contributed to this result. In one respect they have a basis in conditions shared by Oakland with the rest of the country, and illustrated within the week by failure on the part of San Francisco to accept any one of twenty or more proposals seriously affecting the political organization of that community. The public is worn to the bone with elections and proposals for elections, with official schemes to modify local systems of government, with initiative, referendums, bondings and the like. It has been discovered that most of the things proposed under promise to make for us, by schemes of enactment, a new heaven and a new earth are mere clap-trap projects, devised in self-interest or vanity or both together. So a wearied and disgusted electorate has come to a state of mind when the universal propensity is to say no to any and every project suggestive of change or calling for money. The Tribune is not without a sense of sympathy with this state of mind. It regrets its application to the immediate proposition, but it cannot find phrases to condemn whoever, under a sense of the selfishness and increasing mischiefs of a too-long-drawn-out movement in the field of political experimentation, now, in the spirit of resentment and negation, turns his back upon any and every proposition thrust upon his notice.

It is perhaps just as well, lest there be those who have forgotten the facts, to state just what was the pledge to which yesterday's election related. It was a telegram of date January 17, 1911, to the Panama-Pacific committee of San Francisco, then at Washington, urging upon Congress the selection of San Francisco as the exposition city. To this committee the following telegram was sent:

Oakland, January 17, 1911.

To the Panama-Pacific Committee, New Hotel Willard, Washington, D. C.:

At the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, with a membership of 1700 representatives of the activity of a quarter of a million people in the six cities on the eastern shore of San Francisco bay, one in interest, we pledge through you to our sister city most loyal support and co-operation, and stand ready to support a million dollar bond issue by Alameda county, if required, in addition to the amount already subscribed.

W. S. MACKAY, President.
A. A. DENISON, Secretary.

Disappointing as the result of yesterday's election is, it is still comforting to reflect that this pledge has been loyally kept. Not only the Chamber of Commerce of Oakland, but practically every business man, every professional man and every agency of large public sentiment has been active in support of the bond issue. There has been no disposition on the part of what may be styled the representative element of the community to quibble about the pledge, or to belittle the obligation, much less to shirk it. Cordially and whole-heartedly support has been given where anybody had a right to expect it. The failure is the fault, not of a majority of the community, but of a law which requires a vote far in excess of the ordinarily controlling ratio.

JAPAN AND THE PACIFIC ISLANDS.

A cablegram from Tokio which has lately been received by certain newspapers in the United States, conveys this interesting and quite significant intelligence:

TOKIO, March 18.—The recently organized South Sea association announces that it will conduct a thorough investigation into the industrial and social conditions in the South Sea islands, including the Philippines, Java, Sumatra, Borneo and the Malay peninsula, and undertake to train men in the knowledge and arts necessary for enterprises there. The association will publish a magazine to better acquaint the Japanese people with the islands.

The present movement is headed by Baron Kondo, president of the Japan Mail Steamship company, and several prominent bankers and government officials.

It will appear strange to many persons that the Japanese government should contemplate the extension of its scientific-commercial investigation to the Philippines—particularly in view of the fact that the United States government has made a careful and comprehensive study of its islands under our control and has published many and admirable reports upon them.

Is this the beginning of a new process of benevolent assimilation?

THE FORUM

LETTERS FROM TRIBUNE READERS ON TIMELY TOPICS.

[illegible]

THE "LITTLE AMERICAN" SIDE.

[illegible]

To the Editor of THE TRIBUNE: [illegible] THE TRIBUNE [illegible]

[illegible] What [illegible] the policy of the United States Government toward the citizens of the United States [illegible]

The views advanced were [illegible] with a "hands off" policy, or were in advocacy of our government interfering in behalf of giving protection to United States citizens and other foreigners [illegible] property interests in Mexico.

From such views there are reasonable and just grounds for dissenting. If THE TRIBUNE will permit itself to be a public forum in which a debate may be held on the question, this writer will undertake to present briefly the contrary views in support of the "hands off" policy.

When a United States citizen goes to a foreign country and there becomes resident, and invests his money there, he does [illegible] as an alien in that country. Although an alien, he is yet an ex-patriate from his own country, so long as his residence continues in the foreign land.

He has no voice or part in the government of his own country, neither in that of his adopted country. He is wholly subject to the laws of the latter; and dependent upon the enforcement of those laws for protection to his person and his property. He has voluntarily put himself in position where he is subject to all the vicissitudes of political changes that tend to produce instability of government, and inability to orderly enforce law.

When he entered upon his venture as an expatriate, he did so without seeking the sanction or protection of his home government. In fact, if he was a person of ordinary intelligence, and a fair modicum of common sense, he knew that the government of his own country was not called upon to use its armed power to protect him and his property in an alien land.

Then why should he, or any other person, expect, in event of the country wherein he, as an alien, had cast his lot—becoming involved in domestic strife, destroying law and order and ability to afford him protection, why should it be expected that such protection would be given to him by the government of the country from which he had voluntarily expatriated himself?

COLORED MEN AND THE RIGHT TO WORK.

March 18th, 1915.

EDITOR TRIBUNE: I have read many times your editorial on "Patronize Your Home Town" and what you said to the people of Oakland has so much of the gospel of truth that for the life of me I cannot forget it. There are some facts that are so pertinent to that question that have to do with my people who are apart of the body politic of Oakland and California, that I take the liberty of addressing this letter with the hope that I may be able to reach a large proportion of the sober thinking white people of Alameda County.

1. The Question of Work.

Many places of honorable endeavor are closed to the Negro here simply because of the color of their skin.

When the Honorable Franklin K. Lane came here to help California throw open her doors to the world, he made a remarkable address in which he said, "when the visitors come here treat them right."

The Japanese who any day may be called upon to shoulder a rifle and march to war against America, which interests are all controlled by the whites, are given places of employment ninety-nine cases out of the hundred before a Black man, who has never fought against this country and never will, but on the contrary has fought side by side with the white man and will fight again if called.

The Chinaman, who clings to his oriental ways and absolutely refuses to be Americanized is preferred, it seems, to a Negro who is ever ready to copy after some white man.

The question of work is a large one. The Colored man who works and makes money has nowhere to spend it but at home. It means that if any large number of Negroes were given work here they would spend their money here. While a large per cent of the money the Orientals earn goes across the sea. That is true with a large portion of all foreigners, and when a large majority accumulate good sums through the preference that is given them to work over Colored Americans, they will take it all away to their native land and invest it in a home in the old country. You rightly say, "The way to help Oakland is not only to talk Oakland, but to aid Oakland by spending the money earned here in Oakland." And that is what I preach and practice. I have not spent one dollar outside of Oakland since I have been living here more than two years. If I can't get it in Oakland I will go without it.

2. The Question of National and Civic Loyalty.

No man can say that in every war in which America has been engaged that the Negro didn't do his full share. He stands ready to bare his breast to any foe of America's flag to-day, and that fact alone ought to insure him the privilege to work for his living anywhere in America he goes. And of all places that he should not be discouraged is here in California, a place favored of God. I feel, however, that a better day is upon us; I tell my people to live soberly in the fear of God and prove themselves worthy of any trust that the white man may impose upon them. That the spirit of right will prevail.

The white man of the South, who knows the Negro, will give the Colored man an opportunity to work. The disposition in these parts is to give him an opportunity to spend a dollar but refuses to permit him to make one. Will not the editor of the greatest evening paper this side of the Rockies help us to find an opportunity to work that we may join with all Oaklanders in truly boosting this the garden spot of America?

EATS PIE AT MIDNIGHT, IS 98.

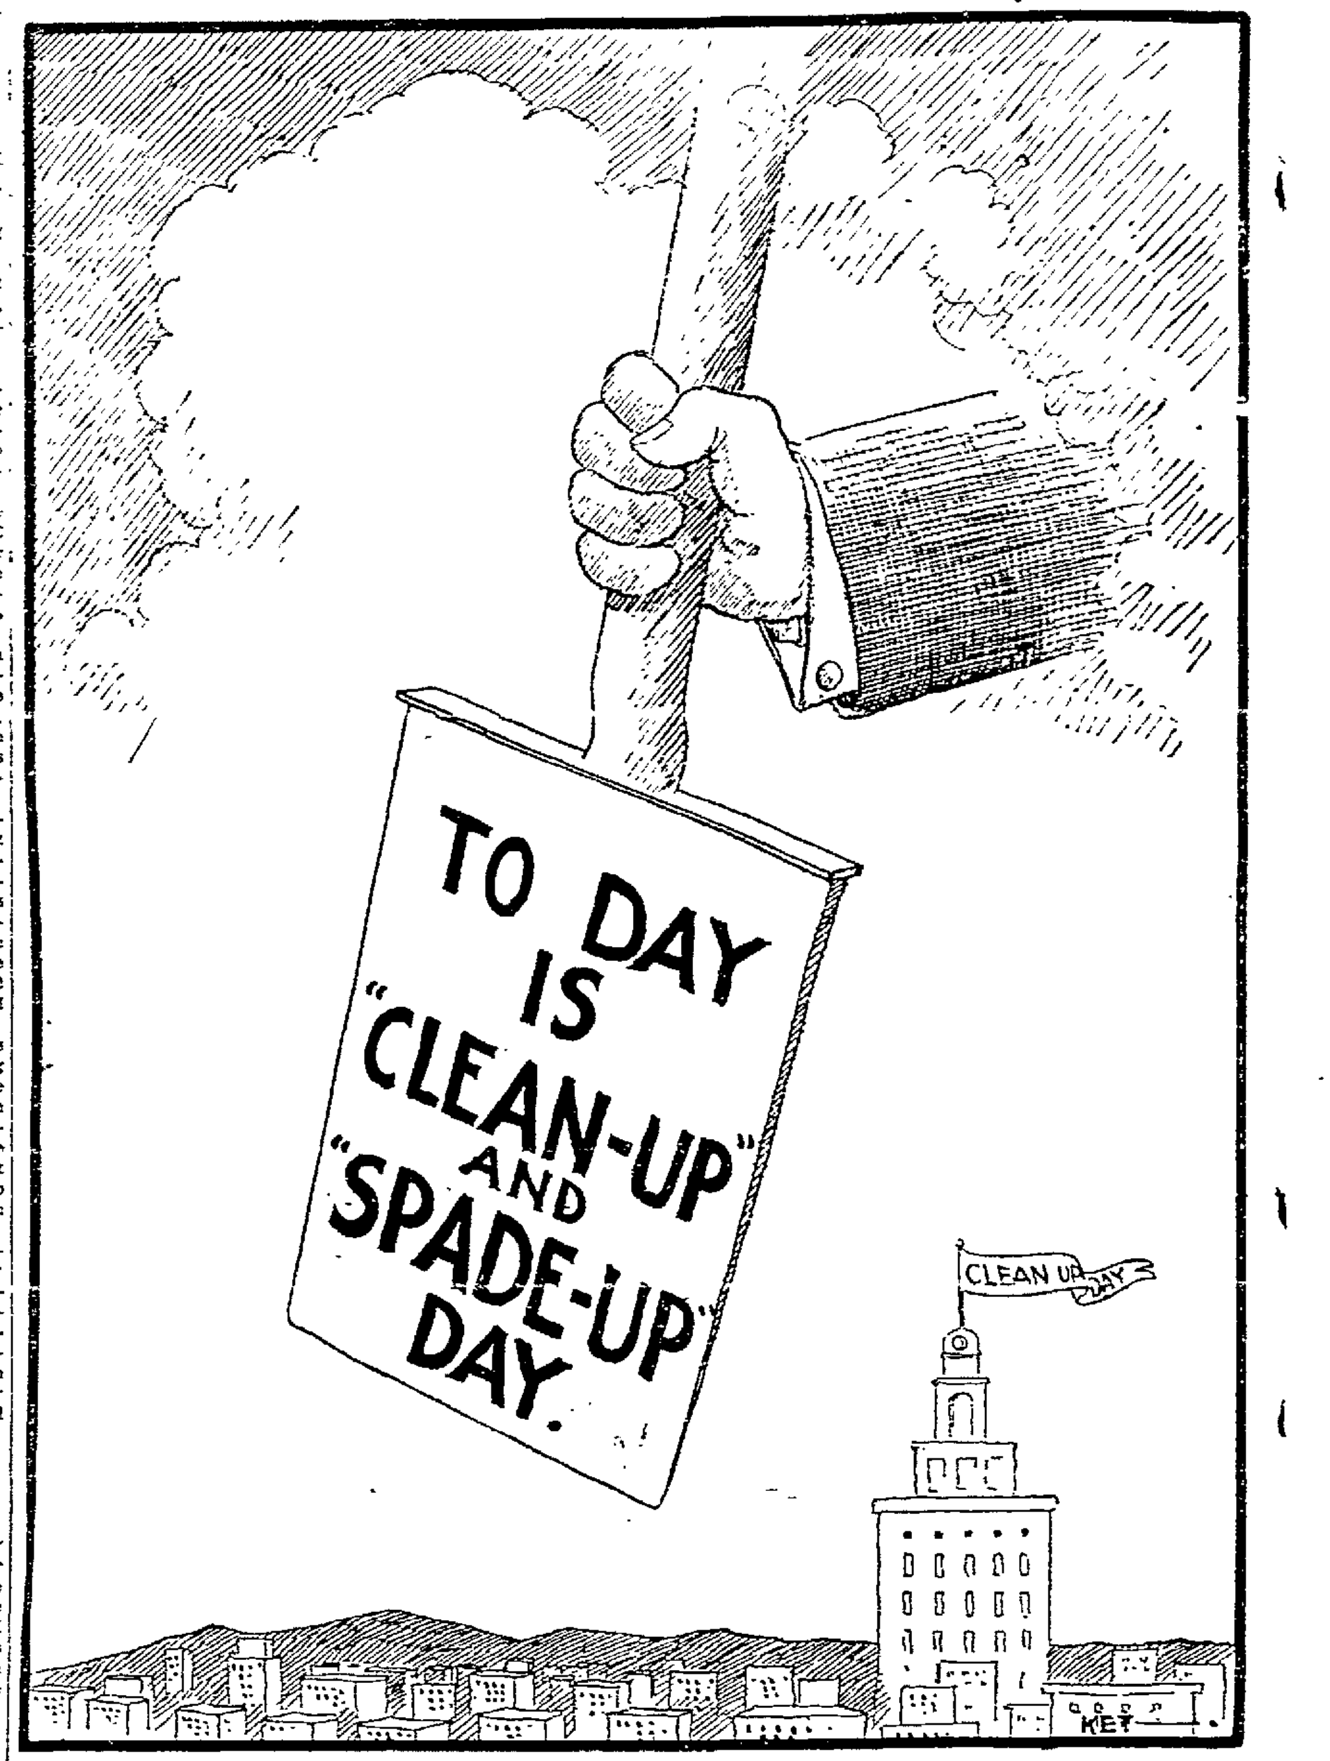

Aged Woman Gives This Custom As One of Rules for Long Life.

Observing hygienic rules, at which doctors stand aghast, Mrs Mary Brand, oldest resident of Belmont county, celebrated her ninety-eighth birthday anniversary and laughingly predicted she would at least live to be a hundred.

She attributes her longevity to a few rules, chief of which is "eat what you want, when you want it."

Mrs. Brand practices this rule unreservedly and enthusiastically. She smilingly explained that often she rises in the middle of the night and eats a little, "just to stay her stomach," and that frequently this nocturnal menu includes pie. "If you're hungry for a thing, that thing won't hurt you," Mrs. Brand says. —St. Louis Star.

SENATOR PHELAN DISCUSSES SANTO DOMINGO.

Election Methods in a Disturbed Country.

"Santo Domingo is not a black man's country," said Senator-elect James D. Phelan, of California, to a Washington Post reporter a few days ago. Mr. Phelan is the special commissioner investigating the circumstances leading to the appointment, fitness and conduct in office of James M. Sullivan, minister to the Dominican republic, at the Shoreham. "I have found that many persons have the impression that Santo Domingo is populated by blacks, where, as the fact is, that the neighboring country of Haiti is the "black" nation.

"There have been numerous new methods inaugurated in Santo Domingo. For instance, in the last election, which was the most satisfactory and the freest ever held in the country, in order to prevent repeating, an original device was resorted to by the election officers who marked the hands of the voters with an indelible fluid. This proved effective, but there were some who found means of removing the ink by acid. Whether these men repeated or not, I do not know. As a result of the election the revolutionary leader, Jose Vasquez, was defeated by a combination of the supporters of Jiminez Velasquez and Arias, all independent leaders with a following, and all now members of the new cabinet.

"The legislative body is held by the government by a slender majority. One of the American guarantees, apart from free elections, was free speech and a free press, which is being indulged in to the fullest, and for the first time in years there are no political prisoners in the jails, which shows a degree of toleration remarkable under their system. There are two daily papers and three other papers in Santo Domingo and the assaults on the government in the opposition press are often very bitter and unreasonable. The government is attacked for subserviency to the United States. A demonstration was made for allowing me to land in spite of quarantine regulations. The opposition to the government is purely factional and political. It is a good government.

"It looks now as if this most fertile of the Antilles will enjoy a destiny of peace and prosperity."

DREAM BABIES.

When the day is gray and the sky hangs down
And the sunbeams melt to raining,
And the folks go slushing about the town
In a mood of deep complaining,

It's then I doze in my fireside chair,
With my heart in a midst of glories,
And little pink fingers in my hair
And little ears pricked for stories.

So I hold them close and I whisper low,
Till a fillet of sun comes beaming.
Then I coax and I beg, but they laugh and go—
My babes of the gray day dreaming!

Tip to Historians.

Perhaps some future historian will note the fact that the Massachusetts house debated earnestly the licensing of cats during the most critical hours of the greatest of world wars.—Springfield Republican.

The government of Guatemala is anxious to open up the markets of Germany to her big coffee crop. Germany has been Guatemala's principal purchaser, and now that war is raging and the allies are striving to keep all food supplies from reaching the Germans, the Guatemalan officials are worried.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

When the new members of the Board of Education take office there will be a change in the presiding officer. Charles H. Redington, who is now president of the board, will retire, as his term expires. There are several candidates in the field to succeed him, and the indications are that there will be a merry contest for the place. Dr. Myra Knox says that she does not desire to hold down the chair. J. W. Evans of East Oakland and W. H. Friend of the Fifth, are both out for the presidency.

The Piedmont Consolidated Cable Company's entire property was sold by Commissioner Ira Bishop, in front of the Courthouse at noon today, to Charles R. Bishop, vice-president of the Bank of California. The plant, including cars, power-house and, in fact, everything connected with the road was knocked down under the hammer for $52,000. There was only one bid, and the sale was made in short order.

The insurance war is on in Oakland in good shape. The failure of the local agents last evening to effect a combination among themselves has further demoralized a very critical situation so far as they are concerned. Matters have been drifting from bad to worse in the insurance line in Oakland for some time. The quiet slashing of rates that has been done in Oakland all along the line was a great evil the insurance agents wanted to correct.

The romantic Irish drama, "Kathleen Mavourneen," was presented in Oakland Theater by a company of amateurs, to a large audience. The play was produced under the direction of Miss Mary Hanlon and the proceeds will be applied to the benefit of the Church of the Immaculate Conception.

MUST HAVE PROPER BUMPS.

Young Indiana Phrenologist Looking For a Wife.

A Bloomington, Illinois dispatch says: "A. C. Anderson, farmer boy of Saratoga, Ind., who has been looking for a wife in central Illinois, has returned home disappointed.

"He recently wrote to the mayor asking his aid in securing a bride. A number of girls responded, but he declared that none had the proper cranium. It developed that the youth has made a study of phrenology and has a hallucination that the bumps on the head govern future happiness.

"Like the search of the prince for the Cinderella with the properly shaped foot, Anderson will continue his search for the girl with the right kind of bumps upon her head. He says that he has been seeking such a girl for four years and has turned down hundreds who were willing to marry him."

"It is," sighed the eminent trust magnate.

"Still, I suppose you have to maintain it?"

"We are going to give up having Johnny get an education."

"For what reason?"

"Well, we can't get him sterilized every morning in time to go to school."—Southern Woman's Magazine.

"What is your name?" asked the new teacher of the first boy in line.

"Tom," said the boy.

"No, it isn't Tom, it's Thomas."

"And your name?" she inquired of the next boy.

"Jackass," said the boy.

If you favor war dig a trench in your back yard, fill it half full of water, crawl into it and stay there for a day or two without anything to eat, get a lunatic to shoot at you with a brace of revolvers and a machine-gun, and you will have something just as good, and you will save your country a great deal of expense.—Appeal to Reason.

NO USE.

"It—er—seems," said he, regarding the unfortunate with scientific interest, "that the attacks of fever and chills appear on alternate days. Do you think—is it your opinion—that they have, so to speak, decreased in violence, if I may use that word?"

The patient smiled feebly.

"Doc," said he, "on fever days my head's so hot I can't think, and on ague days I shake so I can't hold an opinion.—New York Globe.

"Is that a genuine antique?"

"Yes," replied the dealer.

"Why, here's a mark that indicates it was made only twenty years ago."

"We are living in a very rapid age. It doesn't take nearly as long to make an antique as it used to."—Washington Star.

Then, as an afterthought, Bill says:

"But every time I look at grandfather's wooden leg I long for the advent of universal peace."—Tid-Bits.

GENUINE ECONOMY.

Why should Congressman Mann betray any unusual excitement because Secretary of Commerce Redfield employs four motor cars at government expense, one of them being an opera bus?

Could a Secretary of Commerce be more usefully employed than in riding about in autos? How much does Representative Mann estimate this country would be saved in actual millions if every Congressman was provided by the government with a motor car and enjoyed it so much that he wouldn't have time enough to vote on needless expenditures?

HE STOPPED.

CORN MILL ON ZONE MAKES HIS FORTUNE

RICHMOND, March 20.—Clarence C. Dustheimer, who returned to Richmond Thusday night with his bride from Panama, gained fame and fortune during his stay in Central and South America, where he was connected with the engineering department on the Panama Canal.

Corn meal was the means by which Dustheimer, who is twenty-one years of age succeeded. Observing that the natives used the primitive methods of ancient times, Dustheimer was struck with an idea.

He established a small corn mill at Cauca and since its establishment has been forced to add considerable equipment because of the great influx of business.

"The natives are greatly impressed," said Dustheimer last night at his home on Nevada avenue. The mill relieved them of tedious work and turned out a better quality of meal than they could make with their primitive method."

DISCUSS WATER SUPPLY.

RICHMOND, March 20.—A delegation of women from the Richmond Club visited the meeting of the Water Commission last night and engaged in a discussion with that body as to the future plans for Richmond's water supply. Election of officers for the board will be held on the first meeting night in April. No chagen is anticipated.

PLAN SPECIAL SERVICES IN RICHMOND CHURCHES

RICHMOND, March 20.—Special Easter services will be held in all Richmond churches. Programs for the day as well as several special services the week preceding Easter Sunday are under way. A special effort is being made by the churches to secure as large an attendance as possible. Rev. Boyer, of the First Christian church has a campaign on for a "Hundred members in a Hundred Days," the idea being to have one hundred new members in the church on Easter Sunday, April 4.

Similar efforts are being made by all of the churches and it is expected that the attendance at churches in Richmond this Easter will eclipse in numbers any previous records. Rev. Peterson, pastor of the First Methodist church, will conduct special Easter services, Thursday and Friday before Easter Sunday. Other churches planning special services are Wesley Methodist, Rev. Calfee: First Presbyterian, Rev. White; St. Paul's, San Pablo, Rev. Father Porta; Our Lady of Mercy, Rev. Father Sullivan; First Christian, Rev. Boyer; Calvary Baptist, Rev. Wilson; First Baptist, Rev. Skinner; St. Mark's, Rev. Father Griffin; Methodist, Rev. Peterson, and Episcopal, Rev. Lindsey.

OAKLAND SCHOOL ORCHESTRA SCORES

Young Musicians Give Successful Concert Before Exposition Crowd.

The younger musicians of Oakland, pupils of the public schools, covered themselves with glory at the exposition yesterday when sixty boys and girls gave a concert in the Educational building. There was an enthusiastic audience which applauded generously. Glenn Wood, director of music in the Oakland schools, received praise for the excellence of the program, and the players who were members of the high school orchestras, proved the development of native talent that suggested the importance of the musical movement in Oakland which has no parallel in San Francisco.

The young people played Scotson Clark's "Marche aux Flambeaux," Gruenwald's "King Midas" overture, the Dvorak "Humoreske," and selections from "Lucia di Lammermoor"; spiritedly, and with a manifest pleasure in the work they were doing.

Three boys, W. Welch, C. Storer and A. Solomon, played an arrangement of "In Cellar Cool," for three bassoons with the ease and unity of professional players. A selection from Cavalleria Rusticana by Trubner was excellently rendered by the following: Flute, C. Rugh; oboes, H. Dalton and E. Myers; clarinets, R. Clinkenbeard and W. Holmes; horns, H. Hittenberger and N. Goldwater; bassoons, W. Welch and C. Storer.

A notable performance number was the trio of quartettes for French horns and bassoon of which one number was the familiar "Old Heidelberg" quartettes, another Barnby's "Sweet and Low." Mr. Trautner took one horn part; the others were H. Hittenberger and N. Goldwater, with W. Welch for bassoonist.

OWL SERVICE BEGUN BY SOUTHERN PACIFIC

For the convenience of Oakland visitors at the fair on Saturday night, the Southern Pacific will run a train to connect with the boat leaving San Francisco at 2:15 Sunday morning. The train will make connection at the Oakland pier and run via the Seventh street line as far as Melrose every Sunday morning.

This new service of the Southern Pacific will start its schedule tonight, and will make all the stops made by the regular trains.

In other words, the train will take care of those Oaklanders who were formerly obliged either to cross the bay on the "paper boat" or to stay in San Francisco hotels for the night.

MIGHTY SIGNBOARD TO ADVERTISE SAN LEANDRO

SAN LEANDRO, March 20.—Subscribing for a fund to advertise the town, a number of citizens have had a huge sign erected on the Lincoln State highway boulevard, after the town board had refused to make provision for it.

The sign is 16 feet by 6 feet and is painted red with white lettering calling attention to San Leandro's educational, social and industrial attractions. Those who subscribed are: Trustee Fred Schmidt, R. E. Andrews, Dr. W. A. Sehorn, M. C. King and J. F. Faustina. Since the boulevard over which thousands of automobiles pass daily is situated fully half a miles north of the town, the residents consider some kind of community notice should be posted directing passersby into San Leandro.

OVERCOME BY GASOLINE.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—Tony Silva, captain and engineer of a Crowley launch, was rendered unconscious by the fumes of gasoline while cruising in the bay this morning. His craft proceeded without a hand at the wheel until another boat overhauled it and Silva was taken to the Harbor Hospital. He quickly revived under treatment.

CALENDAR CLEAN.

RICHMOND, March 20.—There will be no more criminal cases tried in the Superior Court in Contra Costa county this month. The first important case will be April 1, when H. M. Goodrich, charged with passing a fictitious check upon J. T. Work of Richmond, will be brought up. Goodrich has occupied a prison cell for about three months. Should he be let go free by the Martinez court, he will be taken to San Francisco where he is wanted for a similar crime.

WHAT THE PEOPLE SAY ABOUT THE TRIBUNE

SUGGESTIONS MADE TO THE PUBLISHERS

Under the New Management the Tribune Will Be Bigger and Better Than Ever

The "introductory" of Francis B. Loomis and Alfred Holman published in THE TRIBUNE last Thursday evening has met with a generous response from the public. The publishers of THE TRIBUNE in their "introductory" set forth in complete terms their hopes and aspirations regarding Oakland and this newspaper.

Many messages of good will have been received at THE TRIBUNE office, a few of which are as follows:

MAYOR F. K. MOTT WELCOMES PUBLISHERS.

Executive Department
City of Oakland, California.
Frank K. Mott, Mayor.
W. H. Jordan, Secretary.
March 15, 1915.

Mr. Alfred Holman and Mr. Francis B. Loomis, Publishers OAKLAND TRIBUNE, Oakland, California.
Gentlemen: After reading your announcement of policy in taking over the OAKLAND TRIBUNE, I feel that an expression of my appreciation of its broad tone, its sympathetic attitude toward our city and its earnest of a splendid future for your newspaper should be given to you.

Oakland is to be congratulated upon the fact that men of your high standing in public affairs, in journalism and in other noteworthy activities which make for clear vision and wide perspective have chosen this city as the scene of their further interest. We want such men to come among us, and, as you have so succinctly stated to be one with us.

Not only do we give you heartiest of welcomes, but we do assure you of our support in every movement you shall undertake for the public weal. You have taken over a great newspaper property, a journal which has ever stood staunchly and loyally for Oakland. That its powerful influences for the general good will be continued even into higher and broader spheres under your guidance there can be no doubt. You have sounded a note of optimism and have touched a chord of progressive ideals that will mean much for this city.

Again I beg to extend the hand of welcome, and to wish for you all success in this, your new field of high endeavor.

FRANK K. MOTT,
Mayor of Oakland.

Publishers TRIBUNE: I have heard with great pleasure of the new ownership and management upon which THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE is now entering. I doubt if there is any better opening for the development of a good newspaper than that for an evening paper in Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda. We want a paper that we can take home with us, that can be allowed admission to the house, that can furnish sound and substantial reading for the evening hours. Such a paper does not need to have as much nervousness about it and as much red ink and broad spreading headlines as the papers which emerge upon the garish daytime.

I am thinking of the type of newspaper represented by the New York Evening Post, the Chicago Evening Post, the Boston Evening Transcript. Some say we cannot have such a newspaper here, that it would not pay; in other words, that we do not deserve it. I do not believe this. I think the people who live in these East Bay cities are worthy of being treated as intelligent beings. We want a newspaper that will give us something more than opinions. I wish our evening newspaper could avoid taking sides on current issues. We want news and statements of fact and documents more than we need or want to have our minds made up for us, folded, and sealed with prejudice. I have faith to believe that Mr. Loomis and Mr. Holman will give us the evening newspaper that we need.

If they cannot do it I am sure I do not know who can. There is no man in the country better informed in international politics, and for that matter in the larger interests of national politics than is Mr. Loomis. We have not generally had our news as it comes to us raw over the wires sufficiently interpreted to us by men who understand what it is all about. We are singularly isolated here on the Pacific Coast, and if we are not careful we easily get into the dumps of provincialism. I look to Mr. Loomis to lead us out of the mire up onto the hills where the footing is good. Those who are regular readers of the Argonaut do not need to be told of the skill and the breeziness with which Mr. Holman helps us to think about the things which are going on among us and around us. Between the two we seem likely to get a first-rate evening paper.

Now it becomes us to help it and support it. What can we do to make it worth such a newspaper's while to save good space now wasted on monster headlines? What can we do to help it give us straight news rather than partisanship? What can we do to help keep it from taking sides and assuming attitudes and promoting schemes and pushing bills and raising money and declaring war? We want news; we want whole documents; we want the chance to make up our own minds; we do not want our minds made up for us. We have high hope for THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE and give it our blessing.

BENJ. IDE WHEELER.

Messrs. F. B. Loomis, Alfred Holman—Dear Sirs: It is a great pleasure to me, as one of the "old-timers" to welcome you to this community. During the years I have lived here many good things have come to us, but I cannot now think of a more distinct benefit than your acquisition of THE TRIBUNE.

The paper has for some years been steadily growing into a splendid daily, and it needed just the finishing touch of your personality to lift it to the plane of a great metropolitan paper.

Your wide experience, your broad grasp of affairs, your firm and definite policies on important public questions, your courage to stand for everything that is progressive and clean, and your evident faith in this side of the bay make me feel that in your advent we have acquired an asset of immeasurable value.

The mass of our people believe in the principles you represent, as announced in your opening editorial, and without doubt you will have their steadfast support.

EDITOR TRIBUNE: I am more than pleased to know that Mr. Loomis and Mr. Holman have assumed the active control and management of THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE. The right sort of newspaper wields a tremendous influence for good and is the best asset that any community can have, and if Mr. Loomis and Mr. Holman carry out the policies as outlined in your recent editorial, it cannot but redound to the best interests of the community.

Mr. Loomis has had a broad experience in newspaper work, and I know from personal observation of the splendid work performed by him in Washington and as our representative abroad. Mr. Holman's work as a newspaperman is known throughout the entire state. Your association, Mr. Loomis, is a most fortunate combination, and I feel that the citizens of Oakland are to be congratulated on the fact that Mr. Loomis and Mr. Holman have determined to cast their lot with us on this side of the bay. Mr. Alfred Holman, Publisher and General Manager TRIBUNE — As a former editor of THE TRIBUNE I want to be among the first to welcome you to Oakland! I must, of course, explain that I was only an editor by courtesy for a single day, the fifth of last December, but even that short experience gave me much insight into the perplexities, and also the possibilities of helping in the common problems of society, which belong to the manager of a great daily paper.

The spirit of your recent opening editorial was constructive, broad and statesman-like. I trust it foretells a forceful and high minded civic patriotism on the part of THE TRIBUNE which shall make it to Oakland what the Brooklyn Eagle, The Springfield Republican, The Boston Transcript and The Chicago Tribune have become to their respective communities.

During recent months THE TRIBUNE has done much by its opposition to the saloon and other socially destructive forces, to win the respect and appreciation of all good citizens. I trust this policy may be continued and strengthened during your administration and hearty co-operation given to those forces which, in church and playground, in school and industry are laboring for the building of character and the exaltation of spiritual values in this beautiful city of Oakland.

To THE TRIBUNE Publishing Co.
Gentlemen: I read with deep interest the introductory editorial of the new management of your paper. My work in life has been in the field of education. Anything, therefore, that looks toward the uplift and development of the people finds a warm response from me. The character and achievements of Mr. Loomis and Mr. Holman are so notable as to give promise of offering to our city a really great paper, one in which we may expect to find the vital questions of the state and nation discussed in a wise and sane way.

It was my privilege to read, for a number of years, the Oregonian, editorially one of the truly great papers of the country. Mr. Holman was one of its editors and it gives me much personal satisfaction to know that I am again to have the pleasure of reading what he may have to say.

Mr. Loomis, too, because of his rich and varied experience in the councils of the nation, both at home and abroad, will bring to the paper strength and character.

Oakland is fortunate indeed to receive into its citizenship, and as leaders of its thought, these two eminent gentlemen.

CHARLES E. KEYES.

POLICE JUDGE SAMUELS APPROVES OF TRIBUNE.

Tribune Publishing Co. Gentlemen: It should be a matter of congratulation to citizens of Oakland as well as to THE TRIBUNE that Mr. Alfred Holman and Mr. Francis B. Loomis have associated themselves with the management of this splendid property. Both are men of national reputation. Mr. Holman has been identified with some of the greatest newspapers on the Pacific coast. Mr. Loomis is known among statesmen and publicists for his broad outlook upon national affairs.

The appearance of THE TRIBUNE since they have assumed control indicates that they have not only definite policy of betterment and upbuilding for this community, but that they are ready to appreciate the value of what has been done in the past, and to build upon this solid foundation. Particularly noticeable are the editorials. They command the attention at once and are equal to the very best of any of the metropolitan newspapers. I wish to express the heartiest good wishes for their success in this enterprise.

GEORGE SAMUELS.

Mr. F. B. Loomis, Mr. Alfred Holman, publishers OAKLAND TRIBUNE, Oakland, Cal. Gentlemen. In acknowledging your application for membership in the Oakland Chamber of Commerce and Commercial Club Consolidated, permit us to say a word of greeting upon your entry into the civic and commercial life of Oakland and Alameda County.

Under the broad and enterprising policy outlined in your introductory editorial, the future of THE TRIBUNE is assured, and you are personally guaranteed the support, and the friendship of our best citizens.

We shall count with confidence upon your assistance in our efforts to advance the welfare of the East Bay district and we shall look forward to a pleasant association with you in the commercial life of this community.

Oakland, March 17, 1915.

TRIBUNE Publishing Co. Gentlemen: The newer vision, which seems to be before the City of Oakland and which is to encourage and direct its growth from provincialism and self-sufficiency to its greater destiny as a seaport of commercial importance and as the seat of culture, broad morality, service and happiness, ought now definitely to inspire all its public activities. The policy and tone of its press may play almost a controlling part in the development and realization of the city's ideals.

The recent accession to the editorial department of THE TRIBUNE of a man of such distinguished ability as Mr. Holman gives encouragement to the hope that that paper will be able to make itself an increasing power for the welfare of this great community and that it will use that power in making its own welfare depend upon that of the city in which it is already a historic figure.

We may differ amongst ourselves about means, or with a newspaper, agreement perhaps a majority of times is impossible, but there are enough general worthy ends about which we may agree, so that we can avoid the losses and gain the benefits of honorable conflict.

I am sure that I may say that with many other citizens of Oakland, I welcome the accessions which have been made to the ranks of THE TRIBUNE staff and entertain the hope that its future will be a record of amply rewarded public service.

JOHN W. STETSON.

FATHER DEMPSEY PRAISES TRIBUNE.

THE TRIBUNE Publishing Co. Gentlemen: The position of a great newspaper at the center of community life and activity, places upon it the responsibility of maintaining a broad toleration for all that is worthy, and of aspiring always to the highest ideals. THE TRIBUNE has maintained a high standard, and the showing that has been made since the new management has taken charge indicates that this fine tradition will be continued.

The people of Oakland should join in wishing the new management success. I have faith that THE TRIBUNE will continue to work for the best ideals and the progress of our city. EDW. P. DEMPSEY,
Pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church.

DOWNTOWN ASSOCIATION APPROVES EDITORIAL.

Oakland, Cal., March 14, 1915.

EDITOR TRIBUNE: I was much pleased to read the "Introductory Editorial" in Thursday's issue of your newspaper.

It has the real true ring to it and gave all to understand that the new proprietors were convinced that this side of the bay was big enough and strong enough to "go it alone" and they were here to help it do so and that henceforth THE TRIBUNE would be for Oakland and Alameda county, first, last and all the time. It showed a commendatory confidence in this community such as could be turned to good advantage in many men whom you and I could call by name.

I do not know either of these gentlemen whose names were signed to the editorial, but I admire their strike from the shoulder spirit and I know such a policy will continue to keep THE TRIBUNE climbing in influence and circulation.

Secretary Down Town Association.

OAKLAND TRIBUNE, Gentlemen: I am in hearty accord with general tone of the Introductory remarks of the new management, and I bespeak for them and THE TRIBUNE the heartiest support of our citizens.

I have always considered THE TRIBUNE one of the leading newspapers of the coast. The Associated Press service has been reliable and complete, while its editorials have been timely and fearlessly written, and from the declaration of purposes set forth in the Introductory remarks by the new management, I am sure they will do much for the betterment of our city and county, and I as a humble citizen welcome them in our midst.

TRIBUNE Publishing Co. Gentlemen: Permit me to join with other citizens of Oakland in extending to you a hearty welcome and a sincere wish for success in your new undertaking and enterprise. After reading the editorial announcement and noting its dignity and simple expression of facts, it seemed to me that THE TRIBUNE and the City of Oakland have taken another step forward. Having followed the leading papers of this country and knowing that this section of a newspaper typifies its character, the sobriety and the clearness of presenting your viewpoint of a public interest is refreshing, indeed, and clearly indicates the great possibilities of molding public opinion along safe and sane lines. This is a great accomplishment in itself and I feel sure that is the success that awaits you.

Extending to you again best wishes in your work, I beg to remain

EDITOR TRIBUNE: Noting the policy of the new management of THE TRIBUNE as outlined in a recent editorial announcement, I am led to send you this note of approval. THE TRIBUNE has long been a great newspaper of which the city of Oakland is justly proud, and from the platform set forth in the editorial referred to, it is evident that the new management purposes that no backward steps shall be taken by the paper, but that vigorous advancement shall be recorded.

The sentiments of appreciation of Oakland's commercial possibilities, coming from gentlemen only recently fully devoted to the interests of San Francisco, must be very gratifying to the business men whose faith in Oakland has stood the test of years of working and waiting; (Not "watchful waiting" merely.)

The recognition of the esprit de corps of our city, as shown in its intellectual, social and religious traditions and aspirations, promises an active support and promotion of these most important elements of our city's well-being. As a minister perhaps I could wish that a little stronger emphasis had been given to the religious life of the community, which has always been a marked feature of the life on this side of the bay, evidenced by the splendid church organizations and edifices devoted to the spiritual upbuilding of our people—the service which is fundamental to everything else that is good. Yet I am sure this most important interest will command in the future as in the past, the hearty co-operation of THE TRIBUNE.

With hearty congratulations to the paper on its prospects under the new management from the announced program, I am

GEORGE W. WHITE.

A. S. LAVENSON IS A WELL WISHER.

PUBLISHERS TRIBUNE: There is no community so well adapted as Oakland for the experimental operations of a new newspaper management. Composed of conflicting elements—conflicting perhaps because none of our old forces have been able to bring them to a point of common view—there is ample opportunity to test the versatility of the editor in his methods of appeal. To bring together these varied elements, whose interests are more or less common, is a worthy enough task for any man to set himself to. From what many of us know of Mr. Alfred Holman, through his various journalistic activities, I am much mistaken if we have not found the man who can do the job.

THE TRIBUNE has always been a good newspaper. It has at times been so editorially conducted as to wield considerable influence. The new management will no doubt find a welcome from those who have fallen out of the ranks of the paper's followers as well as those who have remained steadfast. The people always want a paper in which they can place their confidence and such a one will always find support from the people.

PUBLISHERS TRIBUNE. Gentlemen: A passing comment on your publication which I note has changed management.

THE TRIBUNE has in the past been ranked as one of the leading papers of the west. Its columns have never given way to advertising entirely. It has a full and complete daily report of the world's happenings and has furnished the East Bay cities with all the news. These are things that the readers of newspapers most appreciate.

The men who have managed this paper have been men of wide experience and highly efficient and it is a foregone conclusion that under the able direction of Mr. Alfred Holman and his efficient staff it will continue in the lead of evening dailies. The editorials have always been of the highest order and I am glad to note that under the new management they have continued to express the sentiment of the community.

I miss the red caption that has always been the distinguishing feature of THE TRIBUNE in the past.

Gentlemen: The editorial last week announcing that you have assumed charge of THE TRIBUNE and forecasting your policy in the handling of this splendid daily should be a matter of congratulation to the citizens of Oakland. It indicates that you plan to carry forward the fine tradition of service that has made THE TRIBUNE a great force for good in this community.

Oakland is ready to welcome such men as you, and to express the hope that you will become one with us in the work of upbuilding a great city on the east shore of the bay.

PUBLISHERS OF THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE. Dear Sirs: Although the new ownership and revised management of THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE have been the matter of so short a space of time, already they have received a universality of esteem that augurs well for their success and power for good in the community.

Both Mr. Loomis and Mr. Holman have, seemingly, grasped our county's real significance and, by their splendid optimism and fine purpose, will, no doubt, do much to further the welfare of the county and the people with whom they have cast their lot.

The dignified, conservative and, yet, progressive tenor of their policy will, certainly, gain the endorsement of all citizens interested in Alameda County's standing and progress.

To these two worthy gentlemen, who have so richly expressed their faith in us, I tender my heartiest wishes for long success and prosperity.

Oakland, March 16, 1915.

EDITORS TRIBUNE: Please allow me to congratulate you on the "Introductory" editorial in THE TRIBUNE of last Thursday.

You gentlemen have come to Oakland to be with us and of us—to assume your full share of the responsibilities which rest on the shoulders of all Oaklanders in building here a great city. You have come to us as big men—men who have succeeded in life—and you have said you are going to give us the best that is in you.

With the wide experience and marked ability you both have that will mean much to us.

Much has been done in the past toward building here a great and modern city, morally, intellectually and physically, much is yet to be done, and nothing more can be done by any factor than can be done by the press.

The policy of a newspaper used rightly, can and should wield a great influence; used wrongly, it may be of great harm.

From the tone and sentiment of the editorials thus far written since you have assumed the management of THE TRIBUNE, it is evident you are going to wield your power for the good of Oakland.

It is with a deep and profound feeling of pleasure that this letter is written by one who has humbly endeavored in the halls of the Legislature as well as in his official capacity to do his small part of this great work, and please accept my earnest and sincere good will and wishes for marked success in the great work you have undertaken.

Messrs. Loomis and Holman, Managers OAKLAND TRIBUNE. Gentlemen: Every reader of THE TRIBUNE has probably noticed the change in its management and a decidedly different atmosphere when the paper is opened at the editorial page. I want to add a personal word of approval.

THE TRIBUNE has always been a great newspaper and if its future is to be measured by the present vigorous style of presenting news and editorial views it will surely become a giant leader among the dailies.

Like many Californians I know the caliber of the men presently behind the guns, and I believe it safe to conjecture that it will not be long before THE TRIBUNE readers will realize their capacity as newspaper men for metropolitan things.

There must be no narrowness in newspaper treatment of public affairs and it is a sincere pleasure to me to note the broad gauge policies adopted.

FRANK A. LEACH JR. ON NEW RELATIONS.

TRIBUNE PUBLISHING CO. Gentlemen: Oakland has grown from the village state, and is now assuming her place among the great Pacific coast cities. With the change we must realize that our views must take on a deeper perspective. We must see ourselves in new relations to other cities and to the west and the east.

A newspaper should crystallize the expression of community life. It must be a leader, showing the way, as well as reflecting the ideas and aspirations of our people. With a full understanding of this fact, we should welcome to our city such men as the new publishers of THE TRIBUNE. They have had wide experience in the affairs of our country. They have outgrown the provincial outlook. Their presence here guiding the destinies of a great newspaper should aid us materially in coming to a realization of our responsibilities and our relations to other communities.

With this thought in mind, I wish to congratulate THE TRIBUNE upon its new management. It has always been a splendid newspaper, but I feel that its future is brighter today than ever before.

THE TRIBUNE PUBLISHING CO. Gentlemen: THE TRIBUNE has been recognized for many years as one of the greatest dailies of the Pacific coast. It has been a great factor in the upbuilding of Alameda county.

I note by your recent editorial, that Mr. Loomis and Mr. Holman have assumed charge of this splendid enterprise. It should be a matter of congratulation that men of the experience and standing of the new proprietors of THE TRIBUNE have come among us.

The editorial announcement, and the editorials published since they have taken charge, have a sound quality that promises much for the influence for good of THE TRIBUNE in this community.

As one among many who have the interest of the bay cities at heart, I wish to welcome Mr. Holman and Mr. Loomis to Oakland and to express the firm belief that their work here will be of the highest value in the progress and prosperity of this county. C. F. HORNER.

It is perfectly well known that these gentlemen have made a study of the West and their interests in the past have been connected with some of the most prominent cities on this coast, and the fact that they should select Oakland as the seat of their future labors is certainly well calculated to make every Oaklander proud of the attractiveness of his city.

Oakland must depend for her future upon the newcomer, and we can be pardoned a feeling of pride that the attractions of Oakland have been sufficient to draw two men of national reputation to our city.

These gentlemen must thoroughly appreciate the great opportunity for development which exists in Oakland and thoroughly recognize the power of the press in such development.

POLICE JUDGE SMITH TELLS OF PROMISE.

Oakland, Cal., Mar. 16, 1915.

TRIBUNE PUBLISHING CO. Gentlemen: There is a magnificent opportunity for development in Oakland. The city is entering upon a momentous period in its history, when all the forces of civic life are gathering themselves for a surge forward.

In this development a great daily newspaper should prove a splendid leader. The experience and achievement that stand to the credit of Mr. Holman and Mr. Loomis give promise that this opportunity will be seized. We are entering upon a period of expansion and new importance. I believe that with these two men directing the policy of THE TRIBUNE Oakland will be aided in entering upon the pathway of success, and will be assisted in maintaining a better sense of her position among the cities of the West.

COMMISSIONER TURNER ON CITY'S FUTURE.

Department of Public Health and Safety
F. C. Turner, Commissioner, City Hall
Oakland, March 16, 1915.

EDITOR TRIBUNE. Dear Sir: The matter of the conduct of a powerful newspaper in any city is one of the gravest moment to that city's welfare and growth and the question as to who should take over the ownership of THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE has, ever since the death of its former owner, been one of deep concern to all Oaklanders who think seriously about the city's future.

The final proprietorship which has now come would seem to be unusually fortunate and to indicate that the paper will be conducted with vigor and intelligence by trained and experienced men along proper lines.

For years it has been said by many people that the best newspaper on the Pacific Coast was the Portland Oregonian and it is to be expected that many of the good qualities of that paper will be shown in Mr. Holman's work on THE TRIBUNE.

F. C. TURNER,
Commissioner of Public Health and Safety.

CIVIL SERVICE HEAD GIVES GOOD ADVICE.

TRIBUNE PUBLISHING CO. Gentlemen: The editorial salutation of the new proprietors of THE TRIBUNE was read with keen interest throughout the city. It has been the subject of more comment than the war or the election, probably for the reason that it means more to us immediately. A great newspaper which not only prints the news without favor, but helps to give form to our common thoughts and voice to our common aspirations can help Oakland even more than a grateful Oakland can help it.

Oakland is half unconsciously gathering itself together for another move forward. When the movement is over, there will be something to see worth seeing—something materially different in the commerce, business and finance of the east bay cities, something materially different in their social aspects and something very different in their government. THE NEW TRIBUNE, very conscientiously on its part, I suspect, is about to be a part of this forward movement.

The east bay cities need THE NEW TRIBUNE, and on every side one hears words of hearty welcome for the men who are to make it. In that welcome, I for one, most heartily join. HARRISON S. ROBINSON,
President Civil Service Board.

ORPHEUM MANAGER PLEASED WITH CHANGE.

TRIBUNE PUBLISHING CO. Gentlemen: Permit me to be among those to offer congratulations that two such men as Mr. Holman and Mr. Loomis have become identified with THE TRIBUNE and with the future of this city. They are men of achievement, with a broad outlook upon the problems that confront our people whether in a local or a national aspect.

THE TRIBUNE has always been in the forefront among newspapers on the Pacific coast. I believe that under this new management it will attain even wider influence and the COMMISSIONER FORREST ON LATEST NEWS.

Oakland, March 16, 1915.

EDITOR TRIBUNE. Dear Sir: It is not often occasion offers itself to me to comment on the management of a great newspaper, nor would I take the present opportunity to do so, were it not for the fact that THE TRIBUNE has brought about not only a metropolitan change in appearance but also a better method of placing before our people the best and latest news. This is doubtless due to a great extent to the eminent gentlemen who have recently been placed in charge of it, and not only Oakland but all of the bay cities are to be congratulated in having received this accession to our literary ranks.

JOHN FORREST,
Commissioner of Revenue and Finance.

WILLIAM A. SPOONER SAYS MASTERPIECE.

Messrs. Francis B. Loomis and Alfred Holman, Gentlemen: In reading your "Introductory" in THE TRIBUNE of March 11, I found much to commend, and if I had only your viewpoint, no doubt would compliment you on your efforts and credit you with, shall I say a masterpiece?

But gentlemen, while dealing with, "new population, new capital, while stating that "modern business reckons upon small and smaller percentages, gain in any given line of production rests in these days of keen competition upon the narrowest margins." I say that you have lost sight of one of the principal factors in all these gains, viz, labor. You have quoted capital, "the powers of wealth," but I again state, neglected to mention that ONE source of ALL wealth, LABOR.

You speak of commerce, without the common people as an incentive, manufacturing, without the toiler's aid, and business, without the producer who makes all business, always the non-producing class in the first degree. You have considered, gentlemen, from your viewpoint that those who subsist on the efforts of others are entitled to all the mentionable honor, although I do not accuse you of an antagonistic motive in writing according to your conceptions of conditions as you find them.

Gentlemen, I honestly concede that you will work for the best interests of Oakland, considering your introductory statement as an evidence of your feelings, at the same time I would wish that you might in an article inspired by consideration of the toiler have a new viewpoint, not mine necessarily, but at least consider the prosperity of the city as emanating in a considerable degree from the foundation, from those builders whose uniform of overalls, and emblems of oil paint, sweat and grime, are the honorable insignia, to whom credit should be given. I welcome you to Oakland and trust that your paper will be fair in considering those differences that arise between capital and labor, and I can assure you that labor will be glad at all times to co-operate with you for the well being of our city.

PUBLISHERS TRIBUNE. Gentlemen: Permit me to compliment you upon the early issues of THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE under its new management. Your introductory editorial was of the highest order, both as to subject matter and dignity of the treatment thereof, and subsequent issues indicate an intention to maintain the same high standard. Such a newspaper spells more for the general welfore of a community than any other one element; and while compliments are due you, congratulations are due the people of this community for your advent among us.

Wishing you ever success in your new venture, I am

CITY AUDITOR CLAY ON HIGH IDEALS.

I. H. CLAY, Auditor and Assessor
City Hall.

Oakland, March 15, 1915.

TRIBUNE PUBLISHING CO. Gentlemen: I have been a subscriber of THE TRIBUNE for a great many years and have considered it one of the best evening papers in the state of California. I note with pleasure that its change of management has detracted nothing from any of its best features, but on the contrary I think the paper is materially improved. The editorials are clean and to the point, its ideals are high, and the change of makeup I think is marked improvement. If the management will continue to advocate what is best for the east bay community in the same fearless style as in the past I see no reason why the paper should not wield a greater influence than heretofore. I congratulate the new management on having acquired such an excellent property and I think we subscribers ought to be congratulated on the improvement in the various departments of the business. Wishing you every success, I remain,

I. H. CLAY,
Auditor and Ex-Officio Assessor.

PUBLISHERS TRIBUNE: Noting the change in management of THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE and the progressive business policy outlined in your editorial, I take this opportunity to welcome you to our city.

Your reputation as journalists, of which I am more or less familiar, assures me that our city has gained a valuable asset.

Your paper in the past has enjoyed the reputation of being progressive and up-to-date, and I know it will continue so under your management.

As a commissioner of the City of Oakland you will always find me willing to co-operate with you in the upbuilding of our city.

With every wish for your future success, I am

Oakland, March 15, 1915.

PUBLISHERS OAKLAND TRIBUNE. Gentlemen: Permit me, in a sincere manner, to express my appreciation of the present appearance and readable characteristics of THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE under its new management. It would, indeed, have been very hard to beat THE TRIBUNE as a live newspaper. I think, however, that it is greater and better than before.

It strikes me that a paper of this character can do the city of Oakland unbounded good, inasmuch as a community is largely judged by the type and standing of its newspapers.

LOUIS W. BUCKLEY,
Auditorium Manager.

W. R. ALBERGER TELLS OF UPBUILDING CITY.

TRIBUNE PUBLISHING COMPANY. Gentlemen: It is with pleasure that I take this opportunity to express my appreciation of the excellent work done by THE TRIBUNE for this city and community in general.

There is no doubt that the influence wielded by an up-to-date clean and fair newspaper is a very great one, and it is my firm belief that THE TRIBUNE has been a most potent factor in the up-building of Oakland and the placing of our city in the foremost rank of the Pacific coast municipalities. Wherever there has been a fight for Oakland THE TRIBUNE has been at the front constantly and consistently standing for the best interests of this community.

I wish to congratulate THE TRIBUNE and the people of Oakland on the securing of such men as Messrs. Holman and Loomis to take the lead in the affairs of that paper, and I feel sure that under their leadership THE TRIBUNE will be even a greater influence for good in this community in the future than it has been in the past. Very truly yours,

W. R. ALBERGER,
General Manager Traction Co.

JOHN A. JONES OFFERS HIS CONGRATULATIONS.

EDITORS AND PUBLISHERS THE OAKLAND TRIBUNE: The undersigned has been a reader of THE TRIBUNE unremittingly during the last quarter century, and the editorials he has always read.

He now begs to be permitted to say, that, in all the years he has read the editorial page of THE TRIBUNE, he has never read anything that pleased him so well as has your "Introductory."

The spirit and letter of that foreword are such as augurs well concerning the policy of THE TRIBUNE under its new regime. There is seen in this "Introductory" a prophecy that Oakland and the East Bay sections are to have an able and worthy exponent of their great natural advantages commercially, industrially, no less than residentially. And that resultantly, we may rely upon having proper exploitation of our section, by intelligent, enthusiastic and judicious publicity as editorial gratuity.

It goes without saying, that this will earnestly commend THE TRIBUNE to the favor and support of our advertisers and the community as a whole; and that under its new regime THE TRIBUNE will enter upon an era of prosperity transcending anything in its past career.

Congratulations to you, Messrs. Editors, that you have entered your talents in so prolific a field—prolific in results to be attained—and congratulations to the East Bay section upon its valued journalistic acquisition.

JOHN A. JONES.

CANDIDATE J. A. LLOYD FINISHES BUSY WEEK

The past week has been a busy one for candidate for Commissioner No. 2, Joseph A. Lloyd, as the numerous invitations to house and other meetings have taxed his ability to attend them to the utmost.

Following is a list of some of the meetings that Mr. Lloyd has addressed, some of which have endorsed his candidacy and will work for his election:

Mrs. Featherhoff, 2262 Bomar street.
Golden Gate Improvement Club.
Melrose Central Hall, 3 meetings, of Maccabis Social Club.
Mrs. Smoot, 3560 Peralta avenue.
Mrs. Boge, 3225 Capp street.
Brookdale Improvement Club.
Mrs. Crissmore, 1319 Adeline street.
Mrs. Allen, 2557 Twenty-second street.
Boulevard Improvement Club.
Stonehurst Improvement Club.
Mrs. Pinkington, 2932 High street.
Mrs. Jones, 1438 Madison street.
Business Men's League of North Oakland.

ELOPEMENT RECALLED BY DIVORCE DECREE

MARTINEZ, March 20.—Mrs. Antonio Leonardo of Tassajara yesterday was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce on the ground of cruelty. She was awarded the custody of her two children and $25 monthly alimony.

The divorce follows eight years after the elopement of the couple to Hanford, when the bride was but 15 years of age.

Holding that the children should be the first consideration, Judge McKenzie today denied a divorce to Bessie Aurelia from Manuel Enos Costa on the ground of cruelty. Costa contested the divorce, charging his wife with a statutory offense.

The court refused to divorce the couple and ordeerd Costa to support his children. They live in Crockett.

BIG FLOUR SHIPMENT FOR TWO BELLIGERENTS

By Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 10.—A local milling company yesterday completed the shipment of 100,000 sacks of flour to New York, whence it will be re-shipped to two different European nations now at war. The sum involved was said to be $1,000,000. The milling company purchased 512,000 bushels of wheat in filling the order.

PRESS CLUB SHOW IN AUDITORIUM

Polo, Horse Show, Days of '49 and Grand Pageant for Big Two-day Attraction.

Polo games, a horse show, days of '49 and a grand pageant will be given in the new municipal auditorium May 14 and 15, according to a contract signed today by Manager Buckley and Arthur Bennett and Peter B. Kyne of the San Francisco Press Club.

Preparations for the two days' show are being elaborately made. More than 1000 people will be in the cast for the pageant, and shows, and several thousand dollars will be spent in securing suitables costumes.

President Kyne of the San Francisco Press Club told Manager Buckley of the auditorium that the affair will rival the famous "Two Years After" show given to commemorate the upbuilding of San Francisco following the big earthquake and fire.

The casts will be drawn from both sides of the bay, and many residents of this city will take part.

The show will be a benefit attraction, as it is planned to turn over a percentage of the proceeds to the Fabiola hospital or some other similar institution. It is anticipated that society people in Oakland will be enlisted among the workers.

The Press Club show will following immediately upon the Sells-Floto circus. The big auditorium floor is to be protected with heavy planking and sawdust for the circus, and this will be used as well for the pageant.

GOOD WILL OF BREWERY POINT IN LAWSUIT

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 20.—The question whether the spread of prohibition has helped or hindered the sale of beer is under consideration by the New York County Surrogate in connection with an application by the state comptroller for re-appraisal of the estate of Peter Doelger, a wealthy brewer. The comptroller holds that the valuation of $7,956,123 fixed by a former appraiser was inadequate.

In arguments yesterday counsel for the comptroller objected chiefly to the finding that the good will of the brewery business had no value, which was based partly on a conclusion that restrictions on the sale of intoxicants throughout the country had wiped out many breweries and might eventually affect those in New York state. Counsel for the state contended that, on the contrary, many persons who drank whisky twenty years ago now use beer and this should result in an increase of sales of beer rather than a decrease.

The surrogate reserved decision.

EIGHT ARE VICTIMS OF AUTO ACCIDENTS

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—One man was killed and several persons were injured in automobile accidents yesterday. The dead:

CUMMINGS, WALTER, plasterer, 997 Golden Gate avenue.

The injured:

EARL, MISS IRENE, 991 Valencia street, broken arm, minor bruises.

ROBERTSON, MRS. J. H., 374A Dolores, abrasions and contusions of back.

HARRISON, R., 4020 Twenty-third street; abrasions of face and knees.

McINERNEY, J. J., 1476 Fifteenth street; abrasions of legs.

O'CONNELL, J. P., 1042 Guerrero street; abrasions of legs.

SCHMIDT, HANS, 2174 Geary street; minor bruises.

NORRIS, MRS. ANNIE, 1463 Steiner street; thigh injured.

ARGENTINE WARSHIP ON WAY TO P. P. I. E.

By Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, March 20.—The Argentine super-dreadnaught Moreno left the New York shipbuilding plant at Camden yesterday for the Philadelphia navy yard, where she took on board the crews brought here by the transports Pampa and Chico. The crew had been quartered on United States battleships at the local yard because of a misunderstanding between the builders of the Moreno and the Argentine government, which, however, has been amicably settled.

The Moreno will take on board a store of ammunition before sailing for San Francisco, where she will represent the Argentine Republic in the naval pageant at the Panama Pacific Exposition. The vessel will go by way of the Panama Canal.

HEIR TIES ESTATE UP.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—A difference of opinion among the heirs of the late Mrs. Frances J. P. Moore of Visalia, who died 13 years ago, has halted the final division of the estate, valued at about $250,000. The delay was caused by Attorney E. J. Pringle of 110 Sutter street, whose wife, formerly Miss Miriam Moore, daughter of Mrs. Frances J. P. Moore, is one of the heirs. Attorney Pringle has checked the distribution of the property by applying to Superior Judge Allen of Visalia for counsel fees.

VALLEJO NOTES

VALLEJO, March 20.—Captain J. W. Peckham will direct the team shoots of the Vallejo Club this year, having been selected to succeed Andy Fleckinger, who resigned.

The annual inspection of Henry W. Lawton Camp No. 1, U. S. W. V., was conducted by Department Inspector A. A. Zalinsky of San Francisco last Thursday evening.

On Sunday the Catholics of Vallejo are to pray that peace may soon prevail in Europe, the Pope having directed that the Catholics of America should set aside Sunday, March 21, as a day on which to pray that the war cease.

At Fairfield a week from today the track teams representing Vallejo, Benicia and Armijo high schools will compete in a three-cornered meet which is to take place on the new track recently completed for the annual Solano county Athletic league field meet, which is to be held April 20.

Reports received from the up-valley towns are to the effect that the majority of the business houses of Suisun, Fairfield, Vacaville and Dixon will be closed on Monday, March 22, to allow employes to attend the Solano Day celebration at the Panama Pacific Exposition.

MARE ISLAND NOTES

MARE ISLAND, March 20.—The cruiser Maryland, which arrived in San Francisco bay Friday afternoon from San Diego, will come to Mare Island the first week of April for overhauling.

A telegram was received yesterday from the Navy Department authorizing the installation of a second auxiliary boiler in the tanker Maumee.

The navy collier Saturn is to be given a berth at the south end of the Mare Island quay wall while the hull and machinery department men are making repairs.

Preparations are being made for the underdocking of the tanker Kanawha and the revenue cutter Bear next Monday.

AGE SEVENTEEN, GIRL WEDS THRICE

Matrimonial Ventures Come to Light When Baby Is Kidnaped.

Portland, March 20.—Judge Morrow, in the Circuit Court, wiped clean the matrimonial slate of seventeen-year-old Lucella Dunn today, when he signed a decree annulling her marriage to Frank Sauer. Mrs. Dunn, thrice married, is now the wife of J. A. Dunn of Tacoma. Her numerous marriages were brought to light when she was arrested in Tacoma last January on a charge of kidnaping the baby of Mrs. Florence Johnson of this city. The grand jury cleared her.

Mrs. Dunn married Frank Sauer, leaving him after a month. She was still his wife when she married J. A. Dunn, after a two weeks' acquaintance, in Tacoma January 21, 1915.

Mrs. Dunn says she is perfectly happy now. Dunn, she says, is the first husband she has had who treated her well.

Redding, March 20.—Because the city of Redding built a $50,000 bridge across the Sacramento river on the site of Mrs. Rhoda B. Menzel's ferry, the municipality must pay her $500 damages and $500 more. Judge Estop rendered judgment yesterday in the case that was three weeks on trial.

In the beginning, when the construction of the bridge to accommodate the State highway was under consideration, Mrs. Menzel off-red the ferry and franchise to the city for $2000. Redding was advised that the franchise was invalid and that no damages could be collected. Condemnation proceedings were eschewed.

Now the city will have to pay more than Mrs. Menzel asked and costs of the suit besides. The bridge was accepted by the trustees Thursday evening.

San Bruno, March 20.—Preliminary examination in the case of Lewis Pettingill, a printer, first of several defendants to be tried on a charge of criminal libel as the result of an attack through circulars on the Daly City municipal administration, was held here yesterday before Justice of the Peace John F. Davis, and continued for three weeks. City Engineer F. C. Roberts, J. L. Brown, City Treasurer Timothy Sheehan and President Bernard Ross of the Board of Trustees testified for the people. City Attorney J. H. Morris and Assistant District Attorney Franklin Swart appeared for the prosecution and Francis Dunn for the defendant.

Stockton, March 20.—Plans are being completed for the State Sunday School Convention which will be opened in this city April 13 with several thousand delegates in attendance.

It was announced today that on the second day of the convention there will be a monster parade for men. It is expected that at least 1000 will be in line, and the marchers will represent the business and professional men, not only of Stockton, but the entire State. Among the marchers will be H. J. Heinz.

Following this parade there will be addresses by Dr. H. O. Breeden of Fresno, president of the organization, and Dr. Sarah E. Wise of San Francisco.

Los Angeles, March 20.—Superior Judge Works upheld yesterday the contention of the city of Los Angeles that its $25,000,000 Owens river aqueduct system furnishes pure water, excellent for human consumption, and denied injunctions to two plaintiffs who sought to prevent distribution of the aqueduct water on the ground that it was polluted.

MORE UTAH PROFESSORS RESIGN FROM FACULTY

By Associated Press.

SALT LAKE CITY, March 20.—Professor Torlid Arnoldson, head of the Department of Modern Languages at the State University, and J. J. Thiel, instructor in the same department here, added their registrations to the fourteen faculty members presented. Professor Arnoldson later withdrew with the statement that he did so because it occurred to him that the trouble at the university was being construed as a fight against "Mormonizing" the institution and he did not wish to add to that impression, which he regards as erroneous. He said he might resign later as he does not approve the action of the regents in declining to investigate the recent dismissals of faculty members. He is a non-Mormon.

About 360 students of the university met today at the call of the president of the student body to consider the situation. Votes taken at the meeting showed that although almost all those present had intended to be at the university next year, only thirty-four expected to attend if the resignations already tendered became effective.

STRIKERS FIRED ON OFFICERS, SAY WITNESSES

ROOSEVELT, N. J., March 20.—Witnesses testifying at the resumption by the legislative committee of its inquiry into the strike at Chemical plants here last January, aver that strikers had fired on deputies before the day of the shooting, January 19 last, when two strikers were killed and a score wounded, and that policemen had coached witnesses in indentifying deputies as responsible for the shooting. Twenty-six deputies were indicted for murder and are awaiting trial.

The hearing was adjourned until next Friday, when officials of the American Agricultural Chemical Company, for whom it was announced subpenas will be issued, will testify.

MERCHANT IS DEAD.

NEW YORK, March 20.—William Douglas Sloane, one of New York's leading merchants, who in 1874 married Emily T. Vanderbilt, daughter of William Henry Vanderbilt, died at his country estate at Aiken, S. C., according to dispatches received yesterday in New York. He was one of the wealthiest men in the United States.

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE!

People Notice It. Drive Them Off With Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, the bowels and the liver with Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are the successful substitute for calomel—there's never any sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who uses Olive Tablets is ever cursed with "a dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with Olive oil, you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result.

Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 10c and 25c a box. All druggists.

BILGER FOR MAYOR IS MAKING BRISK CAMPAIGN

Frank W. Bilger, candidate for mayor, has been an invited speaker at five and six meetings daily and in some instances, because of the activity of his friends, he has been scheduled for more meetings than he has been able to attend. He has addressed many house meetings in all sections of the city and has spoken before many civic improvement and labor organizations.

Bilger spoke yesterday at the home of Mrs. T. F. H ern, 32 Oak street, at one of the largest house meetings of the campaign. He spoke at the home of G. B. McClellan in East Oakland and the home of Mrs. Frank Vernon, 1699 Thirty-fifth avenue. In the evening he addressed the Peralta Heights Improvement Club in the auditorium of the Lockwood school, and spoke at a meeting of the moving picture operators at the home of A. Daul, the president, at 1713 Webster street.

The Meddler

A GLIMPSE of life in the smart sets of the world is of unusual interest in these Lenten days of one of the most historic seasons this century has known. From London comes a very wonderful letter from Elizabeth Pennell, who has a most charming style, and who always writes along lines intensely human. Mrs Pennell has many friends around the bay, for she was here with her talented husband, Joseph Pennell, a few seasons ago.

Mrs. Pennell is a great favorite in London's smart set and she writes of life as she sees it today in that great city:

"If I leave the streets to go into the shops, the offices, the houses which I know best, I am as sure to run up against the unexpected. At my tailor's, when I asked timidly to have my last winter's gown cleaned and pressed, I am assured that, really, it would not seem 'quite nice' to be getting new gowns just now. At my bank I discover a woman typist installed for the first time. At the big Regent street shops, if I look for the latest modes, I am shown 'comforts for the soldiers.' My way into big Oxford street shops is blocked by people staring at war photographs and war-bulletins in the windows. The woman who sold me flowers has given up because nobody comes to buy them, the man who sold me salads in winter can give me none for love or money, because for love or money he can get none from Belgium or France. At the theater the women on either side of me knit steadily, as they do in the bus that takes me there. When I call to see my friends on their afternoons, baskets with big red crosses litter their halls, and in their drawing-rooms everybody is sewing shirts, an amusement in which I decline to join out of consideration for the soldiers. Other friends whom I knew as models of domesticity I never find at all, their every minute being now spent in committee rooms or at committee meetings.

"And this reminds me that more unexpected than anything in my friends' houses is the new development in ours, where the women in the offices below, who used to frighten London by fighting for themselves, now leave the fighting to the men and in Aid or Auxiliary Corps charge themselves with the care of women and children. In fact, the longer the war goes on the more evident it is to me that 'Business as Unusual' is the sign that should be hung everywhere in London."

A well-known wife of a diplomat, writing from Berlin, says:

"Matters are going forward pretty much as they were last winter, though, of course, I miss the dear American friends who were with us then. Our regular evenings at the opera house have not been interrupted; even the repertoire is about as usual. Last evening it was 'Carmen,' and last Friday 'Romeo and Juliet.' I wonder if Wagner is popular this winter in Paris and London. Indeed, were it not for the noticeable absence of evening clothes in public, and the great number of men about with bandages, Berlin would appear quite normal.

"At the Kaiserhof, where we sometimes spend our after-theater hour, the only change we can notice is that the attendants are more careful to address you in German. I discover in your letters to me a rather ferocious neutrality. Surely, there is a common ground upon which we may all meet, and it seems mean and trivial to ask ourselves which side has our sympathies in this frightful upsetting of all things.

"We can feel for the Belgians in their terrible distress, for the women and children of Northern France driven from their homes and for the women of Eastern Prussia, where the Cossacks have conducted themselves in ways too dreadful to be told. Wherever the "glory" the mothers, sisters, wives, are paying for it, and when it is all over and Europe recovers its sanity, and down through the years, the women will still pay.

"In spite of my long residence and family ties in Germany, I am still much influenced, I hope, by my American birth and British descent, and can view things at least as a spectator. I have war at breakfast and diplomacy at dinner and Prince Bolko for tea, and in this unusual situation, surrounded by the men who are planning and doing for Germany, forcibly one gets to know a little of what is going forward, though what I write you about it may be impressed with the German point of view.

"Prince Bolko is now like one of the household. He was connected with the embassy at London when the war broke out."

And underlying all the grave problems outlined in the letter of this prominent woman of the smart set there is the fact that the brilliant café life of Berlin goes on as usual. Its music halls are as bright as ever, its smart set is as much in evidence as in the old days before the war.

In Paris, the evidence that a war is on is the first characteristic of smart set activities. The women of social Paris dress in dark tones. They take the places of men when they have to. Every servant who is at all able, has gone to the war, and the women, sad, brave and courageous, are not attempting anything in the way of social activities in the old lines. The war for the Parisians overshadows everything else.

In Rome, one might expect Lent to be kept more strictly than in any other of the world's great capitals and that is the case. Mi Careme, or mid-Lent brings a certain relaxation, but Holy Week is kept with a solemnity not equalled in any other city in the world.

Nevertheless, the Roman women of the smart set play cards in Lent, and some of the best bridge players on the continent are found in Rome. The players there have developed the "Bridge Tournament," for which wonderful prizes are offered, and at which all Rome's exclusive smart set is in evidence. Women in aristocratic Rome's exclusive set ride extremely well and long rides on the great Campagna make up the leading diversion for mid Lenten days.

And there is Petrograd, the St Petersburg of the old days, whose court was the most brilliant in all Europe. The women of the smart set were the most beautifully gowned in all Europe, but there are no new gowns this year. In all the large homes, in the cafes, there is one sentence—that shines out everywhere: "It is cold in the trenches." So everything that can be spared is thrown into the great vans which call at the big houses every day. When the ladies of the aristocracy are shopping, if they meet a van, promptly the bundles are thrown into it, and "the van" has come to be a feature of St. Petersburg life.

In Vienna in the cafes they still dance to the strains of "The Beautiful Blue Danube," but the new styles no longer interest the lovely Viennese ladies, who have sent their loved ones to the war.

NEW YORK ON YOUR JOURNEY—OF COURSE.

A trip in the interests of society made around the world would of course, bring one to New York, where the smart set activities have been along most unusual lines this year.

One reads that during the winter time people have been charity-mad, and gold has been pouring into the coffers of Europe to aid the wounded and the destitute. There has been an undoubted hysteria of economy, and many of the home charities have been neglected. One reads of the spring time now here:

"It will be the first season on record, since the advent of the luxurious ocean-going greyhounds, that society in general will be numbered among the stay at homes. The absence of the American abroad, and they went by the thousands, will be one of the hardest blows imaginable this spring and summer to the European who catered to the visitors. Of course, there are some who will brave the war zones and mined seas, but these will be in the minority, called abroad by business or on errands of mercy. Monte Carlo is open, it is true, and Caruso is to appear there in opera, but the majority of the once attractive European summer resorts are closed indefinitely."

Last week Mrs. Charles B. Alexander opened her beautiful New York home for a charity sale, at which were sold fancy articles, flowers, cake, confectionery and tea. The afternoon was for the benefit of the children of Loving Service.

Mrs. Alexander, who is a prominent member of the New York smart set does a great deal for charity, and she has brought up her daughters to take a great interest in philanthropic affairs. The Misses Harriet, Janetta and Mary Alexander are charming girls and they are most helpful to other girls not so well favored by fortune. The great social affair of the coming week in New York, of course, has to do with beautiful Tea Garden, to be given in the Grand Central Palace to help the war victims.

One is asked to drink tea in a garden of orchids with beautiful young women picturesquely garbed to serve one. And one is asked to dance among orchids and roses.

One hears that this tea garden is a place of unique beauty and that its lovely pergola is of wonderful charm. The background is of green with great hanging vines and roses will form the chief decoration. They will later be supplanted by orchids and there will be a many-colored array of tulips and flowering bulbs. Eight New York hotels are to contribute the tea, chocolate and cakes. Every afternoon there will be dancing in the beautiful tea garden, except on Sunday, when there will be music only.

For the New York smart set has never under any circumstances approved of dancing on Sunday.

SOCIETY TO WELCOME CHARTER DAY NOTABLES.

No pictures of smart set life would be complete without a colorful sketch of the activities around the San Francisco bay region where the Exposition is now successfully launched.

But quite aside from the Exposition is one of the leading social events of the year on our coast, an event unique in college celebrations—Charter Day at the University of California. The Charter Day observances are always in the morning, there is a set order for the order of the day, and later a reception.

Cards are now out in which President and Mrs Benjamin Ide Wheeler request the pleasure of the company of many prominent people on Tuesday afternoon, March the twenty-third, from four until six o'clock, in Hearst Hall. Commencement Day is always of great importance at the University of California. It marks the end of formal school and college days and it is truly in hundreds of young lives a commencement.

But "Charter Day" is different and distinguished men from all over the state come to Berkeley to commemorate the founding of a great university. President Wheeler has done more to bring distinguished men to our coast than any other man in California. We have had men honored in many walks of life, and they in their turn have carried a message from California to other parts of the world.

Many eloquent men have in the past occupied the platform on Charter Day, among them Dr Henry Van Dyke and Bliss Perry, the latter for so long editor of the Atlantic Monthly. President Hadley of Yale was also one of the Charter speakers and this year that office will be filled by Vice President Marshall who is already in California.

The academic procession is very colorful for all the professors wear their insignia of rank, and the procession winding its way up the foot-hills to the Greek Theater is immensely picturesque. After the exercises President and Mrs Wheeler entertain the speaker of the day and the regents of the university at luncheon, and, later, an elaborate reception is held in Hearst Hall, in honor of the speaker, who is the distinguished guest of the day.

At no other social function of the year does one meet so many prominent men. They are men of affairs, too busy for the ordinary social set of activities. But on Charter day they lay aside the day's work and wend their way to Berkeley, to the scene of college days, in which was laid the foundation of their success. So one meets there men successful in the various professions and men who are in the ascendency in the business world.

President and Mrs Benjamin Ide Wheeler receive the guests in Hearst Hall, and they are assisted by Mrs Phoebe A. Hearst, who is the only woman regent of a university in the world.

Our side of the bay is fortunate in having three of the leading members on the board of regents—Mr P. E. Bowles, Mr James K. Moffitt and Mrs P. A. Hearst.

The reception of next Tuesday will be of special import, too, also, because many of the Eastern visitors to the Exposition will be included in the list of guests.

WOMEN OF EXPOSITION TO BE HOSTESSES.

Many are the affairs, social and otherwise brought to us by the opening of the great Exposition. And at every point the women of [illegible] special social duties devolving upon her owing to the presence of guests from the other parts of the state and from the East.

Among the most important of the events scheduled for the near future are the Military Ball and the dinner to be given by the Woman's Board on the evening of Monday, March 22.

Very elaborate preparations are being made for the Military Ball and it promises to be a most spectacular affair. The decorative scheme will be very fine, indeed, and it ought to be specially brilliant with flags from the Army and Navy. The demand for boxes has been great and 18 new ones are to be constructed and the ball promises to be one of the most brilliant [illegible] dances around the bay.

The patronesses of the ball chosen from the East Bay cities are:

Mrs. Isaac Requa
Mrs. Leon Cuthbert
Mrs. P. E. Bowles
Mrs. Charles Butters
Mrs. James Moffitt
Mrs. Frank J. Woodward
Mrs. Charles Wingate
Mrs. Henry Wetherbee
Mrs. Edward Walsh

The Woman's Board of the Panama-Pacific Exposition has sent out many invitations to meet the guests of honor the State and Foreign commissioners at dinner on March 22. The dinner will be given in the California building, and very elaborate preparations will be made for it. Governor and Mrs. Hiram Johnson will be in attendance, as well as many prominent people from all over the state. The guests invited from Oakland include the members of the board, Mrs P. E. Bowles, Mrs Edson Adams, Mrs William Hinckley Taylor, Mrs Isaac Requa, and the chairman and vice-chairman of the auxiliary, Mrs A. C. Posey and Miss Mollie Conners.

☆ ☆ ☆

ALAMEDA COUNTY TO GARLAND EXPOSITION.

Apropos of Exposition affairs, Mrs. Posey called a meeting of her many chairmen throughout the county, at the Hotel Oakland on Tuesday afternoon. The chairmen had over a thousand dollars to send across the bay to the Woman's Board, making our contribution now, over $6000.

The members of the Alameda County Auxiliary have had assigned to them the duty of decorating the tables in the tea room of the California building for the coming month, and it is safe to say these tables will present beautiful studies in floral decoration.

Oakland women have established a reputation for exquisitely decorated tables and the Ebell club certainly leads the way in the line of decorations.

The members of the auxiliary will take a great pride in doing well this duty assigned to them, and many beautiful flowers and lovely blossoms will find their way across the bay to the tea room of the California building.

SOCIETY HEARS FAMED MUSICIAN.

Musicales are always in order in the heart of Lenten days and the afternoons of chamber music by the Minetti String quartet have been both successful and enjoyable.

The first was given at the residence of Mrs. Oscar Long, the second was given on Wednesday, at Mrs. William G. Henshaw's and the third is scheduled to be given at the Piedmont home of Mrs. Mark L. Requa. The music on Wednesday was wonderfully well rendered, very sweet, beautifully artistic and the ensemble work was given with a fineness of finish very rare and exquisite.

The afternoon was most peaceful and very restful, the program artistic and charming. The programs are of exactly the right length and half after three is an exceptionally good hour.

Among the many guests at the concert on Wednesday afternoon were:

Mrs. [illegible] Hamilton [illegible]
Mrs. D. E. [illegible]brook
Mrs. Wm. G. Henshaw
Mrs. Sarah W. Horton
Mrs. Oscar Long
Mrs. Wm. A. Magee

COLONIAL ATMOSPHERE FOR SOCIETY AFFAIR.

One of the largest of the after Easter gatherings will be the Colonial Ball to be given at the Oakland for the benefit of the anti-tuberculosis clinic. At the head of affairs is Mrs. Mark L. Requa, who has been a guiding spirit in the work for many months, and who has done much to further the cause. Mrs. Requa is now in the East, and in her absence her place is being taken by Mrs. William E. Sharon. Over fifty prominent women have promised to be patronesses, and to appear at the ball in colonial costume—which means of course with powdered hair. Nothing is more fascinating, more becoming to a young face, than the high pompadour, well powdered, with a few picturesque curls. And "a beauty patch or two" adds to the quaint effect.

Society News of the Week

Colonial affairs have always been much in favor on this side of the bay. The Ebell club has had several in the past, and many women have appeared in gowns which have descended to them from their grandmothers.

Last year the Home club gave a colonial dinner which was a great success, and a notable feature of the evening was the "minuet" beautifully led and danced by Mrs. Daniel Easterbrook, whose costume was elaborate and wonderfully becoming.

There is nothing more enjoyable than a masquerade of any kind—a fancy dress ball gives endless opportunities for colorful effects. It is quite true that "In a masquerade a hundred heroes and heroines of a hundred climes and ages, such as have never met before this side of the rolling Styx, promenade and bow with the utmost self possession to ancestors and succeeding generations."

The colonial ball will be properly a "Soiree dansante." Dinner will be served, and between the courses there will be dancing, and there will be picturesque tableaux as well. The affair will be one of the most important of the after-Lenten dates.

✡ ✡ ✡

SOCIAL LEADERS BUSY WITH BRILLIANT SEASON.

There has never been a season when leading women of the smart sets all around the bay have been so much in evidence. The polo games—the races—the many dates at the Exposition have all led to an outdoor life, as unusual as it is charming and picturesque. And of course, the matter of gowns has been of absorbing interest. It is most amusing to see the surprise of the Eastern visitors at the out door costumes of the smart set women around the bay. For one thing, women are very slow this year in discarding their furs. They know how cold the late afternoon hours may be, and the chill that comes with the night air, so not yet have the furs, which add so much to costumes been discarded.

Red fox furs which add such a rich note of color to a costume were worn this week by Mrs. Lawrence Scott. Mrs. Christian de Guigne, Mrs. Walter Martin, Mrs. Cheever Cowden, and Mrs. Joseph Tobin. Mrs. Andrew Welsh has been wearing a most elaborate coat of moleskin, and Mrs. Charles Crocker's costumes have been made all the more effective this week by lovely fox furs in tones of brown.

Among the fine ermine sets seen in these late winter days, are those of Mrs. Oscar F. Long and Mrs. Tyler Henshaw, while sable sets have added to the elegance of the costumes of Mrs. Hearst, Mrs. Isaac Requa, Mrs. T. C. Coogan, and Mrs. Harry Meek. Mrs. Dudley Kinsell's costumes are among the most becoming of those designed for the younger matrons, and they are often made more interesting by the handsome black fox furs, which add a charming finishing touch.

Mrs. J. Walter Scott's furs are of rare chinchilla, and Mrs. P. E. Bowles also wears very handsome furs.

On our side of the bay, one is very proud of the women who so ably represent us in the work of the Woman's Board. They are ready to take all their responsibilities in a most charming fashion. Mrs. Bowles, Mrs. William Hinckley Taylor and Mrs. Edson Adams, all entertained at the polo match this week. Mrs. Adams had as her guests, Mrs. William G. Henshaw, Miss Alice Grimes, Mrs. Spens Black, and Mrs. Norman Lang. Mrs. William Taylor occupied the Sproule box and entertained friends there.

Mrs. Bowles, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs. Adams, and Mrs. Posey, are all deeply interested in the California building, and they entertain many guests at tea there. It is safe to say that wonderful flowers will find their way across to the California building in the coming month from the splendid gardens surrounding the Bowles' home at Claremont. Alameda county will make a good showing when it comes to flowers in the California building, for in Mrs. Hearst's home, "The Hacienda," are grown the most superb tulips in the state. There are whole blocks of them, and even Mr. Purdy of Ukiah has nothing better to show in the tulip line than those that come from the Hacienda.

The women, who represent our side of the bay on the Woman's Board, are specially well gowned. On last Saturday the dansant in the California ballroom was a great success, and at the head of affairs was Mrs. J. R. Scupham of Central Oakland and Mrs. Dudley Kinsell of Claremont. Mrs. Scupham wore a very handsome gown of black taffeta, beautifully trimmed in chantilly lace, and Mrs. Kinsell wore an afternoon gown of dancing length, in black and white effects. Mrs. A. C. Posey has a dark blue costume that is most effective, and Mrs. Isaac Requa is wearing in the afternoons at the fair, a tailored costume of heavy brown broadcloth, with a hat in tones of deep brown to match.

Mrs. Charles Leonard Smith is wearing a costume showing the new lines. The gown is of black taffeta ruffled to the waist, and a wide coat of tan is often worn with the costume in the late afternoon or evening.

Many of the young matrons on this side of the bay present charming studies in the afternoon, because they have adopted the new costumes, worn at luncheons and garden parties, in the many country homes around the bay.

The costume includes a gown in summer effects of organdies or lace—a silk sweater in a becoming tone of blue, lavender, pink, or yellow. The sailor hat is of white, or of a color to match the sweater, and the silk stockings match it also. And of course everybody wears the low white shoes, with rubber soles—that are so immensely comfortable, even though they do add to the size of one's foot. This costume is very youthful, but it is most becoming, because the wearer can choose for herself the costume that is most becoming. Among those who make charming studies in these lovely afternoon costumes are Mrs. Irving Lundborg, Mrs. James K. Moffitt, and Miss Genevieve Fore.

Mrs. Percy Walker is also very picturesque, as she drives her electric about town in the late afternoon—for her costume is set off with a coat in a brilliant tone of yellow—that is becoming and very effective.

Mrs. Herbert Hamilton Brown (Florence Sharon), wears most attractive gowns. Her tailored gown of shepherd's plaid is well designed and is unusually becoming.

Among those who were beautifully gowned at the polo games was Mrs. Charles Butters, who was accompanied by her niece, Miss Crosby. Mrs. Butters had a box in which she entertained guests.

At the musicale at her home on Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. William G. Henshaw wore a very unusual gown, it was of fine taffeta, of the new deep sand color, made with the long tunic and girdle, and a hat in the same shade as the gown, completed a costume designed with much taste.

At the musicale, Mrs. Victor Metcalf was also very handsomely gowned. Mrs. Metcalf has been in mourning, which she is beginning to lighten, and there were touches of violet in her costume arranged with fine effect.

Mrs. Robert Hill (Lucille Knowland), has some very exquisite trousseau gowns. At the Adelphian club luncheon on Thursday, she wore a gown of white net, very beautifully hand embroidered, and another trousseau gown is very elaborately embroidered in orchid designs.

Among the very stunning gowns worn by prominent women from our side of the bay at the fair this week, were those of:

Mrs. J. P. H. Dunn	Mrs. Edward Walsh
Mrs. Leon Boegueraz	Mrs. Daniel Easterbrook
Mrs. J. H. Dieckmann	Mrs. William Childs
Mrs. William Pierce Johnson	Mrs. C. C. Clay
Miss Josephine Johnson	Mrs. Philip Clay
Mrs. J. S. Eaton	Mrs. Warren Harrold
Mrs. William Morris	Mrs. George Hammer
Mrs. William Fillmore	Mrs. Irving Russell
Mrs. Robert Fitzgerald	Mrs. Edward Owen
Mrs. James Shepherd Jenks	Mrs. Harry Barr
Miss Elsa Schilling	Miss Pussy Creed
Miss Beatrice Simpson	Miss Cleo Posey
	Miss Elsie Posey
	Miss Jean Scupham
	Miss Mona Griffin

It used to be said that if you sat for a while on a certain corner of a Paris boulevard, you would see every American friend you know, who was in Paris.

If you take your place at a tea table in the California building on Saturday afternoon, you will meet all your Oakland friends—your San Francisco ones as well—and the acquaintances from all over the state who happen to be in town for the week.

✡ ✡ ✡

PICTURES IN THE MEDDLER.

Miss Vera Wood, whose wedding to Dr. Carl Staub of San Francisco, is set for April 14, will be one of the handsome brides of the season. She is a daughter of Mrs. Alice Wood of Claremont Park, and with her mother, recently returned to Claremont after spending the winter at the Keystone in San Francisco.

Mrs. Fred McNear is one of the beauties of San Francisco society. She was Miss Georgia Hopkins of San Francisco before her marriage to the youngest son of Mrs. George McNear of Oakland.

Miss Doris Cook is a popular member of the younger set of Oakland, who belongs to several of the dancing clubs, and is frequently a guest at the dances given on board the St. Louis.

Mrs. Shirley Foster has entertained a great deal in an informal way this season. One of the large affairs at which she was hostess was a luncheon given recently at the Oakland for Miss Adele Welch.

✡ ✡ ✡

OAKLAND GIRL SINGS WITH CONSTANTINO.

Constantino, the great singer, is coming to the Macdonough, and he will be the leading artist in the concert planned for post lenten days. Sharing the interest with him will be Mrs. Patricia Henshaw, who used to be familiarly known to her friends as "Patsy" O'Connor.

All the world loves pluck and courage, and this young girl, made a widow so early in life, has shown courage of a high order. She is facing fate with a determination to win. She might very easily sit apart and brood upon a certain sadness, in the trouble that befell her so early in her married life, in the passing of young Tyler Henshaw.

But she is facing life instead with great bravery, since she has gone straight to the heart of the world of work. Mrs. Henshaw is said to have a fine voice, and she studied in New York. As an entertainer of children she probably has no equal on this coast, and she does quite as well as Kitty Cheatham, who has made a fortune in that kind of work in England and in New York. Because of Mrs. Patricia Henshaw, and also because Constantino is a great singer, the concert is to be given the support of many prominent women of the smart set on this side of the bay. There will probably be a hundred patronesses whose names will be announced in the near future. And so for all who try—one has in this "Day of Big Things" one good wish—"Good fortune and good luck!"

SOCIETY

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stringham in Claremont avenue will be the scene of a jolly dinner dance this evening in honor of Miss Marjorie Mhoon and her fiance, Harry Heasley Fair. A score of guests will be entertained and among them will be Miss Eleanor Moore, Miss Dorothy Woodworth, Miss Kate Bennett, Miss Dorothy Brooks, Miss Marie Krutze, Miss Katherine Bousfield, Sidney Howard, Byron Jackson, A. L. Linforth, Edward Lipman, Arthur Towne and Frank Kales.

✡ ✡ ✡

TEA FOR MISS BRECK.

Miss Eleanor Moore was hostess at an informal tea this afternoon at the Moore home in Berkeley in honor of Miss Helen Breck, who will be an April bride. Assisting the hostess were Miss Katherine Crellin, Miss Dorothea Torrey, Miss Evelyn Carey and Miss Dorothy Reynolds. The house was prettily decorated with baskets of spring flowers and the guests numbered a score of girls of the younger set.

✡ ✡ ✡

IN HONOR OF MISS WOOD.

Miss Gladys Newell has sent out cards for a tea to be given on Wednesday afternoon, April 7, in honor of Miss Vera Wood, the fiancee of Dr. Carl Staub. The affair will be given at the Newbell home in Thirty-seventh street, and will gather about 50 of the younger set of girls. Miss Wood and Dr. Staub are to be married on April 14 at St. Francis De Sales church, and Miss Newbell will be one of the bride's attendants.

✡ ✡ ✡

MAY WED IN CHINA.

There is a possibility that Miss Emily Churchill, whose engagement to Arthur Eaton was recently announced, may sail for China later in the spring, to meet her fiance and be married in the Far East. Mr. Eaton is at present in Northern China with Professor Lobderback's party making a geological survey for the Standard Oil Company, and may not be able to leave his work for the long voyage to America. Plans of the young couple are still undecided, but Miss Churchill may arrange to sail for the Orient in a few weeks. In that event the wedding would take place on her arrival, at the home of friends in Hongkong. Miss Churchill is the daughter of Mrs. J. O. Churchill and the late Professor Churchill of the University of California. Both she and her fiance are graduates of the University and have been prominent in the college set.

✡ ✡ ✡

OAKLAND ASSEMBLY.

This evening members of the younger set will enjoy the third dance for the season of the Oakland Assembly in Ebell Hall. There will be attractive decorations of ferns and palms and the patronesses who include Mrs. Lyman Sargent, Mrs. Daniel Knox, Mrs. M. L. Hadley and others, will receive the guests. The last dance of the season will take place on Saturday evening, April 17, in Ebell Hall.

✡ ✡ ✡

GUESTS AT COUNTRY CLUB.

Miss Marie Tyson and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Welbe were among guests of Captain and Mrs. William Matson at a dinner dance at the Ingleside Country Club last evening, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Leopold Heebner (Martha McMahon), of New York. Mrs. William Roth (Lurline Matsch), assisted her parents to receive and the guests included a number of Mrs. Heebner's intimate friends across the bay.

✡ ✡ ✡

GUESTS AT RECEPTION.

Mrs. Phoebe Hearst and several friends were given a reception at the Massachusetts Building at the Exposition Thursday afternoon, when those entertained included Mr. and Mrs. William Randolph Hearst, Mrs. F. G. Sanborn, Mr. and Mrs. George Kincaid and Miss Dorothy Kincaid of Oakland and others.

✡ ✡ ✡

WEDDING IN BERKELEY.

Tomorrow at 4 o'clock Miss Ruth Snediger and Dr. Alfred Bernstein of Oakland will be married at the Snediger home in University avenue, Berkeley. The bride, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Snediger, will be attended by her sister, Miss Georgia Snediger, and Dr. H. C. Nor of Oakland will be best man. The house will be decorated in a color scheme of yellow with acacia branches, jonquils and daffodils, and about 40 guests will be present at the ceremony, at which Rev. Fry will officiate. After the honeymoon the young couple will establish their home in Oakland.

✡ ✡ ✡

AT THE PALACE.

Mrs. E. Montgomery Houston, entertained guests at the Palace tea dance this afternoon in honor of her sons, Hall and Harold Houston, who recently returned from college in the East. The guests were a number of the younger set of Alameda, who will enjoy the Exposition together this evening.

✡ ✡ ✡

QUIET WEDDING.

A quiet wedding took place in Northbrae yesterday afternoon, when Miss Rosalie Magee became the bride of Dr. Grover C. Johnson, at the home of her aunt, Mrs. C. J. Jordan, in Sutter avenue. Only relatives were present at the ceremony, which was set for 5 o'clock, and which was followed by a wedding dinner. Miss Esther Beach, cousin of the bride, was her only attendant. The young couple departed last evening for a honeymoon in the south and on their return will live in Northbrae, where Dr. Johnson is practicing his profession. The engagement was announced only a few weeks ago and the wedding was hastened by the plans of Mrs. Jordan, who will close her home next week and go Los Angeles for a long sojourn.

✡ ✡ ✡

DANCE FOR JUVENILE SET.

About 50 members of the juvenile set of society will meet at the Granville Abbott home in Piedmont this evening for an informal dance in the Abbott ballroom. Among those present will be children of the Chickering, Brown and Edson Adams households with others.

✡ ✡ ✡

MRS. TYSON ENTERTAINS.

Mrs. George Tyson was a bridge hostess Thursday afternoon, entertaining a score of her friends. The prizes were unusually attractive, being French gilt mirrors in an Empire design. Among the guests were: Mrs. W. G. Henshaw, Mrs. Edson F. Adams, Mrs. Harry Knowles; Mrs. Kendall Mogan, Mrs. Victor Metcalf, Mrs. William Lynham Shiels, Mrs. Charles Minor Goodall, Mrs. John B. Mhoon, Mrs. George Rodolph, Mrs. William H. Harrison, Mrs. Ernest Stent, Miss Annie Miller and Mrs. Eugene Breese of San Francisco.

WAS 17, DIVORCED, AND REQUESTED LICENSE

REDWOOD CITY, March 20.—She was just the tiniest bit of a girl, and after she had approached County Clerk Joseph Nash's counter in Redwood City, she could barely reach her chin to the top, yet she wanted a marriage license.

The young man who accompanied her was too bashful to speak, so the girl did all the talking.

"My name is Louise Traina, and I am 17 years old," she said, "but that doesn't matter with me, because I have no guardian or parents. I just received a final decree of divorce from my first husband last Wednesday in Palo Alto."

MOTHERS' CLUB WILL GIVE ENTERTAINMENT

This evening a children's entertainment based on the ideas inspiring the Children's Theater in San Francisco, will be presented in the auditorium of the Cleveland school for the enjoyment of boys, girls and parents. The affair is given under the auspices of the Cleveland Mothers' Club of which Mrs. A. M. Beebe is president.

On the program, arranged by Miss Ethel Coplin, are specially selected musical numbers, dances and readings together with a novelty skit on the immortal story of "Red Riding Hood." Many of the parts will be taken by children, among them Miss Esther Mauskops, a violin pupil of Alexander Stewart. Pupils of Miss Coplin will display their talents in dramatic stunts.

COLLEGE IN SOCIAL WORK.

PHILADELPHIA, March 20.—Bryn Mawr College has decided to enter into organized study of social work by establishing a graduate department of social economy and social research in honor of Miss Carola Woerishoffer, who died in 1911 and who left about $750,000 to her alma mater. This announcement was made yesterday by the trustees of the college.

Auto Raiders Stopped by Sorority Girl

Her Threat to Shoot Sends Them Fleeing in Darkness

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, March 20.—Whether three mere men were stealing or "borrowing" an automobile from in front of the Kappa house just before midnight last night is bothering the members of the Stanford chapter of the well-known Kappa Kappa sorority. At any rate, Miss Celeste Langdon Young registered at Stanford from Stockton, commanded the miscreants to "Stop, or I'll shoot!" They immediately ran away, completely routed.

The machine, left to the impetus of its own weight, continued down the driveway and ran into a curbing. It was not injured.

Miss Madeline McCrea Turner of San Francisco, Miss Margaret Esther Cory of Fresno and Miss Frances Berto Akin of Atlanta, Ga., witnessed the affair, the excitement of which aroused the inmates of the sorority house.

The young women were unable to lock the automobile, which is the property of Miss Florence Gates of South Pasadena, and so were forced to drive into Palo Alto, where the machine was tucked away safely.

BEQUEST REWARDS FIREMEN'S BRAVERY.

PORTLAND, March 20.—Gallant work on the part of the Portland fire department several years ago has won a gift of $2000 for the firemen's relief and pension fund. The gift is made by provision of the will of Caroline H. Bainbridge, a former resident of Portland, who died in San Francisco September 12, 1910.

The will has been tied up in the courts, and a settlement has just been reached. The firemen will get the full amount of the legacy.

The fire in question occurred at Mrs. Bainbridge's house here in 1889. The house was destroyed, but firemen saved jewels and furniture for Mrs. Bainbridge.

NEW AFFIDAVIT FILED FOR EUGENIA FERRER.

NEW YORK, March 20.—A new affidavit was submitted yesterday at White Plains by the attorney for Eugenia Ferrer, who claims to be the widow of Theodore A. Lord. A nurse swears she attended Lord in his Yonkers home during his last illness, and that at the time after the date of the will, in which $500,000 is left to friends, he was too weak to write.

LAME TYPEWRITER IS END OF DIVORCE SUIT.

SAN RAFAEL, March 20.—Mrs. Lillian Levett, a pretty opera singer, wept hysterically and had to be assisted out of the Marin County Superior Court yesterday when Judge E. T. Zook threw her divorce case out because of "irregularities," which may be the subject of a grand jury investigation.

Mrs. Levett's complaint was written with a lame typewriter. The "a" and "e" were out of alignment and the "n" was suffering from a broken "heel." Judge Zook noticed the untidiness of the document and commented upon it. A moment later he nearly fell off the bench when he found that the defendant's answer was written with the same machine.

Attorney E. S. Schlesinger, representing Mrs. Levett, offered to "swear on oath" that his part in the "strange coincidence" was above suspicion.

"Better not," advised his honor, "for if you do I shall be tempted to swear that you are 'mistaken.'"

Mrs. Levett, who is residing temporarily in San Anselmo, says her husband, Alfred Levett, deserted her in New York four years ago.

DOROTHY RUSSELL TO FACE FORGERY TRIAL.

NEW YORK, March 20.—Dorothy Russell, daughter of Lillian Russell, was yesterday held for trial under $2000 bail on a charge of forging a prescription for morphine. Her attorney said she had undergone seven major operations within a short time and was about to undergo another. The morphine was needed, he said, to alleviate pain. Miss Russell cried throughout the proceedings. She was taken to court in her mother's automobile.

GAS SERVICE IN PITTSBURG.

MARTINEZ, March 20.—The first service of gas for domestic purposes in Contra Costa county, outside of the city of Richmond, was started yesterday, when the Contra Costa Gas Company, from its central station in Pittsburg, began supplying the consumers of that town. The service will be extended to Antioch in May, Concord in July and to Martinez in August. The project is being promoted by S. Waldo Coleman, and an investment in the system of $147,020 is being made.

GIRL RECOVERS MEMORY GRASPS MURDER CLEWS

MISS GABRIELLE DARLEY, ACCUSED OF THE MURDER OF HER LOVER, WHO IS SLOWLY REGAINING HER MEMORY.

SHE KILLED SWEETHEART WHO BEAT HER, IS CHARGED.

MIND BLANK FOR MONTHS, SHE IS GATHERING UP TANGLED THREADS.

LOS ANGELES, March 20.—Slowly gathering together the tangled threads of memory that fled during the terrible scene in which, it is charged, she killed her lover, and fell unconscious from his blows, Gabrille Darley, declared the most beautiful prisoner ever immured in the County Jail, has almost recovered her mental poise, and today is able to give a fairly rational story of the events surrounding the slaying, and her own injuries.

The story, a startling tale of a woman who forsook conventionality for the allurements of the primrose path, is replete with sensational features. She tells of meeting the man, Leonard Topp, whom she loved, and whom she can not remember killing. Over his death there is still a blank of lost memory. Piece by piece she is, however, reconstructing the story.

Brought from Italy when she was only a baby, orphaned in her early girlhood, she found herself in Arizona at the age of 19, alone in the world and without friends. She was a waitress in a hotel. It was there she met and married "Kid" Kirby, prize fighter. Married him, according to her story today, for a home. And she says she divorced him because he would not make one for her.

"He wouldn't work, except for an occasional fight, and he didn't care whether we had a home or not," Miss Darley said today. "And—well, then I met Leonard Topp. He seemed to know how I felt about having my own little home in this world, and he begged me to divorce my husband and marry him. He would make a home for me, he said. And so I did.

"Also I learned to love him better than my life. Oh, I love him now too well, too well.

"He told me he couldn't afford to marry me and make a home, but that I could make enough money, and when I did he would marry me. He told me I could make that money by—by selling my honor. I refused at first. But I loved him, and he said he couldn't marry me unless I did. Finally I gave up. It was he who led me along my first steps into the underworld.

"It was a terrible life, so sad, so much sorrow both to me and all around me. But I kept thinking it was for him, and soon I would be out of it. A year passed. I was happier than ever before, for now I had enough money to buy my marriage and my home.

"And then he beat me. I don't remember any more. I can't think beyond that. I can remember the blows as they fell on me—it was a terrible beating, terribly cruel. And from him, after all my love! Everything turned black. And I can only remember being here—behind the bars—after that."

Miss Darley will face trial for the slaying of Topp in May. She will be defended by Attorney Earl Rogers.

EAST OAKLAND WOMEN LISTEN TO CANDIDATES

Women of East Oakland intend to know all about the various candidates that are seeking commissionerships before they vote at the coming primaries. This was evidenced yesterday when about fifty assembled in the home of Mrs. Hailey on Thirty-fifth avenue to talk over the political matters and to hear an address from Tax Collector Meese, who is seeking the nomination for Commissioner No. 2.

Meese cautioned his hearers not to believe everything circulated during the heat of a political campaign, but to sift the claims of the candidates and to be guided solely by the facts. "I have been in the service of the city for fourteen years," said Meese, "and during that time I have been closely identified with its financial dealings. I ought to know the duties of Commissioner by this time, and I believe that I do. As we all know there is a desire to secure a lower tax levy and it is possible to make all kinds of impossible promises in this regard. I will simply promise to do everything that a conscientious man can do to see that the tax levy is as low as possible and I will assure you that not a single dollar of your money shall be wasted if I am elected to the office for which I have served such a long apprenticeship."

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—Harry D. White, a waiter in Old Faithful Inn, was arrested today for embezzlement on the complaint of the proprietor, Otto Mueller, who charges misappropriation of $10.55. A switching of the cashier's checks is alleged to have been executed by White.

SOCIAL ISOLATION BAD FOR BLACKS

Dr. C. H. Brough Makes An Interesting Report on Conditions.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 20.—Dr. Charles Hillman Brough, professor of economics and sociology in the University of Arkansas, who is the chairman of the university commission on the southern race question, the members of which are among the south's most distinguished educators, drawn from the faculties of eleven of the leading universities and colleges of the south, has submitted his annual report to the commission. The report, which takes in the negro problem from all angles, is admittedly one of the most interesting yet submitted on that subject, and is of peculiar interest because of the high standing of Dr. Brough among southern educators.

"In the southern states," says Dr. Brough, "there are today no points of social contact whatever where the two races meet and exchange ideas. Separate schools, separate churches, separate telephones, the 'Jim Crow' car, restrictions of ballot, not to mention violent anti-negro political agitation in at least two of the states, have produced an alienation of the two races without a parallel. Everywhere throughout the south, despite physical contact in a business way, the two peoples live and move in totally different worlds of thought and feeling."

IMPORTANT TO WHITE.

The effect of this social isolation of the negroes, says Dr. Brough, is of the greatest importance to the white as well as the black man, and in a note of warning he adds that "the closing the door of equality of opportunity to the negro and his persistent intellectual and moral pauperisation must in the end react upon the civilization of the white."

"In my humble opinion," he continues, "it is better to admit the negro to all the stimulus and the inspiration of the white's social heritage, so far as it applies to economic equality of opportunity given through industrial education, in so far as it does not endanger the integrity of the social heritage itself, than to encourage an ignorant and debased citizenship by his neglect and repression. It is, of course, plain that every murder, or lynching, or cowardly terrorizing of a weaker race sets in motion subtle educational forces which react upon both groups. It furnishes 'social copy' for the rising generation of blacks, brutalizing and barbarizing their own souls and ultimately cheapening the whole tone of the civilization of the future.

NEMESIS OF WHITE.

"In a far deeper and more tragic sense, however, does the repressed and isolated negro become the Nemesis of the white. For by being a winning partner in a process of repression the white voluntarily surrounds himself with a group of lower economic efficiency, less exacting moral standards, insanitary homes, and an outlook on human life devoid of the stimulus of hope and the goad of ambition. Lower the tone of the environment and it becomes an easy matter to take a 'moral holiday' without any 'moral insurance.' Murphy, in 'The Basis of Race Ascendancy' puts this argument very strongly when he says that 'to say that the stronger tends to become more brutal because the weak is brutal, or slovenly because the weak is slovenly, is to touch the process only on its surface.

"The deeper fact is not that of imitation nor yet that of contagion. It is that tragedy of recurrent accommodations of habitual self-adjustment to lower conceptions of life and to feebler notions of excellence, which is nothing less than education in its descending and contractive forms.'

"The south feels, however, that race integration and solidarity in a social sense are absolutely necessary to promote the best interests of both races. While willing to concede equality of opportunity in an economic sense, she is unalterably opposed to the miscegenation of the races, and views with genuine alarm the increase in the number of mulattoes from 1,132,060, or 15.2 per cent., in 1899, to 2,050,656, or 20.9 per cent. in 1910. The fundamentally incompatibilities of racial temperament and tradition which operate to make the great majority of actual unions between the two groups unhappy, and the fact that many of those who do enter upon these unions belong to the criminal or anti-social elements of both groups, would seem to indicate that the condemnation of such unions by the better elements of both races has a substantial basis."

IMPROVE IN INTELLECT.

Following a laudatory reference to the economic progress of the blacks of the south since the civil war, a progress that Dr. Brough describes as both commendable and rapid, the educational progress of the race is described as remarkable. Morally and religiously they have also made progress, says Dr. Brough, "yet in both these respects," he adds, "they are still lamentably weak."

"Criminal statistics," he says, "for the negro are not very reassuring. In 1880 the number of negro prisoners per 100,000 of the population was 325; in 1904, 277; in 1910, 378. There is a much higher rate of crime among the negroes in the north than in the south. This is to a large extent due to the fact that seven-tenths of the negroes of the north live in cities and are of an age when persons have the most tendency to crime. It is interesting, however, to find that the negro has a relatively lower percent of crime than the immigrant races which are now coming to the United States. The commitments to prison in 1902 per 1000 of certain nationalities were: Mexican, 4.7; Italians, 4.4; Austrians, 3.6; French, 3.4; Canadians, 3; Russians, 2.8; Poles, 2.7; negroes, 2.7.

ASSAILS NEGRO PASTORS.

Much should and can be done, says Dr. Brough, in improving the character of the average negro preacher of the south. He refers to the great influence of these men over the negroes and deplores the fact that the average black preacher is "selfish, avaricious, and ignorant to an unbearable degree."

"In practically every community," says Dr. Brough, "he is recognized as the leader of his race, so that his education and moral training are of vital importance in any plan looking to the betterment of the negroes."

MANAGER SAVES LIFE.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—But for the heroism of E. W. McCutcheon, manager of the Rapid Transportation Company, 12-year-old Joseph Rossio would have been drowned in the bay last night, when he fell from pier 19. McCutcheon plunged into the water and pulled the boy out as the strong outgoing tide was carrying him down.

HAVE AN OBJECT IN VIEW

By LILLIAN RUSSELL

(Copyright, 1915, by Lillian Russell.)

THE mind as well as the body demands stimulation. I do not mean that either calls for alcohol or other stimulants of this character. They find their stimulation in exercise. Depressed spirits lead to pale cheeks and deteriorating health. Absence of occupation and ambition consumes beauty and strength.

"A large percentage of the women who come to me for advice," declared a physician who practices among society women, "merely need to be given some object in life. These woman drink so deeply of the pleasures found in society that such things soon cease to satisfy. The time comes when society offers nothing to arouse their interest. Finally it is accepted as a matter of course. Servants take the management of the homes from the hands of society women, or household work becomes monotonous. They live without an object in life. These women sometimes come to me with pale cheeks. There is lack of luster in their eyes. They complain of weakness and feeling tired. What they need is healthful occupation and work for others that will keep their minds and bodies busy. Activity will bring back the color to their cheeks and lips and put new life into their bodies."

The arousal of interest in life will make a woman's eye flash. It will bring an animated color and expression to the cheeks and lips. It will put vigor into the body. Indeed, the woman who is largely interested in any subject is magnetic.

The physician quoted above declares that when these pale faced, blase women go to him he prescribes some harmless medicine, advises fresh air, a diet, and plenty of rest and exercise. While preparing this prescription and diagnosing their cases he attempts in a roundabout way to interest the patient in some useful work. Some of his patients have followed his indirect suggestions. They have colored their cheeks with a few drops of the aqua prescribed and work in the interest of hospitals. Others have found new health in laboring for orphan asylums.

The physician acknowledges that all the medicine many women need when they think they are going into a decline is something to arouse their interest in life. If their interest can be stimulated through useful work it is all the better for them.

It is the mind which brings the flush to the cheek. It is the impression of fear on the mind that takes the color from cheeks and lips. If it can temporarily affect the coloring of the cheek in this way the mind must also have some permanent influence on it.

Remember: If you attempt to nourish your beauty on idleness it will soon die from lack of food.

AMANDA: If your house is properly ventilated you are not so liable to take cold as when the rooms are too warm and the air is stale. Throw wide open all doors and windows, opening the windows at both top and bottom. The hot, impure air rises and the cold air falls to the floor. The length of time the house should be left open depends upon the outside temperature and the velocity of the winds. The house should be ventilated in this way at least three times a day—in the morning, at noon, and again in the evening.

HOLY CHANCELLOR OF CHURCH DIES

Cardinal Agliardi Passes Away After Long Career in Orders.

By Associated Press.

ROME, March 19, via Paris, March 20.—Cardinal Anthony Agliardi, chancellor of the Catholic Church and subdean of the Sacred College, died today at the age of 83 years. He was the titular bishop of Albano and was proclaimed a cardinal in 1896. It was he who proposed to the Sacred College on August 22 last that an address be sent to the belligerent powers asking that an armistice be arranged so that a successor to Pope Pius X need not be elected while blood was being shed upon the battlefields. When there was friction between the French government and Cardinal Merry del Val, in 1906, it was reported that Cardinal Agliardi was a candidate for Papal secretary of state.

Cardinal Agliardi was born at Cologne, Italy, September 4, 1832. He studied theology, and after acting as parish priest of his native diocese for 12 years, was sent by the Pope to Canada as a bishop's chaplain. On his return he was appointed secretary to the Propaganda. He was appointed Archbishop of Caesarea of the hierarchy there. In 1887 he again visited India to carry out the terms of the concordat arranged with Portugal.

Cardinal Agliardi was appointed secretary to the secretary to the congregation in 1887, became Papal Nuncio at Munich in 1889, and Papal Nuncio to Vienna in 1892. Allowing himself to be involved in the ecclesiastical disputes by which Hungary was divided in 1895, he was made the subject of a formal complaint by the Hungarian government and was recalled in 1896. His services were rewarded by a cardinalite and the archbishopric of Farrara.

"JITNEY LUNCHEON" BY FITCHBURG CLUB

A "jitney luncheon" was held yesterday by the Fitchburg Social Club.

At the Laurel school there was a good attendance at yesterday's meeting and Mr. Biger talked on how the tax levy could be reduced without impairing the efficiency of local government.

A house meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Rose, on Market street, and the many questions asked of Biger showed that the women of Oakland are taking keen interest in the coming primary election.

'Sex War Is Absurd,' Says Columbia Dean to Clergyman

Antipathy to Idle Theory, He Declares, Praising Militancy

NEW YORK, March 20.—Speaking before the Women Lawyers' Association last night, at the second annual dinner in the Fifth Avenue Restaurant, Dean George W. Kirchway of the Columbia Law School, entered into debate with the Rev. Percy Stickney Grant of the Church of the Ascension, as to the existence of a "sex war." Dr. Grant is the clergyman whose views upon divorce have been criticised by eminent churchmen, including Bishop Greer.

Dr. Grant, the first speaker, declared there existed a male and female class consciousness, and that essentially the two sexes are at war. It was upon this hypothesis that he urged the necessity for the extension of the suffrage to woman and the placing of women judges upon the bench of the inferior criminal courts. He insisted this sex consciousness and rivalry denied to women offenders a fair trial at the hands of male judges.

IN HIS ADOLESCENCE.

"When I was more youthful," said Professor Kirchwey, "I was inclined to the same opinions as those expressed by my friend Dr. Grant. I once delivered an address before an organization of women lawyers known as the Portia Club, and expressed somewhat the same sentiments. My daughter, who had listened to my talk, said later, 'Dad, that was a fine speech, but it was awful flub-dub.'

"I asked her what kind of language she was using, and she replied that it was 'late Victorian.' From the utterances of Dr. Grant upon the divorce and feminist questions in the pulpit and in the public press, I can assure him that he does not belong to the Farley, the Middle or Late Victorian periods, but that he is in a class by himself.

"There is no such a thing as a 'sex war.' So far as differences exist between men and women, they are explained through differences of individual temperament. I do not believe that the male judge is willfully unfair to the woman offender. I do not believe a woman judge would be more disposed to be fair in her judgment, but I do know she would have a sympathetic knowledge, which for psychological reasons the man could never hope to attain.

JUSTIFIES SUFFRAGETTES.

"I think that it is an outrage for the girl first offender to be compelled under duress to confide the secret of her shame to the ears of a man. It is naturally repugnant to her and she shrinks from the ordeal. For the same reason I believe women have their rightful place upon the bench of the juvenile courts, because my knowledge of child psychology compels the belief that a boy or girl will confide his or her secrets to the mother rather than to an equally loving father."

Professor Kirchwey said the only country where sex class consciousness existed was England, and that in that country the existence of militancy among women suffragettes was justified.

"I am in favor of any means short of felony," said Professor Kirchwey, "which will impress upon the dominant sex the justice of the demands of women."

SHIP FOOD TO GERMANS PARCEL POST ROUTE

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, March 20.—The international parcel post system has become a factor in the exportation of food to Germany and Austria, postoffice officials said here today. Office, cereals and condensed nutriment in various forms, are said to make up the bulk of parcels generally weighing eleven pounds—the limit, which are pouring into the local postoffice.

"The increase has been especially large in the last ten days," said Martin J. Faubel, head of the foreign parcels section. "Since January 1, the business had increased 33 per cent. Shipments are made by individuals to individuals. We know nothing of who these individuals are.

HIGH SCHOOL HEAD GIVEN SCORING

Berkeley Students Issue Paper Criticising Principal of Institution.

BERKELEY, March 20.—With the pointed observation that the new publication has "no faculty board of censors," the printer's ink campaign against Principal C. L. Biedenbach of the Berkeley High School has been continued. But now the printed matter has lost its former anonymous character and appears as "Black and White," a publication edited by Sheldon B. Crow, and managed by Lucius W. Hicks, both former students of the school.

The publication follows the sarcastic type of expression that characterized the issue of "Student Opinion," which preceded it, but it devotes more space than its predecessor to attacks on the principal. It advises the students of the high school against hissing the principal and suggests use of its columns instead.

"Long live the monarch of the school, the 'mother' of the low senior class, the man who has our interests so at heart. We hail thee, king."

In another place it is written:

"Trust in him and he will keep us from all harm, all danger, all originality, all rights and all but censored privileges. Our minds are yet too stunted to warrant our spending our money in a way to please the majority."

Principal Biedenbach is invited to submit to the publication an "article in behalf of his policy." In an imaginary statement accredited to him, he is quoted as saying:

"This cowardly sheet has had the audacity to say that faculty control is detrimental to the students. Such a cowardly lie! Have you not your student body? Do you not elect your officers after I, with my unfailing good judgment, eliminated those whom I did not wish to run for office from the ballot? Have I not allowed your board of control to give a vaudeville show, that they might raise money for the school? Do I not allow your dramatic club to produce Shakespeare? Do I ever spend this money for peanuts or chewing gum? No, I take this money and put it into our general fund, and never cause the dramatic club the difficult work of sanctioning my action. I appeal to your better judgment and hope that you will condemn this lying publication."

In spite of the advice of the publication that the students refrain from hissing the principal or others, and bend their energies to contributions to "Black and White," instead, students of the school declare there was some hissing nevertheless at the assembly yesterday, despite the interest shown in the peace address of Lloyd Jenkin Jones, and despite the watchfulness of the faculty advisers who were seated about the auditorium. None of the students were, however, sent from the assembly.

Though members of the school board had planned to bring the high school disturbances before the school board this week, a change in this program was made at the last moment. A committee of students had planned to appear, but determined to let matters rest for a while longer before approaching the board.

Guy Broke, Crane Fell, Employe's Close Call

Jumping clear as a heavy rotary crane, which broke loose when a guy rope snapped, crashed down on top of his little wooden shelter, Rudy Beck, an employe of the Sunset Lumber Company escaped being crushed to death this morning.

In his fall he incurred painful bruises and cuts on the side and lower limbs and was removed to the Oakland central hospital and attended by Dr. A. S. Kelly.

Beck was engaged in operating the crane by a lever from a small house built underneath it. The breaking of a guy rope supporting the crane caused the heavy mass of machinery to fall on top of the hut, which collapsed under the weight. Beck received warning in the nick of time.

GREAT BAHAI CONGRESS TO CONVENE AT FAIR

TRIBUNE BUREAU, Panama-Pacific Exposition, March 20. — Through the efforts of the Panama-Pacific Exposition, the International Bahai congress will be held in the Exposition auditorium April 19 to 25.

This gathering, representing the membership of 3,000,000 people, has for its key note the idea that people of all nations and all beliefs, even religious unbelievers, may fraternize in perfect peace and harmony. It maintains the right of women to hold equality with men and subordinates sectional patriotism to the broader patriotism of universal fellowship.

The Bahai movement originated in Persia in 1884.

MANY NATIONS KEEP ORANGE DAY
TURK PRINCESS DISTRIBUTES FRUIT

'Golden Apples of 'Golden State' Scattered From Back of Camel

TRIBUNE BUREAU, Panama Pacific Exposition, March 20.—Today was the "Day of the Bortekal," in the Zone—that is, in the Turkish part of it, where merry dancers, Turkish Princesses and dignitaries of the region of the fez and scimitar did honor to the California Orange.

California Orange day was celebrated more loyally by the Turkish concessions than even by Californians. The bright ... the golden apple, reminded them of the gay hue of their own star and crescent—and, headed by Princess Amorita, the children of far-off Turkey kept the California holiday as the only celebration of the "Gaiours," as they call Americans, they have observed since their visit to America.

The princess rode about the grounds on a camel and scattered oranges to the crowd, and every nationality sampled the fruit.

AMONG NORSE FOLK.

In the Norway pavilion, where the orange is called "Applesine," Miss Konstanka Johannsen was busily experimenting yesterday. In "Japan Beautiful," little Sumako Nishimuro tried her luck with the "mikan." In the Indian Village, 9-year-old "White Buffalo Woman," a thoroughbred Cheyenne Indian, enjoyed some big, juicy "haowemachips" or "tahaspazi," as the Sioux Indians call the orange, and "Fuzy Forest Brute," the six-weeks' old bear cub of the village, joined her in the meal. Sima and Faapusa, two Samoan belles, busied themselves with a new dish in which they used the "moli," and Aranda and Sara Jobita, two Tehuantepec sisters, who call oranges "naragas," expressed their liking for the fruit.

LEGISLATURE VISITS GREAT EXPOSITION

Trip to "Joy Zone" Feature of Day: Governor Johnson Delivers Address.

TRIBUNE BUREAU, Panama-Pacific Exposition, March 20.—California's solons were the official guests today of the Exposition. Arriving from Sacramento shortly after noon, at the ferry entrance, they were met with elaborate formalities and conducted by the Exposition officials to the different features about the grounds.

The legislature, in a body, was met at the ferry by the United States Marine Corps, and, following the preliminary ceremonies, paraded to the California building. Here they were guests of the directors at luncheon, following which a commemorative bronze plaque was presented to the legislators.

A feature of the visit of the legislators was a trip to the "Joy Zone," where they visited a number of concessions. The official program of the day follows:

12:45 p. m.—Arrival at ferry slip on Exposition grounds of the governor and joint legislature of the state of California.

Military salute by Marine Corps to Governor Hiram W. Johnson.

March along Esplanade to California building.

1 p. m.—Luncheon in ballroom of California building.

Selection by orchestra while guests are being seated.

Address of welcome by President Charles C. Moore.

Response by Governor Hiram W. Johnson.

Presentation of commemorative bronze plaque to the Senate of the California Legislature.

Acceptance by the president of the Senate.

Presentation of commemorative bronze plaque to the Assembly of the California Legislature.

Acceptance by the speaker of the Assembly.

Visit on Joy Zone to Panama Canal, 101 Ranch and "Battle of Merrimac and Monitor."

P. P. I. E. STILL HOLDS ATTENDANCE RECORD

TRIBUNE BUREAU, Panama-Pacific Exposition, March 20.—Figures for the first four weeks' attendance at the Exposition, as compared with other big events, show the Panama-Pacific fair still ahead in the record, although the fourth week showed an attendance slightly below that of the other fairs, this being attributable to a number of causes.

The figures as compiled by the Bureau of Admissions, follow:

First week—
San Francisco	623,161
Chicago	258,926
St. Louis	323,221
Second week—
San Francisco	465,167
Chicago	229,614
St. Louis	256,914
Third week—
San Francisco	433,546
Chicago	312,551
St. Louis	432,434
Fourth week—
San Francisco	399,950
Chicago	474,951
St. Louis	407,502

RELIGIOUS CONGRESS TO OPEN DOORS APRIL 1

TRIBUNE BUREAU, Panama-Pacific Exposition, March 20.—The World's Social Progress Congress, first of the great series of intellectual events planned for the Exposition, will open on April 1 in the Exposition-Civic Auditorium, San Francisco. There will be three sessions daily until April 11.

The World's Social Progress Congress is held under the auspices of the Committee of One Hundred for Religious Work, appointed by the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

Leaders of all accredited schools of social thought will address the convention. The list of speakers, which will be fully announced later, includes names of nation wide prominence. Their dissertations, taken as a whole, will form a complete and many-sided exposition of the various ideas that are fermenting in people's minds today.

Bishop William M. Bell of Los Angeles is chairman. The members are Governor Hiram Johnson, Hon. Richard P. Hobson, Hon. J. Stitt Wilson, President Benjamin Ide Wheeler, Rev. Hugh W. Gilchrist, Rev. J. A. Geisinger, D.D.; Rev. J. E. Squires, D.D.; President John Henry Whyte, Prof C. S. Gardner, Chancellor David Starr Jordan, Bishop Francis J. McConnell, Prof. E. A. Wicher, D.D., and Secretary Henry A. Atkinson.

ORANGE DAY AT FAIR STATEWIDE CELEBRATION

TRIBUNE BUREAU, Panama-Pacific Exposition, March 20.—Today is the Day of the Orange at the big fair.

Citrus men were in their glory, and California's golden fruit was everywhere about the Exposition today, while crowds assisted in the statewide celebration in which the orange was the honored product.

The Citrus Protective League had a large delegation at the fair. With military escort and band the growers entered the fair grounds, were met by officials of the Exposition, and presented with a commemorative bronze plaque. C. C. Chapman of Fullerton, chairman of the day, responded.

INVITED TO SAN DIEGO.

By Associated Press.

SACRAMENTO, March 20.—Assemblyman Conard of San Diego has extended to members of the lower house of the Legislature an invitation to participate in "Legislature Day" at the San Diego Panama-California Exposition on April 3. Conard hoped to pledge a big delegation for the trip.

STANFORD U. HAS EXPOSITION DAY

Students, Graduates and Faculty Gather for Special Fair Celebration.

TRIBUNE BUREAU, Panama-Pacific Exposition, March 20.—Stanford University today, in the Court of the Universe, was paid full honor by the Panama-Pacific Exposition. Students, graduates and faculty members gathered for the elaborate exercises that marked the university's special celebration at the fair, and Chancellor David Starr Jordan, in the principal address of the day, praised the fair and responded to the presentation of bronze plaques.

The students and faculty members arrived this morning on special trains at the Third and Townsend Street depot, where waiting automobiles took them to the Exposition grounds. They were met at the Fillmore street entrance by the Exposition officials. The official program:

Music by official band.

Address by Chancellor David Starr Jordan, LL.D., chairman of the day.

Presentation of commemorative bronze plaque by official of the Exposition.

TWO RESCUED FROM DEATH TORTURE

Workmen Save Their Comrades From Dust Suffocation in Pit.

VALLEJO, March 20.—Swirled into a great vat in a flood of hot cement, Frank Costa, a laborer employed at the Portland cement plant here, was rescued, nearly dead, by Louis Metze, a fellow workman, who, leaping into the almost boiling mass after his comrade, dragged him to the side of the vat before falling unconscious. Others about the vat dragged the two helpless men from the tank and medical aid was called. The men were badly burned and almost suffocated by the heavy cement dust.

Costa was at work in one of the vats from which the hot cement is dropped through a chute, and, according to his fellow workmen, the preparation was turned in by mistake. The man was rendered helpless at once by the heavy dust which filled his eyes, ears and mouth. Dr. B. J. Klotz, called to the two men, states that both were nearly suffocated when removed from the vat.

Baseball Pictures Resumed Today

THE TRIBUNE'S baseball contest will be resumed tonight in the "green" sporting extra. The picture was crowded out last night because of the necessity of putting the news of the big naval battle in the Dardanelles on the streets at the same time as the sports' extra.

The contest will close on the same night as set originally, Monday, March 29, but there will be only 14 pictures run, instead of 15. Four have already been published.

Sapristi! Two Wounded in Duel in France

By Associated Press.

PARIS, March 20, 3:35 a. m.—A duel with swords resulting from a dispute about official business was fought yesterday by M. Chapron, prefect of the Department of the Marne, and Maurice pol Roger, mayor of Epernay, in the park of a country house. Chapron was wounded in the left arm and Roger in the right wrist after a long and furious encounter. The adversaries refused to be reconciled after their combat.

Writer and Editor Plunges to Death

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 20.—Mrs. Ellen Heney, editor of the Woman's Magazine, published in Detroit, and writer of short stories, plunged five stories from her room to her death at her home here today. She was delirous from typhoid fever at the time and made her way to a window during a brief interval in which her nurse had left the room for medicine.

YANKEE TWINS IN BRITISH ARMY ARE DISCHARGED

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 20.—Two American boys, twins, 15 years old, who, in order to get a first-hand view of the war, ran away and enlisted in the British army, arrived home today on the steamer Lapland. The twins, Harold and Howard Hudson, had been attending school near London. They enlisted in the British army, giving false ages and not mentioning their nationality. Their parents in this country learned what had happened and invoked the aid of the state department to obtain the release of the boys. Through the efforts of Ambassador Page at London the release was brought about.

Charge Her With Use of Mails to Extort

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 20.—Miss Rae Tanzer, who recently sued James W. Osborne, former assistant district attorney of New York, for $50,000 for alleged breach of promise and who was arrested last night on a charge of using the mails for purposes of extorting money, appeared before United States Commissioner Houghton today and was held in $5000 bail for further hearing next Wednesday.

Miss Lanzer, in her suit, alleged that James W. Osborne used the alias of Oliver Osborne, when he accompanied her to various places. Yesterday Oliver Osborne of Boston appeared, and announced that he knew Miss Lanzer well and that while she was writing letters to James W. Osborne, insisting that he was "Oliver," she was at the same time writing to him in Boston.

Col. M. E. House Has Confab With Gerard

By Associated Press.

BERLIN, via London, March 20, 12:45 p. m.—Col. M. E. House of New York and Texas, reached Berlin from London, Friday and at once went into a conference with James W. Gerard, the American Ambassador. Colonel House will be the Ambassador guest while in Berlin. It is generally believed that Colonel House is working in the interests of possible peace.

E. G. Lowry attached to the American embassy in London is at present in Berlin in the interests of German prisoners in England.

Old Hoffman House Has Closed Its Doors

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 20.—The famous Hoffman House, which in fifty-one years has sheltered many widely known men, closed its doors today. The building will be demolished to give place to a commercial structure. The Hoffman House was opened in 1864. Among the notable men who have made it their headquarters when in New York, were Grover Cleveland, William Windom, David B. Hill, and many others.

Pupils Endow Their Veteran Teacher

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, March 20.—Miss Sarah A. Brooks, who for fifty years taught a primary class in a public school, retired yesterday on an endowment provided by her former pupils, many of them now ranking among the leaders in commercial, professional and business life. The amount of the fund was not announced.

NEW CONTEST BEGINS
WATCH 'CAMERA MAN'

Tonight at 6 o'clock the week's picture contest ends. Practically all the boys and girls appearing in last Sunday's pictures have received their free exposition passes. Tomorrow next week's contest begins.

Watch for tomorrow's TRIBUNE, boys and girls. If you have watched the camera man this is important.

There will be more than thirty pictures in the Exposition Contest Page tomorrow. The camera man has had a busy week.

And he's still on the job. Look out for him today—tomorrow—every day.

Next week the prize winners will also receive, besides the free passes and round trip tickets to the exposition, a free pass to the "101 Ranch" Wild West Show.

And that's not all. Tomorrow sees the beginning of THE TRIBUNE'S Coupon Series. Coupon No. 1 will appear in tomorrow's TRIBUNE. Coupon No. 2 will appear Monday, and so on.

Every boy and girl bringing in the coupons from 1 to 7, which can be clipped from consecutive issues of THE TRIBUNE, will receive a free pass to the "101 Ranch." It's absolutely FREE to every boy and girl under 18.

So remember, look out for the camera man.

Watch for tomorrow's new pictures. Clip the coupons.

If your picture's in tomorrow's page, bring it in to the circulation manager. If you want to try for second prize, step in and get subscription blanks, for if you bring in a three months' subscription you also get the free passes. And again, clip those coupons, anyhow.

ROAD CONDITIONS CHANGE SLIGHTLY

Roads out of Oakland remain the same as bulletin sent last week with the following exceptions.

Construction on main road between Hayward and Niles. Detour to Decoto.

Niles Canyon now open and in good condition except about 100 yards at Ferndale, which is rough.

The road to Del Monte changes, as the highway is now completed to San Juan, so the detour to Hollister is no longer necessary. The San Juan grade is now open, as well as the Dumbarton road from San Juan. Chittenden cut-off still closed on account of bridge being out. The new San Juan grade promised for the first of next week.

Motorists wishing to go to San Jose and thence to San Francisco should take the Cupertino road at San Jose, going to Cupertino, thence north to the state highway at Sunnyvale. This avoids the four miles of very rough road in Santa Clara. (This addition should be made to the paragraph reading: "The road from San Jose city limits through Santa Clara is in very poor condition, etc.")

The road from Saratoga through Congress Springs and to Boulder Creek and Ben Lomond is as yet not passable as yet. From Saratoga over the new road into the Big Basin will be finished about May 1st.

Altamont Pass, between Livermore and Tracy, is open to motor travel now. The road is not completed, however, and if there is heavy traveling Sunday some are apt to find the going rather rough in places. Patterson Pass is in fairly good shape and no doubt many will use this road en route to Stockton and Modesto.

MAN ENDS HIS LIFE UNDER TRAIN

Unknown Who Seeks Death May Have Been Stanford Student.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—An unidentified man, thought to be a Stanford student, who may have deliberately thrown himself in front of the engine, was run down and fatally injured a half mile north of Palo Alto by the north bound Southern Pacific train, the Lark, from Los Angeles, at 9 o'clock this morning.

The man was walking on the south track, and was in full view of the engineer. The train was going about 40 miles an hour, and the fireman whistled for the Palo Alto crossing. At sound of the whistle, the stranger suddenly stepped to the north-bound track immediately in front of the speeding train. He was struck by the cowcatcher, thrown a distance of 30 feet and picked up unconscious, bruised and mangled; then was placed on the train and rushed to Redwood City. He was there taken off and removed to a hospital in a dying condition. The only clew to his identity is a hat purchased in Palo Alto.

OAKLAND PIONEER MOTHER IS DEAD

Mrs. Caroline L. Osgood Passes Beyond at Ripe Age of 76 Years.

Following a brief illness, Mrs. Caroline L. Osgood, one of the earliest settlers in this State, and one of Oakland's pioneer women, died at her home, 3143 Telegraph avenue, yesterday, at the age of 76 years. Mrs. Osgood, who came to California across the Isthmus of Panama in 1855, and was the widow of the late Rufus W. Osgood, one of the large landholders of California's early days, had for some time past lived in this city. She was the mother of H. L. Osgood and F. S. Osgood, Oakland merchants, and W. J. Osgood.

The funeral will take place Monday morning at 11 o'clock at the James Taylor chapel, and Rev. A. W. Palmer will probably officiate, according to present plans. The pallbearers have not yet been named.

Mrs. Osgood witnessed many of the stirring events of early California history, arriving here during the extreme youth of the State. She and her husband carved out fortunes in the State's virgin soils and mountains and both were known among the most prominent of the early California pioneers.

Their two sons founded the big Osgood drug firm in this city and have for long been prominent in Oakland affairs.

Lassen's Last Eruption Spectacular Sight

By Associated Press.

REDDING, March 20.—Lassen peak began its eighty-second eruption as the sun rose today. A great column of smoke, as large as the top of the peak, rose straight through the still air to a height of thousands of feet.

As the sunlight flashed through the top of this immense pillar of smoke it produced brilliant, iridescent colors, forming a billowing canopy of rainbow clouds as the column spread at the top and floated gently southward, disappearing in the distance.

Ashes fell heavily, dropping around the peak. This eruption is one of the heaviest witnessed here.

WANTED!

Middle-Aged Men and Women and Older.

This class require different glasses for reading than for looking off—it is not only annoying, but wrong, to look at a distance through glasses intended for near. The wonderful new Onepiece Bifocal solves this very important problem and makes it possible to enjoy near and far vision without discomfort or the slightest inconvenience. The highest degree of perfection was achieved in the invention of this new lens—the grinding is so skillfully done that an observer will not notice that they are bifocals. NEW OVAL MADE FOR HIGH SPEED

Records Are Expected to Be Broken When Colleges Meet.

BERKELEY, March 20.—When the track team from the University of Illinois digs spikes into the new track at the University of California on April 3, all questions will be settled as to the efficiency of the new oval. This structure, complete in every detail, will cost in the neighborhood of $80,000 and will be the best running track in the West.

Very few athletic fields in the United States can compare with this new addition to the athletic division of the university and it is thought that records will be broken before three meets have been run on this course. One of the reasons for this prediction is the fact that the new oval has a straightaway of 220 yards, wide enough to accommodate six or seven men with ease. With this stretch of cinder path, both dashes and hurdle races will be run without a turn to slow down the speed of the men, and with such stars as Howard Drew, Fred Kelly, Jimmie Todd and other notables of the track world in action, the dashes and hurdles should be run in record time.

The constructing engineers who have worked on the new course have stated that with the process used in the construction, the athletes should be able to get the greatest efficiency out of their efforts. A special method of construction was used, which included the laying of rice mats to give the proper spring to the surface, special cinders, a clay and gravel base and a concrete foundation. Perfect results are expected from the work of these men and an informal tryout of the course held by Coach Walter Christie the early part of the week seems to bear out their theory.

Christie took some of his men up to the new oval and instructed them to run the 100-yard dash without digging into the surface unnecessarily and also not to exert themselves. The result was the fast time of :10 3-5 seconds, with second rate men doing the experimenting.

The men who ran the distance were enthusiastic in praise of the track, and predict the smashing of several Pacific Coast records when such men as Drew and Parker get into action in the 100-yard dash.

In this impromptu sprint, E. B. Herrick of the university had the honor of winning the first event held on the California stadium. Who will win the first formal event is hard to tell but Captain Eddie Stanton of the California team it is thought will come very close to this honor in the 100-yard dash against the Illinois team on April 3. The track itself is complete but the stands are still under the process of construction and it is not likely that they will be finished until the latter part of this month.

Y. M. C. A. MEMBERS TO ENJOY TOUR OF BAY

BERKELEY, March 20.—Through the courtesy of the Golden West Tours Company the Berkeley Y. M. C. A. will join with the Oakland Y. M. C. A. in a bay excursion today, leaving First and Broadway, Oakland, at 5 p. m. and returning after the evening illuminations at the Exposition grounds.

The trip will include the following points of interest: Oakland's inner and outer harbor, Berkeley waterfront, Point Richmond, Brook's Island, Red Rock, The Brothers Islands, San Pablo Bay, Point San Quentin, California City, Raccoon Straits, Angel Island, Belvedere Cove, Richardson's Bay, Sausalito, Lime Point, Point Bonita, Mile Rock, Yacht Harbor, Exposition illumination, Alcatraz Island and Man o' War Row.

The trip is for Y. M. C. A. members and their lady friends, and there will be accommodations for 300. Bring basket lunches. A full trip ticket may be secured from E. A. Corey, Membership Secretary of the local association.

NEW BOATS TO RACE WITH ALAMEDA CLUB

ALAMEDA, March 20.—Prosperity has favored the Aeolian Yacht Club of this city, materially as well as in the usual form of enthusiasm. In the last three months, six new boats have been added to the fleet, all of which will make a strong bid for international honors.

The power boats have also been increased to such an extent that the Aeolians have filed an application for admission to the American Power Boat Association, under whose auspices many races of national championship values will be held in San Francisco during the Exposition year.

Yawl Pearl R. formerly the flagship of the Sausalito club has been sailed over to Alameda by her owners Cassidy and Jones, and will be in first class condition for opening day. Sloop Rival from the Oakland Yacht Club, and sloop Plug Hat which has just been completed by Shorty Watts will be the other valuable Aeolian acquisitions.

MARSHALL'S ARRIVAL TO STOP MEMBERSHIP HUSTLE

BERKELEY, March 20. — The membership hustle at the Berkeley Y. M. C. A. which has been in progress for several weeks will close tonight.

The original plan was to secure one hundred members before the arrival of President Wilson. The "Member" ship sailed from Washington, D. C., on February 20 and has been following a charted course on a large map in the lobby. The ship passed through the Canal and is now off the west coast of Mexico.

President Wilson's change of plans did not stop the race, for Vice-President Marshall's name was immediately substituted. As the President's representative will arrive tomorrow morning, those contemplating joining the Association are urged to send in their applications at once and help bring in the "ship" on schedule time.

ILLNESS CHECKS WORK OF NOTED CIVIC WORKER

ALAMEDA, March 20.—The many friends of Mrs. Cora E. Jones, prominent civic worker, will regret to hear that her recent illness, which has interfered with her activities along all lines for several months past has developed a more serious phase and that she will probably be afflicted more or less for the remainder of her life.

Mrs. Jones was district president of the California Federation of Women's clubs, when the convention was held in Alameda a few years ago and has friends far and near, not only on account of her prominence but her cheerfulness and her executive ability exercised with rare tact and judgment.

She has been president of the Oakland Civic Center for several terms.

WILL TOUR EXPOSITION.

ALAMEDA, March 20. — The members of the art history section of the Adelphian club will make a tour of the galleries in the Fine Arts building at the P. P. I. E. on Monday next, leaving here on the 12:30 train from Park street. Mrs. S. A. Brooks will, as curator of the section, be the director of the tour and will give much valuable information regarding the paintings.

REV. HODGKIN TO PREACH.

ALAMEDA, March 20. — Rev. W. R. H. Hodgkin of Berkeley, dean of the San Francisco Convocation of the Episcopal church, will tomorrow evening deliver a sermon at Christ Episcopal church in this city. His subject will be "The Young Person and Religion," the closing sermon on "Young People and Their Relationships."

HAT-PINS? NO! SWORDS FENCING BY FAIR CO-EDS

MISS ESTHER KING, ONE OF THE CRACK SOPHOMORE FENCERS AT THE UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA.

BERKELEY, March 20.—Among the progressive young women of the University of California the hat pin as a weapon of defense is quite out of date. Henceforth it will be the light sword, when that is available, or the parasol or umbrella when it is not. For a group of the young women are diligently learning the attack on tierce and the riposte en quatre and all the rest of the agile fencing motions that are hidden under polite French terms.

And in the back of the heads of several of the fair fencers is the idea that perhaps sometime the knowledge will stand them in good stead. For an umbrella or parasol, if it is sufficiently strong, can be wielded much like a rapier and perhaps with excellent defensive result in a time of need.

Miss Esther King is one of the enthusiastic co-ed fencers at the university, being one of the sophomore representatives. Miss Lyba Sheffield is manager of the fencing squad, and one of the crack wielders of the light sword. There are a number of others, all busily practising under the direction of a coach. A number of matches are planned for an exhibition to be held in the near future.

NEW MAIL CONNECTION ARRANGED FOR HAYWARD

HAYWARD, March 20.—After working throughout his entire term of office here to have direct mail delivery from the Southern Pacific trains in connection with the Hayward postoffice, Postmaster Alonzo Bradford is retiring just as his pet scheme of postal improvement goes into operation.

Direct connection between the local postoffice and the Southern Pacific trains, which Bradford has just succeeded in establishing, will mean a saving of several hours to the residents in the dispatching and receiving of mail. Eastern and San Joaquin Valley mail is now put off at the Hayward station instead of being taken on to Oakland and sent out to Hayward by the electric street car. The mail east and south goes at 1:50 a. m. and returns at 3:15 p. m.

This direct mail service was [illegible] in operation but was discontinued at the time the former horse car franchise between the Southern Pacific depot and the center of town was cancelled by the trustees. The mail will now be carried back and forward between the depot and postoffice by a horse bus.

ALAMEDA GIRL FIXES DATE OF WEDDING

ALAMEDA, March 20.—Miss Helen Vollmar has set the date of her marriage to T. Frank Murphy for Tuesday, April 6, immediately following Easter. Her attendants will be Miss Miriam Vollmar, maid of honor, and Miss Helen Watkins, bridesmaid. James Vollmar will be best man.

Before the wedding day a number of social compliments will be planned for Miss Vollmar, who is one of the brilliantly gifted young girls of this city. She is well known in the bay cities as a singer and a member of the [illegible] faculty of the [illegible] School. Her circle of friends is large and the coming wedding will be of interest to many outside of her home city.

FINDS SUITABLE HOME AFTER 3-YEAR SEARCH

SAN LEANDRO, March 20.—To hunt up a sequestered home suitable for a bachelor doesn't seem a hard task, but nevertheless it entailed three years' search by Ed Wamsley, wealthy mining man, who after going from one end of California to the other has at last found his long-looked-for haven of rest amid the cherry orchards.

"I found only one other place in the state that could compare with this in [illegible] but there was some trouble with the title deeds, so I didn't [illegible]."

Wamsley told J. D. Faustina, real estate man who made the deal, that realty operators all over the state failed to land.

Wamsley's home is situated on Peralta lane and is as he put it, just to his taste, private and [illegible]

CHILD DRINKS FROM BOTTLE: TAKES POISON

ELMHURST, March 20.—Swallowing a quantity of poison from a bottle she found, Bessie, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gilser of One Hundred and Second avenue, had a narrow escape [illegible] saved the child's life. She is now [illegible] The little girl took the bottle from a shelf to taste what was in it, and had already drunk a large dose before her parents discovered her with the bottle.

ALAMEDA WOMAN DIES.

ALAMEDA, March 20.—Death yesterday summoned Mrs. Mary Porteous Mitchell, a prominent resident of this city at her home, 511 Grand street. Mrs. Mitchell was the wife of Charles Mitchell and mother of Elsie B. and Elspeth W. Mitchell. She was a native of Penetang, Ontario, Canada. The funeral will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the late residence. Cremation will be private.

QUEEN THANKS BERKELEY GUILD

Gifts of Garments to Relieve War Sufferers Are Opened in Palace.

BERKELEY, March 20.—Word of the arrival in England of the gifts of the Overseas Relief Fund Needlework Guild in Berkeley, and of the enthusiastic appreciation with which they were received, has come to Mrs. J. H. Clements of 1527 Scenic avenue. Many Oakland and Fruitvale women contributed generously and the news that their donations have reached their destination will be greeted with more than interest.

This letter, which is an official acknowledgment from Queen Mary's Needlework Guild, is addressed to Lady Lawley as follows:

"Queen Mary's Needlework Guild,
"Friary Court, St. James Palace,
"February 15, 1915.

"Hon. Lady Lawley, Hon. Sec.:

"Dear Madam: Your splendid consignment has just arrived and been unpacked and I am desired by Her Majesty to thank you and the ladies of the Overseas Relief Needlework Guild for your kindness in helping her in so practical a manner. The Queen was here when the things arrived and was delighted with the complete sets of clothing for little girls and the layettes for babies. Will you convey Her Majesty's thanks to the ladies who made them and please assure them I shall have no difficulty in finding some one by whom they will be very much appreciated. I am working in touch with the Belgian legation and numerous societies for looking after this unfortunate people, and am continually asked for nice clothing for some of the Belgian ladies and their children.

QUEEN DEEPLY TOUCHED.

"Her Majesty is very much touched by the wonderful wave of sympathy that has flowed from every corner of the globe and from nowhere more than America and she hopes the American ladies who have been working for the [illegible] realize how much she appreciates this.

"I received a card from California at the same time as yours and only having 'Seabright Auxiliary' on it I am not sure whether it came from you or not. Should this not be the case, might I ask you to trace it for me if possible?

"It may interest you and your workers to see how our things are being dispatched and I enclose one of our weekly lists which will show you how French, Belgians and Servians are all having their share.

"ANNIE LAWLEY."

The Daily Graphic also acknowledges a gift from the Overseas Relief Fund Guild in its issue of February 17. It was headed "Splendid Gift from Ladies of California," and the comment was as follows:

JOURNALISTIC COMMENT.

"From the Overseas Relief Fund Needlework Guild, Berkeley, California, a splendid consignment of gifts arrived yesterday to be distributed by the Daily Graphic among various regiments now serving at the front. Mrs. Clements in forwarding them explains that the society was inaugurated at the beginning of the war by British women and since then cases of comforts have been dispatched to widows and orphans of our sailors and soldiers in addition to quantities of garments given to Belgian refugees.

"Mrs. Clements has asked us to send the goods, mufflers, belts, cuffs, jerseys etc., to the following regiments. The Dorset Regiment, West Yorkshire, Gordon Highlanders, Black Watch, Welsh Regiment, Welsh Fusiliers, Munster Fusiliers, Loyal Irish Rifles, Indian Troops, Sailors in the North Sea Fleet, British Red Cross Hospital in France.

"I am enclosing a charming little letter for a fighter," she says, "written by an old lady, a widow dependent on her daughter. The old lady spent her Christmas gift of money in buying wool (which is very expensive here). She herself had two brothers killed in the American Civil War, so she realizes the sorrow of war."

STUDENTS ARE TO CELEBRATE PEACE

BERKELEY, March 20.—The special services recommended for Peace Day by Pope Benedict XV to be held on Passion Sunday, March 21, will be carried out in full in Newman Hall Chapel by the Paulist Fathers assisted by Rev. William Hughes of Washington, D. C., and by the students of the University of California.

The services will be opened by the celebration of Holy Mass at half past ten in the morning. At this mass, Father Hughes who is the Assistant Director of the Bureau of Catholic Indian Missions at Washington, will deliver the sermon on "True Citizenship."

Following the Mass and after the Psalm "Miserere Mei, Deus" and the Antiphon "Da Pacem, Domine etc., are sung, the Blessed Sacrament will be exposed on the altar to remain there for public veneration until five o'clock in the afternoon. The services will be concluded by the recitation of the Litany of the Saints, followed by Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. Students of the University will be present in the Chapel throughout the day.

Special music has been arranged by Miss Marie Giorgianni, the organist of Newman Hall for the services of the day; the program for the Mass at half past ten at which Mr. Walton C. Webb and Mr. Thomas Burland will be the soloists, being as follows: Organ, Cujus Animam-Rossini; Kyrie, Lejeal; offertory, Stabat Mater (Gregorian); Domine Non Sum Dignus, (Gounod); O Salutaris Hostia, (Gregorian); Miserere (50th Psalm); chant, Laudate Dominum, chant.

FILLS VACANT PULPIT.

HAYWARD, March 20.—In the absence of Rev. C. B. Rogers, who goes to Ventura on the invitation of the Ventura County Pioneer Association to deliver an address at the memorial services for the late Thomas R. Bard, former United States Senator for California, Rev. C. O. Main, of Vernon, B. C. and brother of George Main of Castro Valley will occupy the pulpit of the Hayward Presbyterian [illegible] evening service.

ALAMEDA PERSONALS

ALAMEDA, March 20.—Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] Adams, who have been spending the last six months in the southern part of the state, are soon to return to Alameda.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Huston entertained the Alta Club at her home [illegible] Those present were Mesdames [illegible] Weber, Mathew [illegible], [illegible], Julian McCown, [illegible], Howard Gregg, Charles Frederickson and Huey Houston.

The Research Club will meet Monday, March 22, at 2:30 p. m., at the home of Mrs. F. W. Warren, 2120 Pacific avenue. Miss Katherine Knowlton will be hostess. The election of officers will take place at the meeting.

Miss Alice Palmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Palmer, formerly of this city, will be hostess for an informal tea at the Hotel Oakland next Thursday afternoon. The affair is given in honor of Miss Jack Ewing of Michigan, who is dividing her time between the W. S. Palmer home and that of her sister, Mrs. E. A. Palmer, now of San Francisco.

TREE PLANTED BY BERKELEY MAYOR

Arbor Day Celebrated by the Native Daughters at Franklin School.

BERKELEY, March 20.—Mayor Heywood was enthusiastically applauded by pupils of the Franklin school, members of the Native Daughters and other citizens who gathered at the school yesterday to attend the Arbor Day exercises there. A [illegible] was planted by the mayor, who later delivered an address [illegible] to which the children listened with interest and in the course of which he mentioned that the Franklin [illegible] place of his very warm interest.

The exercises were under the direction of the Native Daughters of Berkeley parlor with Mrs. May Berwick presiding and Miss M. [illegible] Webster, assisting. An original song "Hail, California," by the principal of the school, J. T. Preston, was sung. Talks were made by Marie Besing, Richard Ehlers, Grace Dean, Cecelia Grimshaw and Lillian Race. The tree was presented by Mrs. Jennie Brown, district deputy of the Native Daughters, and received for the school in a brief address by Superintendent Morris C. James. Mayor Heywood turned the first shovelful of dirt about its roots, after which others deposited soil. Songs were sung by the school, assisted by the school orchestra. At the close of the ceremonies of planting the tree, which took place in the school yard, refreshments were served.

TONS OF LADY BUGS DEVOUR PEA APHIS

U. C. Saves Crop of San Leandro Man Threatened With Quick Destruction.

SAN LEANDRO, March 20.—Hungry lady bugs to the number of 250,000 were turned loose in a field of early peas here, which were threatened with destruction by the deadly green pea aphis. With appetites whetted by long fasting, the lady bugs got busy and within a few hours after their appearance on the scene, not an aphis could be found.

The experiment was carried on on the farm of J. C. Faustina, who has one of the biggest acreages in the county under peas. Faustina had tried Paris green in an attempt to exterminate the aphis, but without effect. He called in Fred Seulberger, horticultural expert, to his assistance. Seulberger had received similar requests for assistance from other farmers throughout the county who saw their early pea crops threatened with destruction. He secured two tons of lady bugs through the University of California agricultural department from the northern part of the state. The lady bug, as is well known, has a gastronomic weakness for pea aphis. Distributed among the farmers and spread among the peas, the bug speedily rid the fields of the pest.

VAUDEVILLE SHOW WILL BE CHARTER DAY EVENT

BERKELEY, March 20.—Charter Day at the University of California to be held Tuesday, March 23, will be featured by an address by Vice-President Thomas M. Marshall, who will speak to the university public at the Greek Theater in the afternoon.

The entertainment of this day will be varied and entertaining. The annual Skull and Keys Faculty baseball game will furnish comedy and diversion for the students and faculty and a concert by the cadet band will also be on the program for the afternoon. California field will be used for the comical stunts and burlesque acts to be produced by the Skull and Key society and a vaudeville entertainment is also scheduled.

The men students of the university will be given a luncheon by the university women and after the day's entertainment the procession will form for the annual march up the hill to the Greek Theater where Vice-President Marshall will address the members of the university.

MUSICAL FESTIVAL IS PLANNED FOR CHURCH

ALAMEDA, March 20.—Understanding what an important part music plays in church life, the music committee of the Christ Episcopal church is encouraging the participation of all music lovers in the congregation and especially the young folk. A cantata is to be given on the evening of Good Friday, March 29. The cantata to be presented is one of Dudley Buck's best. The vocalists taking the solo parts are Miss Eva Morrison, soprano; Miss Gladys McDonald contralto, M. Hawley, baritone and N. Cadman, tenor.

Tomorrow evening, a special musical service will be rendered. On this occasion Rev. Mr. Hodgkins, dean of the San Francisco Convocation will come across the bay to speak. He has selected for his subject "The Young People and the Church."

The morning and evening services at the Christ Church have become musical events which are anticipated from week to week by an appreciative following among the music lovers.

DUTY OF LAYMAN THEME OF NEWMAN CLUB TALK

BERKELEY, March 20.—The lecture by Joseph Scott, the well known Los Angeles attorney who is coming to Berkeley to speak to the students of the University of California under the auspices of the Newman Club, will be held in Newman Hall auditorium this evening at 8 o'clock. Mr. Scott will speak on "The Layman and His Duty."

Mr. Joseph E. Stanton, president of the Newman Club will preside and will introduce the speaker. The public is invited to attend this lecture.

Last evening in Newman Hall Chapel, Rev. Thomas [illegible] O'Neill, C. S. P., conducted the regular Friday evening Lenten devotions consisting of Stations of the Cross and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

BISHOP HUGHES SPEAKER AT FIRESIDE MEETING

BERKELEY, March 20. — "Christianity and the Church," was the topic of a lecture delivered yesterday afternoon by Bishop Edwin H. Hughes before the [illegible] Fireside Club. This was the fifth of a series of fireside talks given by the various prominent men in Y. M. C. A. work throughout the world. The sixth and last of the series will be given Friday evening, March 26, by Fletcher Brockman, national secretary of the Y. M. C. A. work in China whose topic will be "Christianity and Life."

SHOWER FOR BRIDE.

ALAMEDA, March 20.—A miscellaneous shower will be given in honor of the bride-elect Eva Addington by the Fair Oaks Rebekah Lodge at the lodge tonight. This is one of the many pretty affairs to be given to Miss Addington whose engagement announcement came as a pleasant surprise to so many of her friends recently.

RIFT CAUSES U. C. TEAM TO DELAY TRIP

BERKELEY, March 19. — Because of a dispute between the Los Angeles Athletic club and the swimming team from the University of California, the proposed trip of the California men to Los Angeles has been postponed. The dispute arose over the events which should be included in the match that was to take place tomorrow in the south. The meet has been postponed until April 1.

The bone of contention arose over the fact that the southerners wished to eliminate the 88-yard swim, in which event Ludy Langer, captain of the California team, and Jim Besler, one of the veterans, were entered. As these men are given more than an even chance of winning this event, it was thought poor sportsmanship on the part of the Los Angeles club to try and eliminate this event. In its place it was proposed by the Los Angeles Athletic club to hold two diving events in both of which Cliff Bowes, champion diver of the coast and a member of the southern team would be entered.

Not wishing to lose a trip to Los Angeles, the university team decided to compromise by leaving out the 880-yard swim and counting only five points for first place in both diving events instead of five for each one.

A swimming match was proposed with the San Diego Rowing club but satisfactory arrangements could not be made and the men will have to content themselves with one contest while in the south.

ALAMEDA OARSMEN OUT FOR HONORS

Regattas Scheduled for P. P. I. E. and San Diego Tempt Cracks to Train.

ALAMEDA, March 20.—This year will be the biggest season that rowing has ever had on the Pacific Coast. The P. P. I. E. has offered $2500 for two regattas and the prospects are that San Diego will stage the National regatta off Coronado.

The Alameda Boat Club oarsmen have started training. All the old members and the old oarsmen that have carried off the big honors in the past have turned out and there will be over twenty new men out for the work.

The new boat donated by the people of Alameda is all ready and will no doubt be the first across the line in the big events to be held.

The large life boats were donated by H. Pearson of the E. V. Rideout Transportation Company and will be used this year to patrol the estuary and watch out for the young men who venture out into deep water. This will help a great deal to prevent any loss of life on the canal.

Reminiscences of a Veteran Sport Ed. by "Mr. Muldoon"

HOW THEY BECAME FIGHTERS

(By MR. MULDOON.)

How did they happen to become prize fighters?

Again and again I put the query to the old and new champion pugilists and always there is a strange story with the reply.

I asked little George Dixon the question one day long ago. "Little Chocolate" they called him—the greatest fighter of his weight that ever lived.

"I just can't tell you how I happened to start fighting," said Dixon. "I was jest nacherally bawn that way, I guess.

"I come to live down in Halifax, Nova Scotia, and when I come to this country and started at work as a bell hop in Baltimo' some of them niggahs began to pick on me.

"And I never lost a fight in these early days. That gave me confidence and I've been on the turf ever since."

* * *

Dixon won two world's championships, the bantam and the featherweight. He won the American bantam title from Cal McCarty, the champion, on February 7, 1890. That same year Tom O'Rourke took George to England and matched him with Nunc Wallace, champion of England, at the old Pelican Club of London, which is now the world-famous National Sporting Club.

They fought June 27, and Dixon knocked the English champion out in the eighteenth round after a vicious fight. Dixon, by the way, was the first man to take an English championship out of that country in any branch of athletics.

George's last important fight as a bantamweight was held at the old California Athletic Club on July 28, 1891. In that battle he knocked out Abe Willis of Australia in five rounds and became undisputed bantamweight champion of the world.

* * *

Standing on the barge United at Saginaw, Michigan, one day pushing lumber off with the rest of the dock wallopers was a little sawed-off man.

A big fellow who had been bossing started picking on the little fellow. The latter demurred, there was a battle of fists and the big man stretched his length on the lumber pile.

The little fellow was George Lavigne, afterwards known far and near as the "Saginaw Kid," champion lightweight of the world and perhaps the greatest fighter of his inches that ever lived.

After beating all the fighters on this part of the globe Sam Fitzpatrick, Lavigne's manager, took George to England to fight Dick Burge, the English lightweight champion, before the National Sporting Club of London.

Hearing of their arrival in England "Peggy" Bettinson, match maker of the club, commanded Fitzpatrick to come to him at once.

Fitzpatrick obeyed orders, and in company with a cute little lad, who looked like a cherub, he invaded the sacred inner offices of the last word in sporting clubs, where Bettinson was sitting puffing a cheroot.

Bettinson pushed a big chair out in front of Fitzpatrick, bidding him be seated and proffering a great whacking cheroot to ease and comfort the American manager. But Bettinson didn't deign to notice the little chap who was with Fitzpatrick, Peggy probably mistaking him for a messenger that Sam brought with him for convenience or to pack his grip.

* * *

The little lad hopped on a high stool and let his legs, which were short ones, dangle half way to the floor. He was as unconcerned as a boy could be.

"Well, Sammy," said Bettinson, "our Burge is a grite man and I 'opes you 'ave a good 'un to h'oppose 'im."

"The best ever," was Fitzpatrick's assuring comeback.

"H' and h'I supposed you'll 'ave 'im h'along in toime for the fights?"

"Have him along," roared Fitzpatrick. "Why that's him sitting on the stool. Mr. Lavigne, meet Mr. Bettinson."

Bettinson was dumfounded and it took him several minutes to regain his composure.

"That's 'im? Aw h'I say, Sammy, stop your spoofin. H'it's no time for jokin'."

Fitzpatrick finally convinced Bettinson that the cherublike lad was actually the American champion.

"Oh, well, Sammy," muttered Bettinson, "the fawncy will not take to 'im. Lor' bless me, 'e looks like a school boy."

And Bettinson was correct in his surmise that the "fawncy," the real patrons of the National Sporting Club, would not take to Lavigne. When Lavigne lifted his dukes against the great Burge it looked like a bout between a well fed policeman and a chubby newsboy.

In the first round, when Lavigne got in a good one on Burge, Lord Lonsdale jumped from his seat—a very unusual piece of conduct on the part of any patron of the National Club, and yelled, "Well hit, my lad. You shall 'ave a ten-pun note for it. My dear little boy, you're a Spartan."

The betting was five to one on Burge and once or twice it looked as though Burge would win, but Lavigne finally got his famous body blows started and then it was all off with the English champion. The Kid won with a knockout.

There have been many prize fight champions who came up out of the sea, and Jack Langan, the Irish champion, was one of them.

Jack, at the age of 13, went to Portugal from Ireland, where he had a most adventurous career, but got sick of sailoring. He was always fighting at sea.

He thrashed all the big men who came along, and some of the fights went for hours, attended only by a handful of spectators.

After Langan had proved his metal, Tom Spring, the English champion, gave him a match.

The battle came off in Worcester race course, where there was an enormous assemblage. If one can believe all the published accounts, it was the greatest crowd that ever witnessed a prize fight. Some reckon the number as a quarter of a million, but there is little doubt that that is an exaggeration. But it must have been a great crush and many were injured by the collapsing of one stand.

Eighty-six rounds were fought. The affair lasted 2 hours and 39 minutes. Langan was one of the most difficult propositions Tom Spring ever had to face, but nevertheless Langan only once looked like winning and was bitterly disappointed. The two men met again five months later. Langan lasted seventy-six rounds and 1 hour and 40 minutes. The two then became life-long friends. After the second fight, which took place at Chichester, Langan gave up the ring and took a tavern in Liverpool.

CUBAN BOUT WILL BE ON SUNDAY; FIRST IN HISTORY

Johnson - Willard Battle Is Scheduled for Easter at Havana.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, March 20.—If the promoters of the Johnson-Willard heavyweight championship bout adhere to their announcement to hold the contest on Easter day, April 4, it will be the first time that a ring match of this caliber has been held on a Sunday. Championship bouts in many classes have been held on holidays in all parts of America and Europe, but pugilists and promoters have heretofore confined their ring activities to days other than the Sabbath.

Johnson won final recognition as the world's champion by defeating Jeffries at Reno, Nev., on the Fourth of July, 1910. Bob Fitzsimmons won the heavyweight title from Jim Corbett at Carson City, Nev., on St. Patrick's day, 1897. Jack Johnson gained his first claim to championship honors by defeating Tommy Burns at Sydney, N. S. W., on December 26, 1908, which is known as "Boxing day" throughout the British empire. Because of the difference in time the result of this battle was known throughout the United States on the preceding day—Christmas. In other weight classes holiday bouts in which championships changed are numerous. Young Corbett's victory over Terry McGovern was won on Thanksgiving day; "Battling" Nelson lost his lightweight title to Ad Wolgast on Washington's birthday, 1910, and the list might be continued almost indefinitely.

Sporting events of various kinds are held on Sunday in Central and South America and Continental Europe, but aside from baseball, bicycle racing, track and field athletics and association football games, Sabbath sports have never been popular in the United States. In Mexico, Cuba and South America, bull fights, cocking mains and minor sports are or were held on the first day of the week. In Europe several classic turf events, including the French Grand Prix, are always scheduled for Sunday. Ring records show that few bouts of importance have been held abroad on Sunday, and American tabulations show an equal scarcity in this respect. Where they have been held on Sunday the contests were those of the early periods of pugilism and the selection of the day due to police activity which upset the plans of the promoters. Such a case was the Jack Dempsey-George La Blanche battle, held on a barge in Long Island Sound, early Sunday morning, March 14, 1886.

COAST RACE LONGEST.

The opening and closing dates for the leading major and minor leagues for the season of 1915 show that the Pacific Coast League will, as usual, play the longest season. The Pacific Coast schedule, which opens on March 30 and continues until October 24, calls for close to seven months of continuous play. In the east and middle-west the American, National and Federal leagues will carry their pennant races through a season of approximately six months. The dates for the initial and final games of the season are as follows:

League.	Open.	Close.
National	April 14	October 7
American	April 14	October 7
Federal	April 10	......
American Assn.	April 22	September 29
Pacific Coast	March 30	October 24
Northwestern	April 20	September 19
New England	April 30	September 6
Texas	April 8	September 6
Southern	April 13	September 26
Georgia	April 30	August 21
N. Carolina	April 22	September 15

ROWING SEASON ADVANCES.

Owing to the open winter, rowing at the eastern colleges and universities is further advanced than usual this spring. Yale, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Syracuse and Columbia have had crews on the water a number of times and in some cases established new records for early season outdoor training. Reports from the various institutions indicate that because of the advantage gained by this early training the selection of the varsity combinations will be made in time to permit the crews as a whole to reach a high state of perfection in oar handling by the end of June, when the championship regattas are to be held.

Although the schedules and dates for the college crews are not complete in all cases, the fixtures as arranged at present indicate a season of rowing fully up to the 1914 standard. Tentative dates for dual, triangular and championship regattas have been arranged as follows:

Date.	Regatta.	Place.
April 3	Yale vs. Pennsylvania	Philadelphia
April 10	Pac. Coast Intercol. Rec.	Oakland
April 17	Princeton vs. Navy	Annapolis
April 24	Harvard vs. Navy	Annapolis
May 1	Pennsylvania vs. Navy	Annapolis
May 8	Pennsylvania-Princeton-Columbia	Princeton
May 15	American Henley	Philadelphia
May 16	Cornell-Princeton-Yale	Princeton
June 25	Harvard vs. Yale	New London
June 28	Intercollegiate Regatta	Poughkeepsie

The list of registered tournaments prepared under the auspices of the Interstate Trapshooting Association for the coming season shows a big gain over the same compilation in 1914. More than 200 tournaments have already been scheduled and a large addition to this list is expected before the season is under way. The list of championship events is as follows:

Great American Handicap—Chicago, Ill., August 16, 17, 18, 19 and 20.

SUBSIDIARY HANDICAPS.

Southern Handicap—Memphis, Tenn., May 11, 12 and 13.

Tenth Western Handicap—St. Louis, Mo., June 15, 16 and 17.

Pacific Coast Handicap—San Diego, Cal., July 5, 6 and 7.

SEALS ARE 'BATTY;' SOX CAN'T SCARE 'EM ANY OLD WAY

Chicago Players and Scribes Say Seals and Angels Are League Class.

By "BILLY FITZ."

The Seals are still bat-crazy. They waded into the Chicago White Sox yesterday just as though they were ordinary mortals, and they pounded out a 10-4 victory with ridiculous ease. Meanwhile the Angels were wiping up the Sox Yannigans for the third or fourth time. All of which is small consolation for Oakland fans, who can't get over the fact that in forty-five innings against the visiting Chicago players, Tyler Christian's men were able to only score in one.

The plain truth is that the Oaks, as constituted right now, even with the addition of Mundorff, are not strong enough to compete with any club in the league except Salt Lake. They have a great pitching staff, and a good defensive club, but when it comes to ringing the scorer's bell, buenos noches.

The addition of Jimmy Johnston in center, with Middleton in left and Mundorff right, would add forty per cent to the effectiveness of the club. No doubt, a season in the majors has not done "Burgler Jimmy" any harm.

It looks as though Los Angeles and San Francisco will be fighting it out this season, for they have the sluggers and that's what will count in the 1915 race. Rowland, Collins & Co., likewise the visiting Chicago newspapermen who have seen every club in action, pick the Seals and the Angels as far and away the class of the circuit. To the Seals, they give the edge, and certainly on the work of the teams in the past month, Harry Wolverton's men have convinced everyone of their value.

There is nothing quite so popular in America as a hitting ball club. No brilliant fielding play can ever evoke the spontaneous applause of the crowd that greets a batting rally. Poor fielding and bone head plays can be forgiven if only they sting that old ball, for you simply cannot win ball games without scoring runs.

Harry Wolter's Santa Clara collegians visited Pleasanton yesterday and were trimmed by the Oaks 8-2. Glavenich and Christian worked for the leaguers, and almost everyone was inserted in the line-up at one time or another. In the evening Pat Crawford, hotel proprietor, gave the boys a big feed and dance as a farewell party. The squad came into Oakland today and will remain here until the season opens.

The Beavers have gone into secret practice at Fresno. Next week they play their annual spring series with the American colored Giants. Krause, Higginbatham and Evans are the only veteran pitchers in shape. Herb Murphy is to contest with Bobby Coltrin for the shortstop job according to McCredie.

Far from awed by the class of their Major League opponents, the San Francisco team trounced the White Sox by a 10 to 4 score. The Seals gleaned eighteen hits of the delivery of Hi. Jasper, five of them being driven out by "Duckie" Jones the recruit third baseman.

Eddie Collins again failed to live up to his reputation as a hitter, and contributed an error to the pile. Bunny Brief was the hitting demon for the Sox, poling out a homer in the fifth inning, which tied the score. The Seals were undaunted, however, and sailed around the bags for three more runs in their half of the inning.

Jack Killilay was a visitor at the game in San Francisco yesterday. Handsome Jack has not yet come to an agreement with the Oaks but will probably see Christian today.

Harry Wolter has signed his contract with the Angels. As a result of a conference with President Darmody and Manager Dillon, the Los Angeles outfielder annexed his name to a three year contract. Harry is now coaching the Santa Clara team, and will report to the Angels on March 25.

Manager McCredie confined his team to signal work and holding men on bases yesterday. The Portland Boss is putting his men through the hardest work of the training season in preparation for the game against the Chicago Colored Giants tomorrow.

With the opening of the Pacific Coast League season on March 30, the Salt Lake team will line up as follows:

Pitchers—Arellanes, Gregory, Eastley, Laroy, John Williams, Claude Williams, Hall, Halla.

Catchers—Hannah, Lynn, Rohrer.

First Base—Tennant.

Second Base—Gedeon.

Third Base—Hallinan.

Shortstop—Orr.

Utility—Barbour.

Outfield—Zacner, Shinn, Ryan.

Utility—Faye.

Los Angeles fans are happy today over the news that Outfielder Harry Wolter has patched up his difference with the club management, and has signed a three year contract. Wolter will report on March 25. He has kept in shape through the winter by coaching the ball team at Santa Clara university.

Tom Darmody and Ed Maier, the southern magnate, have wired to President Allan T. Baum urging him to call a vote of the directors upon the question of returning to the double umpire system. Fans up and down the circuit are complaining that the one-umpire system is inadequate.

Hen Berry is believed to favor the double umpire plan, and Walter McCredie's views are uncertain. Frank Leavitt is convinced that all umpires by nature are to be avoided, and the fewer there are, the less the Oaks will have to combat. Frank attributes much of Oakland's troubles the past two years to rotten umpiring, and if there are to be two umpires this season, he proposes to know before hand who they are going to be.

"I'd rather have one bad umpire, than two bad ones," said Leavitt, "but if we can get two good umpires for each game, and the fans want it, I won't object. It is not a question of money with me."

Coming to the Aid of Oaks?

The Oakland Club is making the wires hum today in an effort to close a deal for Jimmy Johnston, outfielder for the Chicago Cubs and star of the San Francisco Seals of 1913. Johnston is the most popular player the Coast League ever knew, holds the record for stolen bases on this circuit, and would be of vast value to the Oaks.

PHIL KOERNER IS IMPROVED

PLEASANTON, March 20.—Phil Koerner is better this morning following an attack of acute indigestion immediately after the game against Santa Clara yesterday afternoon. Phil played yesterday distinguishing himself by polling out a home run. After reaching the hotel at Livermore, Koerner was attacked by severe pains in his stomach, and Manager Christian immediately sent for a doctor. Phil improved steadily, and will probably be up and about later in the day.

ANGELS BEAT YANNS BY SLUGGING

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 20.—Five runs scored by the Los Angeles Coast Leaguers in the seventh inning, including a homer by Maggart, center-fielder, won the game for them this afternoon against the Chicago White Sox second team, at Washington Park. The score was 10 to 9.

BOXING EVERY WEEK DOES NOT TROUBLE AMATEURS

Freddie Welsh Should Find How Local Boxers Keep From Getting Stale.

(By THE TIMEKEEPER.)

Freddie Welsh has gone stale, according to the opinion of a great many veteran trainers, and the reason is ascribed to the fact that Freddie has been fighting too often and picking up too much kale. It is hard to say which is the most to blame for Freddie's condition, the worry caused by his sudden riches or too much training, but it is a cinch that whichever way you take it, the fact remains that the lightweight champ is scrapping too often.

But how then do our amateur boxers manage to put on one bout a week without apparent damage. Well, you see, the amateurs are not troubled with the heavy load of kale, and have nothing to worry over except a medal or so. It seems preposterous that the matter of a little money should make such a wide difference, but it appears that it does. The amateur boxers never have to worry about whether their opponents are going to make weight, or if the match is going to fall through. All that the "busher" knows is that if he doesn't work hard he will be propelled into dreamland in a most painful way, and he takes a chance that his opponent will make the trip instead of himself.

Many of the local boys have been working almost every week for several months, and few of them look any the worse for wear. Jimmy Dundee has probably worked more often than any of the rest of the boys. Jimmy is the champion 118 pounder of the local newsboys, and has worked every week for nearly two months. What is more, Jimmy has seven straight wins to his credit, and is gaining weight under the strain. Jimmy is one of the fastest and cleverest of the local boys, and always put up a good scrap. The matchmakers never consult him when they book Dundee for a bout, for they have found that the little newsboy doesn't care in the least who the promoters pick for him, just so they are not too tall to reach. Next Wednesday Dundee is booked to meet Joe Gorman, another boy with a record behind him. Gorman beat young Azevedo at the last show, and should prove the toughest opponent Jimmy has met for some time.

Willie Byrne and Jack Davis, who meet next Wednesday at the West Oakland club, are another pair who have been scrapping pretty regular during the last couple of months. Byrne has lost only one bout out of six, while Davis has yet to be beaten.

Johnnie Nunes and "Young" Corbett, who are booked for the main event, are not as yet old timers to the local fans, but have both been in several bouts. Nunes has a record over Kid Goldie and Jack Davis, while Corbett can boast of a draw with Abe Henderson, whom he gave ten pounds.

NEVADA PASSES GAMBLING BILL.

CARSON CITY, Nov. 20.—After rushing through a gambling law the Nevada Legislature adjourned early yesterday. The gambling law makes all gambling a felony, except poker, whist, solo and five hundred. When no percentage is taken, these are lawful games. Otherwise they are felonies. Pari-mutuel betting on tracks of licensed associations is permitted.

PENNSY EXPECTS 2500 ATHLETES AS HER GUESTS

By Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, March 20.—Western colleges will be better represented at the relay races at the University of Pennsylvania this year than ever before. Word has already been received from Chicago, Michigan, Illinois, Kansas, Coe, Oregon, Colorado, Michigan Agricultural College, Ohio, Wesleyan, Grinnell and the University of Southern California that they will send either relay teams or star athletes for the special events.

The four mile relay race promises to be a struggle between the East and West. Cornell will probably represent the East, while Michigan, Chicago, Kansas and perhaps Illinois, will all have teams in this event.

The number of teams already entered in the races which will be held April 23 and 24, are approaching the 500 mark. More than 300 schools and colleges will be represented, and it is expected that about 2500 athletes will compete.

WRESTLING TRY-OUTS BREAK RECORDS

NEW YORK, March 20.—The Eastern tryouts for the wrestling championships at the Panama-Pacific Exposition which will be held in Madison Square Garden this afternoon and evening, will constitute the largest wrestling meet ever held under the auspices of the Amateur Athletic Union. More than sixty bouts will be included, ranging from the 100 pound class up to heavyweights.

TECHS PULL A TRIPLE STEAL, BUT LOSE

Bunching hits and taking advantage of the wildness of Pitcher De Witt, the St. Mary's College second baseball team defeated Oakland Technical High School team by a score of 8 to 3 in a slow game played on the St. Mary's College grounds.

Two errors by Childs, a single, three walks and a triple steal netted the Techs three runs in the second, while St. Mary's came back in their half and by walks to Croll and Silva, a double by Archie Rhubart, a walk to Childs and bad throws by Krueckel and Garcia, they scored four runs.

In the fifth, a walk, an error, and two hits chalked up four more for the Saints.

SPOKANE, Wash., March 20.—Rolling a grand total of 2838, the La Crosse team of Vancouver, B. C., captured first place shortly after midnight in the Northwest international bowling tournament. This breaks the record established by Kelly's team of Portland in 1914, of 2792. The Olympics of Spokane were right behind the Vancouver bowlers, rolling 2835, and taking second place.

STANFORD-ST. IGNATIUS TODAY.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, March 20.—"Big Gus" Hoever is scheduled to start in the box for the Cardinal today against the St. Ignatius team of San Francisco. With only one week remaining before the start of the intercollegiate series between Stanford and California, the "farm boys" are getting in their last licks in the training season.

KENNEL CLUB TO OPEN THE SPRING CIRCUIT MAY 18

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20. — real international dog show will be staged this spring by the Golden Gate Kennel Club at Dreamland Pavilion. Entries are now pouring in at the offices of the organization, 528 Market street. It is expected that about 750 blue-blooded dogs will occupy the stalls on opening day, Tuesday, May 18.

The bench show will continue on Wednesday and Thursday, May 19 and 20. Six well known judges have been secured. They are: Theodore Offerman of New York, Charles R. Wood of Philadelphia, Daniel T. Ritchey of New York, Charles G. Hopton of New York, George S. Thomas of Hamilton, Mass., and J. A. Lawrence of San Francisco.

The officers of the club are: Irving C. Ackerman, president; J. A. Folger, vice-president; Alex Wolfen, secretary, and Benjamin I. Block, superintendent. The bench show committee consists of Ackerman, Wolfen and Folger. The entries will close May 5. It will be the organization's sixth annual show.

The Golden Gate's show marks the initial benching of the spring circuit. After the three day session at Dreamland, the canines will move to San Mateo, where the San Mateo Kennel Club will stage an open air exhibition on May 22. The San Jose Kennel Club shows on May 25 and 26 and the San Rafael club shows immediately afterward.

PROMOTERS ACQUITTED.

SEATTLE, March 20.—Lonnie Austin and Dan Salt, promoters of a prize fight January 9 between Ludwig Anderson and Ike Cohan which resulted in Anderson's death, were found not guilty of manslaughter by a jury in the Superior Court. Cohan soon will be tried on a similar charge.

The League at the close of last season consisted of Harrisburg, Allentown, Trenton, Reading, Wilmington and Lancaster.

WEEK IS UNEASY ON WALL STREET

Trading Continues Light, Holding to Its More Professional Aspect.

By Associated Press.
NEW YORK, March 20.—The stock market moved within narrow limits for the greater part of the week, with occasional signs of unsettlement, due primarily to bearish activities in leading issues, notably Reading and United States Steel. Trading was lighter than the average daily output of recent weeks, but lost none of its professional character.

Foreign influences again demonstrated the speculative and investment situations, albeit developments in the foreign war showed little change. Exchange markets between New York and the various European money centers continued to favor this country, with resultant rumors of the placing of additional credits or loans. A German loan of $10,000,000 for a short period was reported to have been fully subscribed.

General business reflects the uncertainty expressed by leading merchants and manufacturers, but exports of merchandise and other commodities are piling up to unprecedented proportions. It is known that the United States Steel Corporation and some independent manufacturers are negotiating for large foreign sales of finished materials.

Money rates continued to decline, a corollary of the huge reserves shown by financial institutions in all sections of the country. Many domestic loans and similar financing, chiefly for municipalities, are under consideration, the success at the recent New York state bond sale having given impetus to such operations.

MEXICAN TENANTS MULCTED; CHARGED

Federal Commission Is Asked to Discourage Migration Across Border.

By Associated Press.
DALLAS, March 20.—The plight of Mexican tenant farmers in Texas and taxation reforms which might decrease tenantry, were discussed today at the land hearing held here by the Federal Commission on Industrial relations. Emilio Flores of San Antonio, president of the American Protective Society, said:

"In their own country, poor and wretched as they may be, Mexican farmers are happy and this is better than their condition as tenants on Texas farms. I think the commission should acquaint Mexicans with the real facts about the suffering of Mexican people who came here as tenant farmers and see that they do not come any more, rather than try to enact laws to protect them after they come.

"We advise them not to come because, as tenants, there is nothing they can expect. They have entirely different ways of living in their own country and they can not become desirable citizens here."

EVILS HE SPECIFIED.

Mr. Flores blamed employment agencies of part of the Mexican troubles. He said he had known of a few instances when Mexicans were forced to remain on a place by guards armed with shot guns, working out employment agency fees. These fees, he said, were usually $1 per head "delivered at destination."

He said in San Antonio hundreds of Mexicans are led to apply for naturalization papers, with no idea they are doing so.

They believe merely that they "are registering," he said, "and they do not know what registering is."

To develop causes why tenants, as previously testified, pay prices for food and supplies so high as to tend to keep them from saving any money, the commission called J. M. McCarver, storekeeper in Red River county, Texas. He said it was customary to add ten per cent to the total of a tenant's bills because storekeepers have to wait on the average ten months for payment of these bills.

"It has been suggested," said Chairman Frank P. Walsh, "that storekeepers charge ten per cent in addition to this discount."

"That was not our custom," replied Mr. McCarver "If the tenant receives $100 credit he simply trades out $90 worth."

War Summary

The attack on the Dardanelles was resumed yesterday, notwithstanding the heavy losses of the allied fleet on the preceding day. No official announcement has been made concerning the result of yesterday's operation, but unofficial advices are to the effect that little was accomplished on account of unfavorable weather conditions. A Constantinople dispatch says that the sinking of the British battleships Irresistible and Ocean and the French battleship Bouvet, ascribed by the British admiralty to floating mines, was due to torpedoes.

The Turkish positions on the main land near Smyrna are being strengthened and large reinforcements have been sent to the assistance of the defenders. Efforts are being made to repair the damage already done to the defenses of Smyrna and to plant mines.

The new naval policy of the allies is now in operation against Austria, according to word which has reached Rome. The commanders of the Anglo-French fleet in the Adriatic have been notified to prevent transportation of all goods to or from Austrian ports.

The government of the Netherlands has sent a formal protest to France and Great Britain against their naval policy.

A German aeroplane crossed to the English coast today and dropped several bombs off Deal. No damage was done and the aeroplane was driven off by a patrol boat.

No important occurrences in France or Belgium were announced in today's official reports.

WANT LAW ON DOGS.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., March 20.—Annoyed beyond endurance at night by howling dogs, the residents of this city are behind an ordinance to be introduced at the next session of council for a curfew law for dogs. How it will be enforced is a secondary consideration, as dozens of citizens have volunteered to put an end to howling dogs if authorized to do so by law.

GREATEST COTTON CROP IN HISTORY IS GARNERED

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, March 20.—The greatest crop ever produced in the United States was grown in 1914.

Census bureau statistics issued today, giving final ginning figures, officially place the 1914 crop as a record with 16,[illegible] bales of 500 pounds each. That is 479,442 equivalent 500-pound bales or 204,721,[illegible] pounds more than produced in the great crop of 1911.

In addition to the great production of lint cotton, a record quantity of linter cotton, which is extensively used in the manufacture of military explosives, was obtained. This cotton, taken from the seed at mills, amounted to 395,722,[illegible] pounds and brought 1914 crop to 16,[illegible] equivalent 500-pound bales, or 8,446,[illegible] pounds.

While the crop was a record one, the only states to make new records in production were Alabama, Louisiana and Oklahoma, the remaining cotton growing states all coming close to their record producing figures.

STATES YIELD HEAVILY.

Including in the figures are 121,451 bales estimated to be turned out after the March canvass.

Production by states in 500 pound bales showed Texas in the lead, with 4,5[illegible], Georgia second, 2,[illegible], Alabama third, with 1,[illegible], South Carolina fourth, with 1,5[illegible], and Oklahoma fifth, 1,[illegible].

A feature of the crop was the greatly increased production in California and Arizona, two states where the cotton growing industry is in its infancy, and where a superior quality of the staple is raised.

California's production amounted to 49,[illegible] bales or 24,[illegible] pounds, while Arizona's crop was 7,[illegible] bales, or 3,[illegible] pounds.

Unofficial estimates place the value of the crop, which this season has been greatly reduced by the effect of the European war at $570,000,000 for lint. The value of the seed is estimated at $134,000,000. These together make the estimated value of the crop to farmers $704,000,000, compared with $911,000,000, the value of the 1913-14 crop, estimated in the same manner.

GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 20.—Although wheat at first showed some strength today, the market soon turned weak. The opening, which ranged from [illegible] to [illegible] higher, was followed by moderate further gains in some options, and then a material reaction all round.

Uneasiness that other similar developments might be adverse to bulls brought about further weakness. The close was steady, though at ¾c to 1¼c under last night.

Corn swayed with wheat. After opening a shade to ¾@¼c higher, prices dropped well below last night's level.

Slowness of cash demand acted as a weight on the market. The close, nevertheless, was steady at ¾@¼c to ¾c net decline.

Sports covering lifted oats.

The market, however, declined when other grain began to sag.

Provisions eased off under selling for packers.

CHICAGO, March 20.—Closing: Wheat—May, $1.55¼; July, $1.23¾.

Corn—May, 73⅞c; July, 76¾c.

Oats—May, 59⅝c; July, 54½c.

Pork—May, $17.32; July, $17.95.

Lard—May, $10.37; July, $10.65.

Ribs—May, $10.05; July, $10.37.

S. P. PROPERTIES ARE INSPECTED BY CHIEFS

EUGENE, Ore., March 20.—Julius Kruttschnitt, chairman of the board of directors of the Southern Pacific, President William Sproule, Vice-President W. R. Scott, Chief Engineer William Hood, [illegible], superintendent of the Portland division; H. A. Hinshaw, general freight agent; J. M. Scott, general passenger agent, and H. P. Hoey, engineer in charge of local construction work, passed through Eugene last night on a tour of inspection over the Willamette Pacific railroad as far as Mapleton.

They will return today, going on to Portland before returning to San Francisco. Mr. Kruttschnitt stated that no new construction work was contemplated, but refused to state whether he believed business conditions would improve during the next few months. He thought the unmerging of the Southern Pacific and Central Pacific would be a calamity.

CRUDE OIL DEALERS MAKE SECOND REDUCTION

PITTSBURG, March 20.—The second cut in the price of crude oil within a week was announced here today when the principal purchasing agencies gave out the following quotations of the market:

Pennsylvania crude, $1.40; Mercer Black Cable and Newcastle, $1; Corning, 85c; Somerset, 83c; Ragland, 65c.

The new prices represent a cut of 5 cents on Pennsylvania Crude, Corning and Cable, and 2 cents on the others except Ragland, which remains unchanged.

RAILROAD PURCHASE PLAN PROCEEDS SLOWLY

NEW YORK, March 20.—Discussion between Western Pacific bankers and Rudolph Spreckels, who has come from San Francisco with a plan for the California state ownership of the railroad, proceeded yesterday with results that brought bankers considerably nearer approval of the plan.

It was learned that the bankers said much to commend the plan, but terms of the proposed exchange of railroad bonds for state bonds were not taken up in detail.

Bankers feel that state bonds for the road would be a good inducement if offered on favorable terms. The credit of the state is recognized as excellent.

MONEY TO LOAN

Money For Everyone

QUICKLY AND PRIVATELY.

Anyone keeping house in Oakland, Berkeley or Alameda may borrow in amounts from $10 to $100 on their plain note and contract. No mortgage or assignment of salary necessary, just a plain contract that is simple and to the point.

Loans may be paid in small weekly or monthly installments to suit the borrower. If you wish to pay loan in full before the time contracted, a very liberal rebate will be allowed on the months it has yet to run, you pay only for the time you use the money.

LOANS TO LADIES ON THEIR OWN SIGNATURE.

If you are contemplating borrowing money and wish to get it quickly, privately and at a cost you can afford to pay, call and let us talk it over with you. If you cannot call, write or phone for one of our representatives to call at your home free of charge.

THREW BABE AWAY; NOW FACES TRIAL

Body Found in Cake of Ice, Young Mother Is in Jail.

PEEKSKILL, N. Y., March 20.—Mrs. Clara McCabe, the pretty nurse, who confessed to the police that she tossed her two-weeks-old infant into the Hudson River here last Saturday evening, thereby causing its death, will be arraigned here tomorrow upon a charge of infanticide.

Weeping hysterically in her cell in Police Headquarters here, Mrs. McCabe sobbed out her confession to Coroner J. Russell Forbay, of Westchester county, who will hold an inquest into the death of the child, which was found Sunday morning at the foot of Main street, frozen in a cake of ice.

Mrs. McCabe was located by the Poughkeepsie police at the home of her father, Peter Hoffman, on Violet avenue road, placed under arrest and taken to the jail at Peekskill.

"I don't care what they do to me," she declared today. "If my baby is dead I want to die, too. I did not know what I was doing when I threw her into the river. I must have been out of my mind to do what I did.

"My husband has been a helpless invalid for several years. I became despondent and lonesome and became infatuated with a man who told me he loved me and that some day he would marry me and I believed him. I was employed as a nurse in the State Hospital for the Insane at Poughkeepsie and when I found I was about to become a mother it nearly drove me crazy.

"After I had thrown the child into the river I lost my nerve, and, although I went down to the docks several times to end my life I could not take the plunge."

MEN SEEK CACHE OF STOLEN CANADA BILLS

CHICAGO, March 20.—Operatives from a local Detective agency are quietly working to locate the supply of Canadian money which was stolen in the $271,000 robbery at the Bank of Westminster four years ago.

It was reported that the arrest of Webster and Bingham in Chicago has given the agency a lead which may result in the recovery of the money. The agency denied this, but it was learned that in trailing the two much information as to the hiding place of the stolen bills was uncovered.

Webster and Bingham will be held here on a charge of operating a confidence game. It is unlikely that any charges in connection with the bank robbery will be made against them.

Bingham was released on bonds of $3000 signed by Frank Dean, who has offices at 121 North La Salle street.

KICKS THROUGH WINDOW; SAYS THUGS SHOT HIM

CHICAGO, March 20.—"A drink to one who catches that guy."

This reward, offered by Jacob Katz in his saloon at 615 West Madison street Saturday night, started his customers in pursuit of Peter Sprins, 515 West Madison street, who had broken through the front window trying to kick Katz. The chase ended two miles away. Sprins evaded his pursuers and fell unconscious from loss of blood at Wells and Kinzie streets.

Sprins was found later and taken to the Iroquois Memorial Hospital. When he revived he said he had been robbed by two men who had shot him in the leg.

Surgeons could not tell whether his injury was a bullet wound or cut. The facts were revealed when Katz reported the affair.

LIVED FOR CENTURY, THEN DIED IN BED

CHICAGO, March 20.—Aaron Saslawsky, 100 years old almost to a day, was found dead in bed at the home of his grand-daughter, Mrs. L. Lilienthal of 3340 Douglas boulevard. Physicians said his extreme age was the only cause of death.

Mr. Easlawsky belonged to a family of wealthy liquor dealers in Warsaw. He was the only remaining member of his family in Russia when he closed up his affairs in 1885 and came to Chicago. Since that time he has devoted himself largely to church affairs and charitable enterprises.

He is survived by a son, Nathan Saslawsky; eleven grandchildren, and thirteen great-grandchildren.

RAID PALM BEACH CLUB; 17 SUBPOENED BY JURY

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 20.—Seventeen men—some of them of national reputation—have been subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury, it is reported, as a result of a raid on the Beach club.

The raid on the club, of which John R. Bradley, one of the best known sporting men in the country, is owner, accomplished nothing except the arrest of Bradley and his brother Edward.

The raiders sought evidence of gambling, which Theodore Bauer, a detective, had sworn to in warrants. Dancers occupied the space alleged to be used for roulette wheels and hazard tables.

JUMP MAY BE FATAL.

CONCORDIA, Kan., March 20.—When C. J. Quarrells, a railroad man, jumped off a moving train when it passed his home, a chisel he had in his pocket pierced his heart. He is in a local hospital with slight chances for recovery.

HOBO HOTEL GUESTS ENTERTAIN AT SMOKER

CHICAGO, March 20.—"Brother" Hoffman, who is a master baker out of a job, was the center of attraction Saturday at the first smoker held in the Hotel de Hobo at 411 Milwaukee avenue. "Brother" Hoffman spent the entire afternoon in baking various sorts of cakes over a broken-down heating stove, and showed justifiable pride in the result. His wares sold readily at 5 cents the slice.

"The "cuisine" of the hotel was at the service of all guests during the evening. The management arranged an entertainment in which the patrons took a leading part. Brown and Brown, who once had a vaudeville tumbling act, gave their services, as did also a violinist. A wrestling match was the feature.

"These fellows will be right on the job for spring work," said Secretary Fred Isler, in announcing the bout. "They'll be in fine condition."

"If there's a job for 'em," a dozen voices called out.

Resolutions of sympathy were passed and sent to J. Eads How, "millionaire hobo" and general organizer of the International Brotherhood Welfare association, whose mother recently died.

TRIPLE CATCH ON ONE HOOK FISHING FEAT

PIERRE, S. D., March 20.—Having read in the Blade about a man who caught two mink and a possum in one trap, I am advised by friends here to relate for the Blade's columns my experience last summer while on a fishing trip for pleasure.

I set my line with one hook to catch a small fish for bait. I soon had one, a young trout, but before I could land it a whitefish darted up and swallowed it. While the whitefish was struggling in the water a large pike appeared and swallowed the whitefish. And then, to my indescribable amazement, along came a sturgeon and swallowed the pike. My line being a light one, and the hook rather small for such a powerful fish I was unable to land the sturgeon, who got away with the breakfast of trout, whitefish and pike.

Now, if any Blade reader has ever had a fishing adventure that beats this one I surely would like to hear from him.

"SUFFRAGE FOR PEACE" SAYS BUDAPEST WOMAN

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 20.—"We want suffrage for peace," declared Mrs. Roskia Schwimmer of Budapest, Hungary, in addressing the opening session of the Mississippi valley conference of suffragists here.

Delegates from twenty-one states and hundreds of Indiana suffragists heard Mrs. Schwimmer speak on "War and Women."

"As you read your papers, this war seems to be a great sport," she said. "One side wins five yards and kills hundreds of able bodied citizens. Back of the scenes are the women of Europe, the greatest victims of the greatest tragedy. We can't blame any man or group of men for this war. Rather we must blame ourselves for having allowed the continuing of 'preparation for war in time of peace.'"

SHE WAS DUMMY. THIEF STOLE HER

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 20.—When two men, at 1:30 o'clock a. m., broke into the fur store of H. J. [illegible] [illegible] a woman's figure bearing a mink coat priced at $1000. One man grabbed the mink coat, figure and all. He ran [illegible] on Eleventh street, attracting the attention of E. L. [illegible], a clerk at the Krupper Hotel, [illegible] fired a shot after [illegible] dropped the figure and coat. When it was picked up a few minutes later there was blood on the fur. The figure was broken, causing a loss of $65 to the fur dealer.

BIG BIRDS ARE SLAIN.

RANDOLPH, La., March 20.—C. H. Lewis, a prominent merchant of Randolph, saw two large birds light in the mill pond here. Securing a gun, he succeeded in killing them. The birds are of an unknown kind, but they resemble huge white cranes. They measure over five feet from tip to tip, have web feet like a duck and are almost snow white, except a little dark blue on their backs.

DO COLLEGE SONS MIRROR PARENTS?

Dean Tells Student Widow's Heir Differs From All Others.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, March 20.—Each freshman who comes to the University of Illinois reflects so perfectly the character of his parents, Thomas A. Clark, dean of the undergraduates, told a parents' meeting last night, that he is almost invariably able to recognize an only son, a youngest son, a widow's son, a public school graduate and a graduate of a military school.

The types of students include these, he said:

The widow's son—Well dressed: details of his comfort carefully thought of; namby pamby; doesn't like things. Nothing suits him.

The only son (the youngest son about the same)—Placid and inactive; shows indications of having been pampered, loved, petted and put to bed; no initiative; needs someone to do his thinking.

Graduate of a military academy—Polite; outwardly respectful; winning; says "Sir;" hat in hand, erect, courteous; no initiative; no ability to get up in the morning without a rule; late for early classes; no power to do a thing that someone did not specifically order him to do.

Dean Clark said that parents were responsible for most failures of sons at colleges.

GIBSON FOR MAYOR IN STRENUOUS CAMPAIGN

W. E. Gibson, candidate for mayor of Oakland, finds campaigning a strenuous life. He addressed the Franklin School Mothers' Club at the Franklin school, attended a large house meeting at the home of Mrs. A. T. MacDonald, addressed the members of the St. Andrew's parish, Holland Hall, Thirty-sixth and San Pablo avenue, spoke before the International Steam and Operative Engineers, Local No. 507, at Starr King Hall, and later addressed the members of the Fitchburg Social and Improvement Clubs in the Lockwood school, during one afternoon and evening.

C. F. ADAMS, NOTED PUBLICIST, DEAD

Grandson and Greatgrandson of Early Presidents of U. S. Passes Away.

By Associated Press.

LINCOLN, Mass., March 20.—Charles Francis Adams died early today at his winter residence, 1701 Massachusetts avenue, Washington. He had been ill with la grippe for a week. Mr. Adams was born in 1835. Word of his death was received at his home here this forenoon.

Charles Francis Adams was widely known as a publicist and historian. He was a great-grandson of President John Adams, a grandson of President John Quincy Adams and a son of Charles Francis Adams, minister to Great Britain in the Civil War period. A biography of his father, which included a review of the diplomatic negotiations between the United States and Great Britain over Civil War problems, was one of Mr. Adams' most notable books.

Born in Boston May 27, 1835, and graduated from Harvard in 1856, he was admitted to the Massachusetts bar two years after leaving college. He served in the Union army throughout the Civil War, rising in rank from first lieutenant to colonel and brevet bragdier general of volunteers. After the war he was identified with railroad affairs for many years, serving for six years as president of the Union Pacific railroad and for ten years as a member of the Massachusetts Board of Railroad Commissioners. He was chairman of the commission which planned the metropolitan park system in and about Boston.

Never seeking public office, Mr. Adams took an active part, as an independent, in political affairs through his writings and speeches. His address in Chicago in 1902 when he gave high praise to General Robert E. Lee and suggested the erection of a monument to Lee at Washington, and at Richmond in 1908 when as an "independent Democrat" he urged the election of Taft over Bryan, attracted wide attention.

Mr. Adams was a member of the board of overseers of Harvard University for more than twenty years. In 1913 he lectured at Oxford on American history. He was the author of numerous books on railroads and on various phases of American history, and was a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and a member of the American Academy of Arts and Letters.

ARGENTINE DELEGATES TO CONFERENCE NAMED

By Associated Press.

BUENOS AYRES, March 20.—Ricardo Aldao and Samuel Hale Pearson have been named as Argentina's delegates to the coming financial conference to be held in Washington. They will leave here for the United States on March 26.

The conference referred to is the one which is to be held between the United States Trasury Department officials and American financiers and the Ministers of Finance, and the leading bankers of South American countries. The financial and commercial problems confronting the two Americas as the result of the European war will be discussed.

ONE DAY REST IN SEVEN BILL TO HAVE HEARING

By Associated Press.

SACRAMENTO, March 20. — Church interests, railroads and labor will be in a three-cornered contest before the Senate committee on labor and capital next Wednesday, when Senator Flaherty's bill, proposing to require one day rest in seven for all employment, will come up for public hearing. Railroad interests will oppose the bill, organized labor will urge the enactment of the bill, and church interests will probably be divided on the issue.

PICKPOCKET ROBS WOMAN.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—Mrs. Emily Jane Croffley of 1409 McGee street, Berkeley, had her pocket picked on a Key Route boat this morning en route here. Her purse containing $2 was taken from her handbag.

PUT SELECTION UP TO GOVERNOR

Two State Employment Agency Bills to Be Sent Through Legislature.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 20.—Governor Johnson will be left free to make his [illegible] as to the method of working out his recommendation of state employment agencies. This was the sentiment expressed today by the senate committee on labor and capital which decided to urge the passage of two different bills on the subject, with the object of sending both through the legislature to the governor, thus leaving him free to sign whichever one he chooses.

One is Senator Lucas's proposal that such employment agencies be under the control of the Bureau of Labor Statistics; the other bill is that of Senator Kehoe proposing that employment agencies be under the control of the commission on immigration and housing.

The bills were passed out of committee with favorable recommendations.

YOUNTVILLE EMPLOYES SLATED FOR DISCHARGE

SACRAMENTO, March 20.—The dismissal of Dr. D. M. McRae, chief surgeon of the Veterans' Home at Yountville; Minna Bahr, head nurse, and Grace Best, Helen Killian and Mrs. Mary Dillon, nurses, is recommended in a report of the Civil Service Commission of California to Governor Johnson.

The commission brands McRae as "the root of the evil," and says, "until he is dismissed, no improvement can result."

Susie Noland and Laura Black, two nurses accused by McRae, who testified against him, were exonerated.

The commission recommended that Minna Bahr and Grace Best should be dismissed for drunkenness, and Helen Killian and Mrs. Dillon for falsely swearing before the investigating board, and for conspiring to ruin the reputation of Miss Noland.

In connection with the investigation by the commission, it is reported that Brigadier General William H. C. Bowen, commandant of the Yountville Home, may fall under the scrutiny of Governor Johnson.

ALLEGES EXPOSITION FAVORS EASTERN HELP

By Associated Press.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 20.—The Panama-Pacific Exposition was charged today with being conducted on a principle of employing men from the East and overlooking the applications of Californians for employment. In reply to a leading question from Senator Kahoe of Eureka, this was the declaration made by Phil Enner, representing the state organization of steam engineers, before the senate committee on labor and capital. Enner said that Californians are employed at the Exposition as long as construction work is being done under contract, but that as soon as the work is completed, engineers and other workmen are discharged in favor of men from the East and paid much lower wages.

The Flaherty bill would provide for a board of examiners of steam engineers and require a license for all operators of any boiler of more than ten pounds pressure. The bill which was passed two years ago by both houses of the legislature was not signed by Governor Johnson.

ENDS LIFE WITH BULLET.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—Leaving a note in which he said he was despondent, that he had never knowingly done any man an injury, but if he had unknowingly he was sorry for it, Joseph Buehlers, a baker, aged about 30 years, shot himself through the heart in his room at 1906 Mission street late last night. Buehler came to San Francisco about two months ago, but the authorities last night were unable to gain any information as to his former home or kinfolk. His body is at the morgue.

ASSAULT IS CHARGE.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—John Almer, the guard at the fair grounds accused of beating James Mickelberg, a 16-year-old boy, was before Police Judge Oppenheim today, charged with assault with a deadly weapon. His case was continued for one week.

ATTEMPT TO TALK BILL TO DEATH

Efforts of Opponents of Non-Partisan Election Measure Meet Defeat.

By Associated Press.

SACRAMENTO, March 20.—Administration forces were in complete control last night of a determined fight by an opposition that attempted to talk to death Speaker C. C. Young's non-partisan election bill. Five different attempts of the opponents of the measure to force adjournment and leave the bill in exactly the same position as it was when taken up shortly before noon, resulted in defeat.

Four amendments offered by Brown of San Mateo, practically removing all the non-partisan features of the bill, also were voted down on roll call, 46 to 30. All the artifice known to legislative filibuster was brought to bear late this afternoon and tonight by the opposition to postpone action on the measure Monday [illegible] to [illegible] the administration leaders step by step and each roll call on amendments and adjournment indicated unbroken ranks for the administration.

OFFERS 32 AMENDMENTS.

At 8 o'clock Assemblyman Schmitt of San Francisco offered thirty-two amendments and these were debated and discussed seriatim. It was the aim of the administration leaders to pass the bill to third reading file where it can be brought up for final vote next week. A policy of attrition had been decided on by the opponents and a session lasting well into the night was under way. When a motion to take an hour's recess for dinner was lost, Speaker Young, who earlier in the afternoon had relinquished the rostrum to Speaker Pro Tem Howard Fish, sent out for sandwiches and between bites the seventy or more members answered to their names on roll call.

"Unconstitutional," "the most reactionary document ever presented to the legislature for enactment," were some of the phrases applied to the non-partisan bill by its enemies. The assembly chamber echoed both with denunciation and approbation of the bill which seeks to abolish party lines in California.

LEADERS IN FIGHT.

The fight to ride the bill with amendments and perpetuate the names of political parties on election ballots, was led by Brown of San Mateo county, Schmitt of San Francisco, Quinn of Eureka, Cary of Reedley, Howson of Fresno, Downing and Spangler of Los Angeles, Socialists, and Harris, Socialist, of Bakersfield. More than a score of others allied with the opposition also took part in the prolonged debate.

After declaring that the legislature had no power under the constitution, to "wipe out political parties," Assemblyman Quinn said that if the senate and assembly arrogated to itself that right, there was nothing to prevent it from entirely disfranchising all the electors in California.

In answering Quinn and others who questioned the legislature's constitutional right, Speaker Young said it was not the purpose of the bill to abolish any parties.

"I wouldn't if I could," said Mr. Young, "and I couldn't do it if I would."

"If the provisions of this non-partisan bill are unconstitutional, so then is the present direct primary law, which has stood the test of the courts," continued Mr. Young.

Supporters of the bill took advantage of every opportunity to dispute the claims of the opponents. At times the chamber was in an uproar with six or more assemblymen on their feet at once clamoring for recognition from the speaker pro tem. Cries of "roll call" from both the supporters and opponents frequently drowned out the sound of the gavel in the attempts of the speaker to call the house to order.

Rule 69, forbidding smoking was suspended and the big chamber was shrouded in a blue haze while the members with nerves and muscles weary from the long session, battled late into the night to determine the fate of Governor Johnson's recommendation to place the state and county elections on a non-partisan basis.

GREAT INCREASE IN STATE'S INSANE

Inebriates and Feeble-Minded Also Show Greater Number Than Feb. 1914.

An increase of nearly one thousand inmates in the insane asylums, reform schools, state hospitals and other institutions operated by the state, for February of this year over the same month last year, is reported by the State Board of Charities and Corrections. The increase in insane and inebriate cases this year is 778, and in the state prisons 317. The state home for the feeble-minded shows an increase of 56 inmates, the reform schools 53 inmates, and the smallest increase is the California Home for the Adult Blind, situated in Oakland, which reports only three new inmates.

REFERENDUM INVOKED.

By Associated Press.

SEATTLE, WASH., March 20.—The State Referendum League, at a meeting last night, decided to attempt to invoke the referendum against seven measures. Three of the bills place restrictions upon municipal financing. The others are the bills requiring signers of initiative, referendum and recall petitions to sign at registration places; the bill requiring motorbus operators to carry a $2500 indemnity bond, and the bill signed by Governor Lister today requiring certificates of necessity before a public utility corporation can enter a competitive field.

MEAT NEVER KILLED A MAN

You need not stop eating meat for fear of your kidneys. Your system requires its strength-giving qualities. If, however, you feel that it sometimes works against you, just take two or three GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules each day for a couple of weeks, stop for a week, then begin again. There is nothing new and experimental about them. They are an old, harmless combination of oil and herbs, which will keep your kidneys and bladder working fine and carry away all rheumatic pains and ill effects from any uric acid producing food. But when you go to the drug store, get the original Genuine Haarlem Oil in Capsules, GOLD MEDAL. They are imported direct from Holland. Guaranteed and sold by The Owl Drug Co.—Advertisement.
